B. F. McCullough and J. C. Templeton, stockmen of Echo, Or., are registered at the Hotel Oregon.—Oregonian.

There is plenty of enthusiasm for the proposed Columbia basin irrigation project, according to Frank S. Spofford. He is the assistant supervisor of survey of the United States and is registered at the Multnomah. When the Columbia basin project is completed, says Mr. Spofford, it will include 2,000,000 acres and will mean much to Portland, as the project will support several thousand families.—Oregonian.

"I'd like to sit once more as a delegate to a good, old-fashioned nominating convention," observed Henry Taylor, one of the pioneers of Umatilla county. "The direct primary has not worked out as well as the people who advocated it supposed it would. The convention system brought out pretty good men and it kept the party organizations intact and gave the partisans something to work for and to look forward to."

Mr. Taylor, who is a democrat, was one of the first men to plow under the bunchgrass in Umatilla county and plant wheat. He bought a man's right to 160 acres and a log cabin and some poles for fencing for 1200 years ago and that was his start as a wheat farmer. Now he has between 300 and 1000 acres, half of which he used for wheat every year while the other half rests.—Oregonian.

Lyman B. Miller, stock buyer of North Portland, was a business visitor here today.

Carl Cooley, of Alexander's, returned yesterday from Portland, where he visited his sister, Mrs. Will Deadman.

The Weston brick yard will be open for business again about May 1, according to a statement of P. T. Harbour, manager of the concern, who was a visitor here today.

In days gone by "Scoots" Dutton represented O. A. C. on the gridiron, then later his country on the battlefield. At present he is in charge of soldier vocational training work with headquarters at Portland. He was in Pendleton today on business. Incidentally he met many of his friends.

Want to Rebuild Pavilion. To rebuild the Happy Canyon pavilion in its present location is the desire of the Commercial association as expressed at a meeting yesterday afternoon. At that time a special committee of which James S. Johns is chairman was instructed to see local banks with a view to financing the rebuilding of the pavilion. A suggestion was made for an entirely new dance hall across the street to the east but this plan was rejected because of the expense.

Charges Cruel Treatment. Her husband treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner and told her repeatedly that he loved another woman and wanted to have his freedom. Hazel Ogilvy claims in her suit for divorce from Roy Ogilvy which has been filed in circuit court. The couple married January 22, 1917, at Vancouver, Washington, according to the complaint. The plaintiff asks that her maiden name, Hazel Kearns, be restored to her. Peterson, Bishop and Clark represent the plaintiff.

Many Seek Place. There are eight candidates for the job of post master at Milton. Miss Arlie Buntz, now at the general delivery window of the Pendleton office, whose home is at Milton is one of the candidates. Lovick Shangle, brother of Bruce Shangle, who until a few months since, was post master, is another candidate. The others are Victor Cockburn, present incumbent who wishes to succeed himself, George F. Heninger, Frank A. Galloway, Mrs. Lydia Pitzer, Elmer Hopkins and Robert V. McEwen.

Special S. A. Services. Special Easter services will be conducted by Staff Captain and Mrs. Winterbottom of Buffalo, N. Y., who have recently come to the state of Oregon as divisional young peoples secretaries, at the local Salvation Army hall. These officers are experienced in army work. The staff captain is musical and will give some special musical selections. These services will begin with the welcome meeting on Saturday night at 8 p. m. Other services will be Sunday morning 11 a. m., Sunday afternoon 3 p. m., Y. F. L. 6:30 p. m., night service 8 p. m.

ARCADE TODAY UNIVERSAL GETS FACTS FOR HISTORICAL FILM

Facts and fiction have been strangely blended in Universal's "thrills-from-history" serial, "Wah Stanley in Africa," a vivid picture of the time when the Dark Continent was made known to the world.

Invariably when a film company seeks information concerning the newspapers, telegraph system, or other details of the days of 1871, it comes upon a person who was personally concerned in the historical expedition themselves.

RIVOLI TODAY Eugene O'Brien in his latest Selznick Picture, "The Prophet's Paradise," is scheduled as the featured photoplay attraction at the Rivoli theatre today.

This new picture was written by C. S. Montayne and adapted to the screen by Lewis Ilen Browne. Alan Crossland, who has been responsible for many of the screen's recent successes, was the director.

In "The Prophet's Paradise" the star role presents an American in Constantinople who meets adventure through his attempts to rescue the girl he loves from a life of bondage, following her sale on the auction block. The mere hint of this phase of the story speaks volumes for the action of the piece for it is difficult to imagine an American making away with more than the usual amount of action and excitement.

NOVELTY, COMEDY AND BURLESQUE Are the Leading Features on the Bill at the Rivoli Theatre Today

The La Vines, are the headline attraction in the act different appearing as comedy acrobats, consisting of hand and head balancing feats showing marvelous strength and ability, the female being the understanding catching the male member through the air by one hand.

Lewis, La Varre and Dav's, will furnish their share of laughter with their nonsensical offering, "A Hokum Review," replete with songs and comedy patter that will keep you in a good humor.

Dancing Hagans, a terpsichorean novelty offering called "Smiles and Whirls" doing everything that is known in the dancing line with no equal.

Ray Decota, is a high-class character singer in character and descriptive songs.

WIFE DOING GOOD WORK "I have been bad off with stomach and liver trouble and bloating for many years. No doctors or medicine helped me. On the advice of my druggist, I bought a bottle of May's Wonderful Remedy and I don't want to miss a single dose. It has given me more benefit than all the medicine I have ever taken. I feel I am doing good to recommend it to others." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and always the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—For sale by all druggists.
