FIRE LADDIES BALK AT STOPPING POKER GAME

DEFIANCE, Ohio, April 13.—Defiance firemen, who thought they had been called out on every available sort of mission—rom rescuing passengers in the gondolas to a gear-jammed Ferris wheel to dragging the rivers for a missing woman—received a new thrill when called into service to break up a poker party which, enighbors thought, was making too much noise.

Answering the telephone alarm, sounded at 4 a. m. by an excited woman, the fire laddies failed to find any blaze at the address given. They did, however, discover drawn shades and the telltale, "Hey, Eddie!"

They went back to bed.

LENGLEN HOPES TO MEET MRS. MALLORY

NICE, April 13.—(U. P.—Mlle Suzanne Lenglen, European woman tennis champion, will defend her title at Wimbledon in June, if she is physically able, she said at the recent tournament here.

The French star added that she hoped Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American champion, who defated her last summer in the United States, would be one of the entries in the British title play at Wimbledon, as she felt sure she could prove that the incident of last summer was a fluke.

Charles Leglen, the girl's father, who trained her from the time she was able to swing a racquet, was with her during the March tournament and said that she had not completely recovered from the illness that caused her to default in the American championships.

Mlle Lenglen looked well, however, while she was staying here. Her spirits seemed higher and she admitted that she felt much better since she had been able to return to the court.

While her plans for the summer are indefinite, Mlle. Lenglen said one thing is certain—she is not going back to the United States for vindication.
