As the Warmer Days Approach Capes Increase in Popularity

They are the ideal in-between season garment. They take the place of the coat which is becoming too heavy. These capes are worthy of your consideration, because all the better features of high type models are cleverly reproduced in them, and other part is because so many smart original points appear in each model. Then again, the prices are very modest.

MAKE-UP OF IDEAL GIRL IS SET DOWN

BELLAIRE, Ohio, April 25.—"More cloth below the knee" should mark the "Ideal Young Woman," according to one writer of a letter received by Rev. C. A. Pearce, pastor of the Christian church here.

One boy writer declared that bobbed hair, short skirts and goggles give the modern girl an advantage over her hoop-skirted, long-skirted grandmas.

Qualifications of the "Ideal Young Woman," according to the opinions of the ten young men who were queried by Rev. Mr. Pearce, are: Appearance—Neat, healthy, but not overweight.

Dress—Neat, conservative, all the colors they want, but more cloth below the knee, neatness including architecture and dress may be plain.

Recreation—Theatres and dancing in moderation.

Education—Should at least include a high school course and must include practical experience at housework, particularly cooking.

Habits—General, systematic, thrifty, clean, generous, church-going, prayerful and patient.

One writer said "she must seek outdoor pleasures." Another declared "she must be athletic and enjoy clean athletic sports, rowing, skating, swimming, etc. She must be sociable and enjoy little picnics, church parties and be easily entertained."

Another insisted she must not let her pleasures conflict with her church.

One writer said "she must be able to make a good impression."

DANCING FOUND TO BE AID BY PASTOR

NEW YORK, April 25.—If your church is on the decline, interest is dwindling, and attendance is falling off let the choir take up dancing besides singing—your church will then "come back."

That's the recipe that worked for the Rev. Dr. Harry Knight Miller, psychologist and pastor of the Hanson Place Methodist Church, in Brooklyn.

Four years ago he went into the pulpit at Hanson place with a few ideas of his own; today he has the largest choir of any Protestant church in America—225 voices; and the choir is not all that grew. The S. R. O. sign is frequently employed to tell the world that not even fifteen hundred can hear that choir and Dr. Miller at one time.

"My theory is that the Church should minister to every want of the individual, physical, mental, spiritual, and to the play instinct, which is just as important as any," he says.

"Church members as well as the young people are going to dance, we may not permit it? We don't encourage jazz, I like good music, and our choir does; and at our dances the young people get along splendidly, dancing to really good dance music."

"The social gatherings of the choir have been largely responsible for its remarkable growth."

Dr. Miller has studied the psychology of the crowd and has put it to use in the pulpit. He says that commercialized amusement appeals to every point of human interest and that religion deals largely with abstractions, speculations and theories void of meaning to the average man. There was nothing wrong with religion, he has concluded, but some of its terms of promulgation are a bit musty, he believes.

"Our people are going to shows," he continued, "and that's all right if the shows are all right. Later on I plan to act as dramatic reviewer for my congregation. I'll find out what shows are good and what aren't. Then I may issue, perhaps weekly, a 'white list' to guide our members to the right shows."

SCHOOLS

FIELD SCHOOL.

First Grade.

The boys of the first grade won in attendance record this month, having two weeks without any marks. Mary Young won the prize awarded by Miss Eva Hansen in the Good Health Contest as her card showed the greatest number of gold stars. Billy Peeler's birthday party on the 10th called out elaborate and carefully guarded costumes on that day as it immediately followed the afternoon session. The list of gifts was varied and extensive as given by pupils next morning and the question of necessary etiquette on such occasions was carefully canvassed. All claimed a clean record on this score except one small boy who was guilty of saying "Gimme some more" when refreshments were served.

The visit to Mrs. Pratt's room on Good Friday afternoon was both enjoyable and instructive. The arrangement of the sand table greatly impressed the children. Billy Peeler and Raymond Hynan sang an Easter song and the program closed with the anthem, "Joy to the World," a specially fine phonograph record. Easter rabbits, eggs and chickens have given interest to the art work this month and brought good results.

Second and Third Grade Room.

Dorothy Folsom and Winfield Renfro, represented the Field school in the city track meet.

In the Good Health Contest Catherine Anne Hobe and Buford Swalley won the prizes. Mrs. Hobe, one of our patrons, kindly gave an Easter basket to each of the winners.

The highest scores in numbers for the month went to Wallace Pound and Buford Swalley in the third grade and to Ruth Crow and Margaret Caglione in the second grade.

Second Grade.

The sand table was used in Mrs. Pratt's room as a means of developing the Easter story. The sand table was made to represent a garden decorated with flowers and trees, the chief feature of the decorations was a bowl of gawling violets presented by Mrs. Wilkinson. In the midst of the garden was the tomb built of plasticine by the children. The children also moulded the figures mentioned in the story. In the distance appears the cross. The pupils and teachers from the other room were invited in to see the sand table. A short program took place which consisted of songs and the story of Palm Sunday told by Miss Lane. This was followed by the story of the resurrection told by Mrs. Pratt. The little clay figures were made to act the story as it was told.

Jean Payne won the prize in the health contest. Her record for cleanliness was perfect.

French Mothers Debating Liberty For Daughters

By WILFRED FEISHER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS. (By mail to United Press.)—Paris mothers are stirred over a question of propriety. Should they allow their daughters on the streets unaccompanied, and if so, at what age can they be safely turned loose from the protecting eye?

Before the war came to upset traditions, the question could simply never have been raised, as there could have been but one answer—a negative one. The burden which women of all ages, however, were called upon to play during the war have wrought a change in the whole social fabric and just how great this change has been, may be reflected in some of the "views" expressed by readers in the French press.

"The remarkable feature of the discussion is that not a single mother's voice has been raised in protest against allowing young women to go about unaccompanied, the discussion has centered on determining the age at which a young lady may be entrusted with the responsibility of her own welfare."

A writer points out that the question is a particular one in France "where the masculine education is different from what it is in England and America—different enough to inspire mothers with a prudent solicitude."

Most mothers agree that no particular age limit can be set and that it depends chiefly on the wisdom of the daughter.

RADIO

NEW YORK, April 25.—After considerable effort we are able to-day to publish a complete list of radio telephone broadcasting stations of the United States which have been licensed up to and including April 1, 1922. The map shows the principal stations.

Due to lack of space we are unable to publish the complete data concerning each station and we have had to omit the wave lengths, station owner and street addresses, as furnished us by the department of commerce, bureau of navigation, radio service.

The majority of these stations are operating from a 2000 to a 365-metre wave-length. While a number of them have not a regular schedule of operation we are safe in saying the majority are broadcasting between 7 and 10:30 p. m. every day.

We shall publish from time to time all new stations that are licensed by the department of commerce.

West Virginia Miners' Tent Colony Ordered Abolished

Enforcement of the order of the federal district court at Charleston, W. Va., means the eviction of 900 families of union miners from tent colonies in Mingo county, W. Va. The tents were furnished two years ago by the United Mine Workers when the miners were evicted from their homes.
