

People Here and There

H. W. Collins has gone to Portland on a business mission.

Glenn Dudley was a Pendleton visitor last night from his home near Allana.

Byron C. men has returned after a trip to Washington and Idaho towns, made in the interests of the Pendleton Woolen Mills.

Operators who are boring for oil on Jim Smith's farm near Woodburn are now down more than 400 feet and natural gas and traces of oil have been found. Drillers are confident of getting a good flow at 800 feet.

SUGGESTS PLAN FOR CITY SAVING MONEY

A plan whereby municipalities may provide sinking funds by the purchase of certificates, the compound interest yields from which will cut the cost of paying for bonds at maturity was presented to the city council last night by E. S. Gear of the Investors' Syndicate of Minneapolis.

The syndicate invests its funds in first mortgages in homes, apartment houses and hotels, Mr. Gear explained, and the investments are made in the states where the sinking fund plan is being followed by municipalities. The company has been operating since 1894, he states.

Under his plan which he told the council about, the city would set aside slightly more than $2,200 a year for 10 years to be invested in certificates, something more than $500 a year during the second decade and the adoption of this plan would give the city more than enough money to retire the bond issue of $5,000 at the end of 30 years.

Mr. Gear recently purchased a home at Milton and is representing his company in this county.

TRAFFIC ON H.G.HWAYS HEAVY SAYS VINCENT

Traffic into Oregon this spring up to date is conservatively 50 per cent greater than it was this time last year in the opinion of Sydney B. Vincent, manager of the Oregon Tourist and Information bureau of Portland who is a Pendleton visitor.

Mr. Vincent is here to assist in the preparations preliminary to the opening of the Eastern Oregon branch of the bureau here which opens tomorrow in the room at the Elks building in the entrance room. The local office will be in charge of Miss Nellie Parlier.

Mr. Vincent is on his way to Baker where he will be a member of the delegation of Oregon and Idaho men to tour Eastern Oregon, Idaho and Utah in the interests of the Old Oregon Trail. While here he is arranging that the local branch of the tourists' bureau shall be fully equipped with maps and other data much sought after by those traveling overland in cars.

Receipts are unsold. All in all it is a disappointing market due to lack of outside interest. Although the board failed to confirm any business for export, it was said that France was in the market for new crop wheat for the first time this season, was taken to indicate inadequate supplies of old wheat, and possibly confirmation of the unfavorable crop reports that have been coming from that country.

Cash wheat in markets other than Kansas City was relatively steady, with much evidence of some improvement in the flour trade. Portland, Oregon, reported sufficient vessel room chartered to take the surplus remaining in the Pacific northwest, and said wheat there would clean up earlier than in any previous season. "We see nothing to base for other than temporary declines in the wheat at this time."

FORT WALLA WALLA TO BE VETERANS HOSPITAL

WALLA WALLA, Wash., May 18.—(A. P.)—Fort Walla Walla, which for 60 years prior to 1911 served as a cavalry post for the United States army, is due to enter a period of new usefulness on June 4. At that time it will be dedicated as a United States veterans' hospital, where disabled service men from three Pacific northwestern states and Alaska will receive treatment.

Following passage of an act of congress a year ago by which the fort was turned over to the treasury department by the war department, the fort has been remodeled for its new uses. Some of the buildings have been rebuilt and others have been razed, the work having started last summer.

The station comprises almost a square mile of ground on a plateau a mile west of Walla Walla. The old parade ground has been reseeded to grass and some 4,000 plants and shrubs have been set out.

The hospital will include an ambulant ward to accommodate 60 patients, and semi-ambulant ward to care for 24 patients, and a central heating has served as school clerk of the Milton district for 27 years and as director of the First National Bank of Milton for eight years. He has been a resident for 51 years of Unadilla county. He says:

"I heartily appreciate the expression of confidence and good will accorded me by the voters of Unadilla county at the 1920 election. If I am renominated and elected it will be my aim in the future as in the past to represent the interests of all the people of my district and state in a fair, equitable and business-like manner.

"I will ever keep in mind the interests of the taxpayers, with the idea of reducing, so far as possible, the constantly increasing taxes. I will use every endeavor to reduce the appropriations to the lowest minimum consistent with reasonable progress and efficient administration of the governmental affairs of the county and state. I will strenuously oppose all needless appropriations and the reaction of needless offices.

"I promise a faithful, conscientious and business-like performance of duty."

SAM A. MILLER WOULD SERVE AGAIN AS SOLON

Sam A. Miller, candidate for renomination to the legislature at the republican primaries May 19, is one of the most substantial and progressive citizens of this end of the county. Mr. Miller served at the regular session two years ago and at the special session following as a representative from the Unadilla county district, and always kept carefully in view the true needs and interests of his constituents, with which he is thoroughly conversant. He has had an active and successful business career as manager of the Milton Nursing Co. for the past twenty-seven years. This large enterprise was established by his father in 1878, and the senior Mr. Miller, now in his 93d year, is still enjoying good health and continues to serve as president of the company. Steel." It is being distributed by Robertson-Cole and maintains the high standard already established by that concern, which has to its credit "Kismet" and a long list of other productions of similar calibre.

George C. Shedd has few equals as a painter of word pictures delineating life in the desert lands beyond the Rio Grande. But in "Cold Steel" he crowds into his engrossing story so much action that it has been hailed by picture critics as one of the most gripping subjects yet converted to the screen. In fact "Cold Steel" is all action from start to the final fadeout. The story is laid in the San Mateo Valley, New Mexico, and differs widely from the usual Western yarn. The hero, Charles Steel, otherwise known as "Cold Steel" because of his extraordinary imperturbability in the face of danger, goes to San Mateo to construct a coffee dam. He is harassed by a group of cattlemen who do their utmost to prevent his success but ho triumphs after many a thrilling adventure, not only erecting his dam but winning the girl whose keen wittedness and devotion have aided him in his fight.
