Champion Eastern Campaigner Made Report to Convention on Sabbath Day Observance.

DES MOINE, Iowa, May 20.—(U. P.)—Nation-wide war on open Sunday was declared by the Presbyterians in general assembly here today. Dr. Harry L. Gowdy, New York City, champion blue law campaigner, demanded the salvation of the "Christian Sabbath" in his report to the convention this morning on Sabbath day observance. Plans to push a campaign to the Pacific coast will be undertaken as soon as some eastern and mid-western sections are more thoroughly organized, Gowdy announced. The committee will visit several coast cities, including Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Boise, Carson City and Salt Lake City and lead the fight for preservation of the Sabbath.

HARDING TO ASK RAIL EXECUTIVES TO CUT THE RATES AT GATHERING

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(U. P.)—Harding will gather about his tonight at the white house "the best minds" of the railroad industry as the second step in general plan for rehabilitation of the industry through conferences with its leaders. Across the dinner table the president, it is understood, will suggest to the railroad executives for the present that they volunteer a reduction of rates. He hopes to secure their co-operation in the reduction to bring down prices so business can be revived just as he induced the steel men to consider abolishing the twelve hour day.

WHEAT PRICES

Wheat held remarkably well today in the face of heavy selling by leading long interests, and by local operators who were impressed with the liberal receipts at primary markets. Chicago had 225 cars and Kansas City 228 cars wheat today, and it is predicted that the movement will be heavier next week, as country holders, especially in the southwest are said to be cleaning up stocks. Chicago receivers reported 300,000 bushels wheat bought at Missouri river points to come here. Kansas City and St. Louis reported weak cash markets, with the demand slow, but Chicago spot prices were firm relatively to the futures. Sea-

RIVOLI SUNDAY AND MONDAY MAD SUMMER OF 1899

REPRODUCED IN NEW JANE NOVAK PICTURE

An authentic reproduction of that mad summer of 1899, when a sensational rush for the Alaskan gold fields caused farmer and mechanic, business man and laborer to drop their activities to participate in a headlong rush for wealth and success in the wilds of the Yukon, is visualized in Jane Novak's greatest screen triumph "Belle of Alaska," distributed by the American Releasing Corporation and opening at the Rivoli Theatre on Sunday.

MAY McAVOYS INITIAL PICTURE WAS "SWEET"

It was a very "sweet" picture, the first photoplay in which May McAvoy ever appeared. For "the young star who will be seen at the Alta Theatre Sunday in "Through a Glass Window," made her picture debut in a one-reel affair advertising a popular brand of sugar.

She took that advertising job because the casting directors for regular legitimate drama couldn't "see her." They thought she was too small and failed to recognize the remarkable appeal of the girl. When the "sugar" photoplay appeared, however, they revised their ideas and she leaped into instant popularity, a popularity which led to stardom following her appearance as "Grisel" in Barrie's "Sentimental Tommy."

If you forget the rules of the road you can safely fall back on the golden rule.

Mrs. Ora Snyder, below, has long been known as the "candy queen" of Chicago, but Mrs. E. F. Wood recently leased a candy store at an annual rental of $100,000. Then Mrs. Snyder announced she would build the most beautiful candy shop in the world.

board messages said export demand indifferent, but it was intimated that business might be done on a decline next week. Crop reports for the past few days have not been so favorable as recently and many recognized authorities are apprehensive over the outlook, believing that perfect weather will be necessary to maintain conditions until harvest. With the possibility of another crop scare before us, would not care to take the short side of the new crop deliveries at present prices.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Stocks—A renewed broadening of the inside inquiry for stocks coupled with aggressive operations for the rise, sent the general list forward in today's trading. And United States Steel reached a new high price for the year. New Haven was again a strong feature. Week end trade reviews very favorable in their comment of actual and prospective business conditions, and this taken together with the optimistic remarks of President Harding have done much to create a bullish feeling. Reports regarding the proposed independent steel merger are undergoing constant change, with the result that the shares of some companies, concerned are fluctuation sharply. There was a broadening interest on the buying side of the market, and the influence by this fresh buying power price advances may be witnessed.

HOMER C. TAYLOR

he has been, and I believe he will quickly win a big place for himself in Pendleton.

Walter Powell of Stanford in a telegram to Supt. Inlow states that Taylor is a splendid leader of boys and that his character and personality are entirely satisfactory. From the state supervisor of agricultural education of Montana the following statement was given concerning Taylor:

"Let me say, as a man I know of no one who has higher ideals or more closely lives up to them."

During the past year Taylor has been principal of a high school in a Middle Western state where he had excellent success in football, according to the information in the possession of Supt. Inlow. He is 26 years old, and is married.

Coch Hantley has been here two years, and under his coaching Pendleton high has won consistently in track, on the gridiron and on the basket ball floor. He was out of town today and it was impossible to secure a statement from him as to where he will be next year. He has several good offers under consideration.
