'CHRIST AND NICODEMUS' SUBJECT OF SERMON

"There are many good folks who seem to think that they were born so well the first time that they do not need to be born again from above," Mr. Huling said last night at the Baptist church in his sermon on "Born once, die twice; born twice, die once." Continuing, he said, "Nicodemus, who came to Jesus by night was a Jewish leader and a very devout man. If any one had religion, he did, but he had the wrong kind. The world is full of religion. Everyone is religious, but Christ said, 'Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God.' There is a great gulf fixed between salvation and mere religion. Salvation is an affair of the heart whereas religion may be made up of mere externals. If we accept Jesus as a Teacher come from God, we must believe that He knows what we need and He simply declared, 'Ye must be born again.' This new birth is not a natural human process. When we have accepted the grace of God, in Jesus Christ we can grow in grace but we cannot grow into grace. Being born again from above of the Spirit of God is a crisis. It is the coming of the life of God into the human soul, being made a partaker of the Divine nature, just as we by our physical birth become partakers of human nature. When we look to Jesus as our Crucified Savior and Living Lord, the Spirit of God enters this new birth and we become new creatures in Christ."

BURNETT SAYS HE COULD NOT HOLD HIS JOB

Forced To Give Up Several Positions On Account Of Rheumatism — Praises Tanlac For His Complete Recovery.

"I couldn't hold a steady job on account of rheumatism and had to give up several places, but since taking Tanlac I never have an ache or a pain in my body," declared E. J. Burnett, 5914 45th Ave., Southeast, Portland, Ore., machinist for the Singer Sewing Machine Co.

"Rheumatism and stomach trouble held me down for ten years and I never expected to see a well day again. My neck pained me so bad that sometimes I couldn't turn my head without moving my whole body and I had severe pains all through my shoulders. My legs hurt me so bad I was often unable to walk a step and had to take to my bed. My stomach got so badly out of order that what little I did force down disagreed with me.

"Tanlac went straight after my troubles and now I don't believe there's a trace of rheumatism left. I can hardly get enough to eat, sleep fine and do as big a day's work as ever. I certainly recommend Tanlac highly."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

CANADIAN WHISKEY FLOODING SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., June 14.—This city is being flooded with Canadian whiskey to such an extent that the bootleggers contemplate forming a powerful liquor trust as a matter of self-protection, officers here declare. Moonshiners also are hurting the business of the dealers in the bonded goods.

The result has been that the bootleggers have been forced to slash prices, all previous price agreements having been terminated, precipitating a "rate war." Hence the need of the "trust," with a division of the trade and the allotment of a certain district to the individual bootlegger.

"We've got to organize," declared a prominent local bootlegger. "This price-slashing and cutting of each other's throats cannot continue or we'll all be broke."

"There's a lot of whiskey in town, and our best brands are selling dirt cheap. Moonshiners are hurting our business. Some of our best customers are developing a liking for moonshine and are not buying standard brands of Scotch and bourbon. It is also essential that we divide the trade, giving each bootlegger a certain district."

DEMPEY TO MEET BILL BRENNAN ON LABOR DAY

Los Angeles, June 14.—(U. P.)—Jack Kearns has reached final agreement for a Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan fight for the world heavyweight championship at Michigan City, Mich., next Labor day, he announced here yesterday afternoon.

Promoter Floyd Fitzgibbon has offered Dempsey a flat guarantee of $200,000 for a 10-round, no decision bout, which will mean for the champion about $25 a second in the ring.

Kearns returned from Oakland yesterday after cancelling Dempsey's vaudeville contract.

"Then we may work our way East on a short vaudeville tour, and open camp at Michigan City about six weeks before the fight."

DISPLAY ADVERTISING GETS RESULTS, ASSERTS BOSTON CHURCH WORKER

BOSTON, June 14.—Paid advertising is a phase of church efficiency which gets results, Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, corresponding secretary of the Alliance of Unitarian and Other Liberal Christian Women, told anniversary week delegates at the annual meeting in Tremont Temple.

As a result of a co-operative advertising programme to promote the distribution of religious literature, fifty-eight Alliance branches, the American Unitarian Association and the Unitarian Laymen's League, she declared, received more than 6,000 requests for publications from parts of the world as remote as Alaska and the Malay States.

'VACANT' SIGN MEANS VERY LITTLE IN FRANCE

PARIS, June 14.—Merely because a sign says "apartment vacant" does not mean there is a chance to rent these days of housing shortage, according to A. Gouilly in the Echo National. Proprietors are required by law to post such a sign whenever a tenant moves out. The apartment is usually rented, however, by private agreement, some time before the enticing sign is displayed to eager house hunters.

EXPERTS MAKE STUDY OF CORN STRUCTURE

WASHINGTON, June 14.—A joint study of root, stalk and ear roots of corn, conducted recently by the Department of Agriculture and the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station, disclosed a very notable difference between starchy ears and horny ears in the frequency of infection and in the vigor of plants produced, according to an announcement by the investigators.

Ears of the dent varieties having starchy kernels have been found to be infected with root-rot organisms more frequently than ears in the same seed lots having horny kernels, it was stated.

CHARGE MADE AGAINST O. A. C. IS DENIED

OREGON AGRICULTURE COLLEGE, Corvallis, June 14.—Charge of discrimination by the college against the dairy industry of the state through use of oleomargarine in dormitories and in the school of home economics as reported to have been made at the meeting of the Oregon State Grange in McMinnville, is not justified in view of the facts, say the college authorities.

Oleomargarine has never been served in the dormitories and college tea room, but on the other hand in the present school year 12,222 pounds of butter, costing $6,427.17 were used. A small amount of oleomargarine was used for cooking purposes only.

The average daily consumption of milk has been 100 gallons, and no milk has been placed on butter this year. Liberal consumption by the students of dairy products, all from the college dairy, has been urged, use of milk as a drink being stressed rather than tea or coffee.

ENGLISH SCIENTISTS DECLARE WAR ON MILK

LONDON, June 14.—Bootleg whisky

may be the cause of controversy in America, but here in "wet" England a controversy is raging over milk.

"Never drink milk; it is an unnatural food save for the young," declared Dr. C. Webb Johnson.

"Great nations have been fed upon milk and have prospered—the Scotch and the Irish, for instance," retorted Professor H. E. Armstrong.

That was enough, the fight is on. The pro-milk and the anti-milk advocates are now up to their elbows in initiating letters to "The Times."

AMUSEMENTS

John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln." Frank McFlynn as Lincoln, Perry Conson as Davis. Rivoli, Friday, June 16.

It begins to look as though that long sought "greatest American play," much discussed and learnedly treated by the pundits whorite of the theater, had been written by an Englishman, John Drinkwater. The play is "Abraham Lincoln" which William Harris, Jr. will present with Frank McFlynn, at the Rivoli Theater, Friday night, June 16th. Hailed as a great entertainment which will reach the ordinary man in the street playgoer, as an inspired drama which will please the critical, as an example of magnificent playwriting which will please the playwrights, and then as an exposition true and genuine of the magnificent character, the loving kindness of the man Lincoln, which delights those who knew him in life or in story, the praise bestowed upon it has been unparalleled in many years. In fact it is doubtful if there ever was a play which was received with such unanimous acclamation.

In making his play "Abraham Lincoln," Mr. Drinkwater endeavored to reveal the soul of a great man. He took liberties with history, he placed speeches where they were never uttered, but this was done to make clear to the spectator the impulses which moved and the thought behind the act of the great heart whose character was being defined. And the audience carries from the theater a fixed and clearer realization of the honor one has to be an American citizen.

In the office of William Harris, Jr. who produced the play in America there are files upon files, all of them filled with letters from the great and the small, many autographs are there which will be valuable in years to come and all the letters tell of the magnificence of this play, if the inspiration it brings, of the value it has to America and Americans. And then there are the tributes of the unknown and those speak even with greater force than those of the big men—they tell of what the play means to their lives and to their hearts and to the love it makes well up for this country of theirs which was that of Abraham Lincoln. Frank McFlynn plays Lincoln and Perry Conson plays Davis, the honest sturdy, a dignity befitting the great subject and a simplicity which was Lincoln's.

Making an Asset of Difficulties

A great opportunity is now before American business—the opportunity of making a big and permanent asset out of the very difficulties of the present situation. The conviction that this can be done is extremely heartening. It is enough to put a new thrill of life and activity into every form of industry.

From one point of view the present situation is by far the most desirable, the soundest, the sanest, and the most hopeful this country has ever seen. Why? Because it brings into bold relief, through sheer necessity, the latent power to create conditions as we would like to have them.

The curtailment of Demand for the products of industry brought us face to face with the question, hitherto ignored, as to what causes demand. Then it was discovered that Demand was a created thing, and that more of it could be created in almost any direction—if enough of the right effort were applied.

Chief among the means of creating Demand is now seen to be Advertising. Wherever you find a big demand for any product you find, invariably, that the demand for that product has been stimulated by human effort, and chiefly through advertising.

It is obvious to any one who will think it through that the present demand for any product could be substantially lessened if it were possible to eliminate all forms of advertising — including pictures, displays, and word of mouth, as well as printed and painted messages—and just let that product depend on the natural or unstimulated demand.

And it is equally obvious that a demand for any worthy product can be created and stimulated by means of Advertising.

This fact puts within the hands of the business man the means of creating his own market. That would be the biggest asset he could have—an assured market for all he could produce.
