Nature plans that the foot rest on heel, ball and outside arch.

Civilization demands that heel and arch be raised.

The Arch Preserver Shoe satisfies both Nature and Civilization.

Arch Preserver Shoes

"The most foolish thing a woman can do is to go right ahead suffering with her feet," said one of our customers the other day.

"They say they have to have uncomfortable feet if they want to wear smart shoes. They don't at all. They can have comfortable feet and stylish shoes, if they'll only take the trouble to find Arch Preserver Shoes."

Have you got such a foot problem? Are you conscious of your feet? Do you feel fatigue in your feet more than in the rest of your body?

The trouble is with the shoes you are wearing. If the arches sag, then they must cause foot strain—and unnecessary foot fatigue and discomfort.

Arch Preserver Shoes support the foot underneath its entire length, comfortably and normally, just as Nature intended it should be supported. Your feet can't feel aghy and tired in Arch Preserver Shoes.

And you have style, too. Arch Preserver Shoes are smart and modish—giving your feet a well groomed appearance at all times. Of course, you want such shoes as these. Let us show them to you.

SEATTLE PROMISES TO LEAVE NOTHING UNDONE TO MAKE REUNION GOOD

SEATTLE, Aug. 4.—With stores, office buildings and theaters promising to decorate with the pine tree in honor of the occasion, entertainment lining up, delegations from San Diego, California to Butte, Montana sending word that they are coming to Seattle and banquet committees busily in search of the right sort of special entertainment, amusements and refreshments, the reunion of the Ninety-First Division to be held here and in Tacoma Saturday and Sunday August 19th and 20th promises to be the biggest veterans' event the city has seen since the troops came home.

Badges with space for the wearer's name and unit above a pine tree design below will be passed out to all who register at headquarters in the Hotel Savoy. There will be automobiles waiting to show the stranger around the city. There will be bands to make marching from the depots to headquarters easy and to lead the "Wild West" division in the great Americanization parade to be staged on the 19th as a feature of the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to be held here during the same week.

The 361st and 362nd Infantry, recruited mostly from Washington and Montana will quarter at the Hotel Savoy. The 262nd Infantry, "San Francisco's Own," the 216th Engineers, 316th Supply Train and the 24th Supply train have requested reunion headquarters to billet them and those arrangements are now being made. Other units have yet to select headquarters.

Lieutenant Governor Wm. J. Coyle, president of the Ninety-First Division Association and Orin W. Schmitt, General Chairman of the reunion committee have announced that the two days of the reunion have not been closely programmed for the reason that the Powder River men will want to foregather and fight the war over again. If the experience of the former reunions is a criterion. With the rush of arrivals expected to begin early on Saturday August 19th, half a hundred local veterans of the division are to put on their olive drab uniforms and overseas caps and rush to depots, bus stations, hotels and other handy greeting places and from there guide the victors to division headquarters at the Hotel Savoy.

Memories of earned "Willie" and "old fish" will be smothered in banquets to be held on the first night of the reunion by various units and regimental organizations and the entire division will gather at a tremendous

FOREST FIRE SITUATION WORST SINCE 1910

PORTLAND, Aug. 4.—That August is opening with a forest fire situation similar to that in 1910, which resulted in the greatest loss of life and property ever known in the Pacific Northwest, is disclosed by simultaneous reports from all protective agencies received today by the Western Forestry and Conservation Association. While continuous fire-fighting through July has kept the almost innumerable blazes fairly in check because the tinder-like condition of the woods has not been aggravated by wind or extreme heat, every day is increasing the danger of losing control. If it does not rain soon a few hours of adverse weather may break the deadlock and result in sweeping conflagrations before which human effort is powerless. Much depends on public co-operation through extreme care with fire, for fire forces are in no position to cope with new attacks. Over much of the territory government and state authorities are returning campfire permits. In Washington the governor is endeavoring to stop logging operations temporarily. Everywhere the fire laws are being religiously enforced. To convictions being already reported. Up to the present time, however, heavy timber losses have been successfully prevented by the extraordinary efforts of private, state and federal forces which have fully 3000 trained fire-fighters and patrolmen in the western states besides a fluctuating army of employed help. The situation is worse in Washington, where although there has been no great loss of merchantable timber and that of second-growth has been exaggerated, the damage to other property has been more than in any previous year and the fires are continually breaking from control to cause great difficulty in surrounding them. Hundreds of miles of trenches have been built and result. In Stevens county the situation is particularly troublesome because of wind. The worst fires in Oregon have been in the northwestern counties where large acres of cut-over land have been swept and the loss of logs and equipment has been heavy. Probably most of the areas timbered will be salvaged. These fires are now under control, but by no means beyond great danger should wind arise. In eastern and southern Oregon it is very dry and the look-outs are hampered by smoke from the north, but the situation is still in hand. There has been little bad fire. Throughout Oregon considerable aid is being given by airplane scouting furnished by the army. Idaho reports critical conditions and heavy expense in meeting them, but that the numerous fires have been kept fairly well in hand with the exception of the Marble Creek conflagration in the Coeur d'Alene watershed where several hundred men have been unable to prevent the loss of much valuable white pine. Dry lightning storms have been a continuous menace in northern Idaho. Because of the over-taxing of the fire forces almost everywhere it is impossible to obtain accurate reports upon the number of fires being handled and of the losses to date. The reporting authorities agree, however, upon two points: that only great effort has succeeded in minimizing destruction of life and property so far and that the breaking-point is nearly reached. There is threatened a recurrence of the catastrophe that brought the catastrophe of 1910 and 1917; only to be prevented by favorable weather and by extreme care by everyone who enters the woods with campfires, matches and tobacco and in all railroad logging and land clearing operations.
