FRANCE TODAY COUNTS 20,000 GIRL ATHLETES

PARIS, Aug. 7.—(A. P.)—France, where before the war feminine athletics were virtually unknown, now has 20,000 enrolled girls and women competing in track and field events, and from this new army a team will be selected to represent the nation in the international games in Pershing Stadium beginning August 20.

The international games may result in amalgamation of the two national feminine athletic organizations whose rivalry nearly disrupted plans for the meet, one with 227 local societies and the other with 120. The ministry of war is projecting plans for the combination.

Until May, 1915, French women had never organized for athletics with the exception of horseback riding, tennis, hunting and swimming. French women do not excel as sprinters but they are confident of their prowess in the middle-distance runs, and they have an exceptional performer in Madame Gougand-Morris in the weights.

Dirigible C-2 To Fly From Coast to Coast

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—(U. P.)—A trans-continental flight by the army dirigible, the C-2, is scheduled for the first of September if the army is ready to start the flight. This will be the first coast to coast flight by an airship in America.

Starting from Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., the C-2 will head across the continent, ending her flight at Hoss Field, Arcadia, Calif., about 18 miles from Los Angeles. After a brief stay it is planned for the airship to return by the same route.

The C-2 has a cruising speed of about 45 miles an hour and it is expected that the flight will be made in about sixty-five hours actual flying time. A number of stops are scheduled, however, two of them for probably 48 hours, and it is believed that the flight will occupy a period of over a week.

Washington will be the first scheduled stop and the second leg of the trip will be from here to Akron, Ohio. The other stops on her itinerary will be Dayton, Ohio, Belleview, Ill., Camp Pike, Ark., Dallas, Texas, San Antonio, Tex., Marfa, Tex., El Paso, Tex., Yuma, Arizona, Nogales, Arizona and Ross Field.

None of these jumps will tax to the limit the cruising radius of the airship, which can fly 700 miles without refueling. At most of the stops the C-2 will remain only a short time, when weather conditions permit, flying at night as well. At four of the stops where there are flying fields there will be a delay of from twenty-four to forty-eight hours, to give the ship an overhaul and the crew a chance to rest.

The C-2 is now at Aberdeen and has made several demonstration flights. A number of other preliminary flights are scheduled, to give the big ship a thorough try-out. The crew to make the trans-continental flight will number six but personnel has not definitely been selected. It is considered probable that part at least of her present crew will make the trip. The airship is 192 feet long and has a gas capacity of 172,000 cubic feet.

For the long trip the crew will "travel light," to reduce the weight as much as possible. The ship will be equipped however with both telephone and telegraph radio equipment. They will be small sets, however, with a sending capacity of from 10 to 15 miles for the telephone and 20 to 40 miles for the telegraph set. It will be possible however, to receive messages from a much greater distance, probably several hundred miles, which will enable the pilot to dodge bad weather ahead when radio warning is received.
