AEROSURFING HAWAII'S MOST EXCITING SPORT

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 8.—(A. P.)—Aerosurfing, Hawaii's newest and most exciting sport, was inaugurated here in the ocean off the army air station at the Pearl Harbor navy yard by leading exponents of surfing and aviators in army flying boats. The new sport is a combination of surf-boarding and aviation. The boards were towed by the airplanes, the riders standing on the boards and clinging to a single strand of rope while the planes charged through the water at a speed of 45 miles an hour. Many upsets marked the experiment, most of the spills occurring after the flying boat had attained its fullest speed and when clouds of spray raised by the boats blinded the riders on the board.

Lieutenant R. C. Kirkpatrick, air service, U. S. A., and a pilot on the New York to Alaska flight, piloted the flying boats. Sam and David Kahanamoku, brothers of Duke Kahanamoku, the noted Hawaiian swimmer and considered the most expert manipulators of surf-boards in the islands, were among the riders.

AMERICAN BUSINESS IN GERMANY HEALTHY

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—(A. P.)—A membership mark of 2,000 is rapidly being approached by the American Chamber of Commerce in Germany, as compared with a maximum enrollment of 250 before the war. The chamber was established in 1902 for the purpose of promoting trade relations between the United States and Germany, and especially the promotion of American foreign trade. For the past four or five months it is officially stated, more than 100 applications for membership have been laid before the board of directors at each of its monthly meetings. The constitution of the chamber provides for two classes of membership, active and associate. The former includes the right to vote and hold office and is limited to American citizens; the latter is open to all non-American nationalities. The status of membership on June 12 showed 509 active and 1,041 associate members, the latter comprising exclusive life and honorary members.

CANAL ZONE GIRLS ON WAY TO PARIS GAMES

CHRISTOBAL Canal Zone, Aug. 8.—(A. P.)—A group of girl athletes from the Canal Zone is now on its way to Paris for the International Women's Games which open on that city August 20. The young women are giving exhibition games at Havana and Bermuda, and in Spain on the way over. After the games they will tour Germany, England and Scotland and then come to New York about the middle of September. It is planned to have them appear in New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

The Canal Zone team consists of Iona Rathbone, Esther Greene, Mrs. C. H. Bath, Mrs. J. L. Greene accompanied by the team as chaperone, and Homer Baker, physical director in the Canal Zone, will manage and coach the team. Miss Rathbone has a record of 15.45 seconds for the 100-yard hurdles, and also does exceptionally well with the javelin and in the standing broad jump. Miss Greene has a record of 12.25 seconds for the 100-yard dash; 45 seconds for the 300-meter run and 4 ft. 7 in. in the running high jump. Mrs. Bath's best performance for the shot put, 8 pounds with right and left hand, is 55 feet, 3 inches. She is incidentally the bowling champion and the champion sharp shooter of the Isthmus.

CUPID WINS FINE-PAROLE FOR SPEEDER

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 8.—(I. N. S.)—The cards were stacked for Glenn Davis of Columbia, Mo. It just couldn't be possible that his wedding day would be marred by a $10 fine for speeding. Davis appeared in police court before the judge. He admitted his car had been clipping it off at a swift pace.

"Judge, I am going to be married in thirty minutes," the swain pleaded. "Can't you grant me a parole from the $10 fine?" Davis was dismissed with a warning. "Put 'er there," he said to the judge. "I would like to have you attend the ceremonies."

Miss Mathilde Campbell, of this city, is now Mrs. Glenn Davis.

WHOLE HARD GRAIN IMMUNE TO BROAD-NOSED WEEVIL

Standard control measures advocated for other insect pests of stored grain, such as the cleansing of bins, granaries, ship-holds, or grain-bags, the application of heat or fumigation, should be used as remedies against the broad-nosed grain weevil, which is now wide-spread over Florida and has been reported from Georgia and South Carolina.

The damage caused by the broad-nosed grain weevil is more than has generally been supposed, according to Department Bulletin 1085, Broad-nosed Grain Weevil, by Richard T. Cotton, scientific assistant, Bureau of Entomology, recently issued by the United States department of agriculture.

This bulletin describes the origin and economic history of the broad-nosed grain weevil. This weevil breeds in corn, chick-peas, millets, sorghs, and avocado seeds, and occasionally in the roots of the dasheen and in sweet potatoes. The adult weevil feeds readily on wheat, barley, wheat flour, ginger, macaroni, and chayotes. Whole grain or seed of medium hardness is immune from its attacks unless its associate, the common rice weevil, has made entrance to the softer parts of the grain easy for it. Cracked, damaged, or soft seed is quickly infested by the broad-nosed grain weevil.

This is but one phase of advertising activity carried on by the railroad and followed up by personal solicitation through Southern Pacific representatives everywhere.

PARIS FLOODED WITH FAKE MASTERPIECES

PARIS, Aug. 8.—A mysterious hidden studio which, in reality a veritable factory for turning out counterfeit masterpieces, is the object of search by prefecture detectives.

This factory is somewhere in the Latin quarter. There poor students and starving artists, it is believed, are paid too tempting wages for copying the works of great painters, the originals of which would command huge prices. These copies are then sold at auctions either deliberately in place of the originals, which may be in a private collection, or as a "newly discovered" work of the master.

Discovery of such "art treasures" on the market has led to the belief in the existence of this "masterpiece factory," and to the combing of the Latin quarter by the police in search of it.

In particular, spurious works of modern painters of note have been detected, a variation of the old game of counterfeiting the older masterpieces. All of the counterfeits uncovered so far have been signed with the painter's name, cleverly forged.

Thomas Knock, an American art connoisseur, was the first to put the police on the track of the swindlers. Knock recently paid 200,000 francs for a collection of 107 pictures.

Out of this group of pictures an expert picked forty-three counterfeits. Among them were works by Cozanne, Pissarro, Matisse, Renoir, Sisley, Sautin and Signac, representing for the most part a popular modern school of painting, the works of which bring high prices.

A celebrated art critic whose name was not permitted to be published was another victim of the "factory." Police plan, they say, to investigate every art dealer, and many of the studios, on the left side of the Seine. Already, they say, they have discovered a group of bad imitations of works of Carrere. But the whereabouts of the suspected "factory" remains a mystery.

FASHION NOTES

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(U. P.)—The woman who permits herself to be guided in her dress by others is stifling her imagination. Recently we have been getting away from the herd. When a style promises to be a "season's snake," we shrink from it as we would the mumps.

This spirit has forced the manufacturers to use their imagination. They are no longer able to sell dozens of gowns of the same character. The small town merchant often refuses to purchase more than one gown of a kind and in consequence the women of the small towns are as well groomed as their Fifth avenue sisters.

The country girl with the funny clothes, pulled back hair and clumsy shoes can only be found in the cheap vaudeville acts. The gingham outfit, where the whole family utilized the same bolt, no longer appeals to her. In a word, she has used her imagination and has made herself as appealing and as attractive as possible.

If a Fashion writer says that polka dots are the vogue, study the effect of the polka dots upon yourself before accepting the verdict as applying to you. An extremely large woman in a gown that is covered with polka dots will look somewhat like an elephant with the hives. A slender girlish figure may appear entirely winsome in that same gown.

This winter promises that the wide, flat hats are to be with us again. Unless you are of medium height don't be guided by this announcement. Wear the things that are best suited to your physical self and that strike a spark in your imagination.

At a recent benefit staged on Long Island by the theatrical people of New York, a gathering where many of our best families sought to outshine each other, there was one young girl who attracted more attention than any one else of her age. There were flappers aplenty, in sleeveless boned gowns, bobbed heads and silver footwear. Beauties among them.

But the girl to whom all eyes turned was a wholesome young thing with a wealth of blond hair coiled low at the nape of her neck, with its waves gilded in a simple, childish-looking white organza, with little puffed sleeves. And horror upon horror, she had chosen a pink sash and wore a wreath of forgetmenots in her hair.

She was the living recollection of that sweet girlhood that seems forever gone. She was an individual. It was plain to see that it was not affectation with her. She had chosen a gown!
