ABOUT $500 WORTH OF TOOLS TAKEN BY BOYS ARE FOUND BY POLICE

Mystery of Several Thefts is Solved When Stuff Taken From Five Shops is Found.

The mystery which surrounded the robbery and much pilfering which has been going on for the past three or four months has been partially solved by Chief of Police W. R. Taylor in the arrest of Leonard Hoering who is held in the city jail as one of a group of several boys and young men said to be implicated in the thefts.

Pendland Bros. are one of the firms suffering loss as a result of the activities of the gang. Their shop on the south hill was entered about three months ago when a number of tools, one shotgun, valued at $20, and a couple of old revolvers were taken.

M. Bryan is also a heavy loser, his valuation of the equipment taken from him being placed at about $250. He has recovered quite a lot of his tools, however, though there is still some missing.

The police say they have a confession from Hoering, the only one of the five or six boys thought to be implicated in the deal in one way or another. As a part of the admissions he is said to have made, it is claimed that he stole some of the most valuable tools from the other boys after they had taken them from their owners.

According to the check as it now stands as made by the police, at least five places were robbed by the boys. The work of returning the tools to their rightful owners has been hindered because the private marks which the original owners had stamped on the steel has in many cases been ground off by using an emery wheel.

Chief Taylor, who has been working on the case for one week, said this morning that he is confident that he will be able to go further with the investigation before he finishes. No formal charges have been preferred against any of the gang except Hoering.

Queen of 1922 Round-Up to be Selected Soon

Who will be queen of Pendleton's 1922 Round-Up?

Some young lady will on the eve of September 21 give her mother instructions to call her early, for the three days of the big show will see the crowning of a Round-Up queen.

Members of the Round-Up association are now considering some of Pendleton's fairest daughters and the selection will be made within a few days.

Round-Up plans are shaping up nicely. Sam Wright has been chosen to do the decorating and in the early days of September will put in place the Round-Up banners which transform Pendleton into a city of gala attire.

The track, arena and grandstands are to be improved before the show. A cushion of fresh soil will be placed on the track. All the seats in the grandstands, boxes and bleachers will be repaired where necessary.

GOOD WAY OFFERED FOR TELLING OUTSIDE FOLK ABOUT ROUND-UP

Always a good way to show your distant friends and relatives what the Round-Up is like is to send them copies of the East Oregonian Round-Up editions. Thousands of people plan in the past and the East Oregonian Round-Up souvenir editions will be fully up to past standards this year.
