

People Here and There

C. Z. Randall went to Stanfield today on court business.

C. W. Paulus of Pilot Rock was a business visitor in Pendleton today.

C. H. Lorenz, prominent Ukiah stockman, was in Pendleton yesterday on business.

Earl Thompson, reservation farmer is in the city today on business. He reports that seeding operations started at his ranch today.

Ray Jones and Norval Ferguson are potato growers on Weston Mountain. They were in Pendleton today taking care of business matters.

James Massie, Ukiah stockman is in the city today on business. Mr. Massie and his brothers run considerable cattle on the Umatilla range.

Enoch Pearson and Dave Johnson have returned from a visit to their sheep camps on Lookingglass Creek below Elsin. As they were coming out of the hills Thursday afternoon they saw Harry Horns and J. K. Thompson of Pendleton who were just starting into the back country in search of deer.

Prospects for good prices in the sheep business are bright, according to Mac Hoke of the Cunningham Sheep Co. who has returned after a business trip to Portland. Wool prices promise to hold at a good selling figure, Hoke thinks, and lambs are in good demand. Breeding ewes are being eagerly sought by breeders and some in Idaho have brought as high as $11 the head.

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Mann returned to Portland yesterday after a visit of a fortnight with his brother, L. L.

Mann and family. They were here for the Round-Up. Dr. Mann practiced medicine in Pendleton about 19 years ago.

Mrs. Kenneth McRae and Chairman Hall of the county republican central committee have returned to their homes in Pendleton and Freewater, respectively, after attending the republican convention held recently in Portland.

Pendleton News Notes

Are Licensed To Wed

A marriage license has been issued to Charles H. O'Dell, a blacksmith, and Tella McRoberts, both of Echo.

Barometer Falling

The barometer registers 29.65 today but is falling, says Major Lee Moorhouse, weather observer. The maximum today is 82 and the minimum last night was 49.

Will Attend Dance

Legionnaires from Pilot Rock, Athena, Echo and other posts will attend the American Legion dance this evening at Happy Canyon. The dance will be the largest of its kind given this year.

Sheep Off Forest

Sheep are now being removed from summer range on the Umatilla National Forest. A few herds have been taken off by stockmen who have been selling cattle but the majority are still on the range and will not be removed until the middle of October. The grass was improved by the recent rains.

To Initiate Class

The local lodge of Knights of Pythias will start its fall campaign of work Monday night when a large class of candidates will receive work in the past rank. The lodge has recently spent about $5000 on its lodge and club rooms and now boasts one of the best club rooms in the state.

Capt. Prescott Visits

Capt. A. P. Prescott of the U. S. army, now an instructor and inspector, stationed at Atlanta, Ga., was a visitor in Pendleton yesterday. During the Spanish-American war Capt. Prescott was in command of Co. D in the old Oregon 2nd Infantry. The unit was largely made up of local men. G. A. Hartman was a lieutenant in the company which saw service in the Philippines.

McCarroll Found Guilty

The jury which yesterday heard the testimony presented in the state's case against Ray McCarroll, charged with failing to give one-half of the highway last summer when a car driven by him and one driven by Dr. F. V. Truitt collided on the state highway between Weston and Athena, returned a verdict of guilty last night. Sentence will be pronounced Monday morning.

Shows to be Held

Two agricultural shows, the Potato Fair and the East End Apple Show, will be held during the latter part of October. Milton will have the apple show October 27 and Weston will hold a potato show October 28. The Walla Walla Commercial Association is planning a junket trip to Milton-Freewater October 26, so the apple show will be opened to visitors on that evening, and visitors to the show will be admitted to Weston's potato fair on that day also, although the official date is not until October 28.

Wants Right of Way

The county court has been unable to secure right of way for roads in a couple of sections of land, so a resolution authorizing the district attorney to start suit for condemnation of the required land has been adopted. The property in question is owned by Norma E. Hagen, Clara Maud Tardiff and Annie Tardiff, Ida Pearl Slater and John Slater, Lorena Miller and Clarence Miller, Robert L. Jones and Velma E. Jones, Pauline Jones Kay and James E. Kay, and Minna Belle Van Eaton and Frank W. Van Eaton.

Spokane People Visit

Thaddeus Lane, wealthy Spokane man, and prominent in civic and business circles in the Washington metropolis, accompanied by Mrs. Lane were in Pendleton Friday evening as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sturgis. Mr. Lane was the chief spirit in making the recent special train from Spokane to Pendleton for the Round-Up a success, and he is enthusiastic about the big show. He and Mrs. Lane have been inspecting their orchard properties in the Hood River country, and they arrived in Pendleton yesterday afternoon. They were guests at a dinner at the Sturgis home last evening which was attended by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Collins. They left this morning for Spokane.

Serious Fires in Forest

The past few weeks have been marked by the most serious fires in the Umatilla National Forest this year, reports J. C. Kuhns, Umatilla forest supervisor who states that such fires are unusual for so late in the season. Three fires occurred in the western division and all are laid to the carelessness of campers and hunters. K. P. Cecil, of the Portland office, who has been fighting the fires, says that a 600-acre fire, in the Rhea and Rutabaga creek region, resulted in the destruction of much yellow pine. Sixty acres of the forest destroyed was a part of the reserve. Gasoline pumps and hose were used and Fred Groom and his forestry men aided in fighting the blaze. Two other fires, of 100 acres each, occurred in the Mallory and Potamus creek regions.

Flanelet

One way to make flanelet undergarments attractive is to make them of plain material and trim them with colored piping, frogs and bits of smocking. Here's an idea of what you can accomplish.

McGraw Leads As Winner of B. B. Pennants

By HENRY L. FARRELL, (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Winner of eight National League pennants and two world's championships, John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants is the most successful of all managers and the best known figure in the game.

In twenty years at the head of the New York team, McGraw has finished only once in the cellar. He has been second eight times, third once, fourth twice and in the hole in 1915.

No other manager with the exception of Connie Mack has a record that can compare to the field boss of the Giants. While Mack won six pennants with the Philadelphia Athletics, much of the luster was taken off his record by his failure in seven later years to get his team out of the last place.

In handling the Giants, McGraw is more than a manager. He is an absolute czar. He gives directions from the bench for every move of the offense and defense. He takes the stand that he will do all the thinking for his players, and he goes as far as to dictate every delivery of the pitcher. Some may argue that his policy is not sound but the results he has obtained does not bear out that argument.

McGraw is a product of the old Baltimore Oriole school which was perhaps the greatest institution baseball ever possessed. It was the foundation school of modern scientific baseball and every member of that club made good in later years when they accepted the post of management.

The Giant chief began his professional baseball career in his hometown at Truxton, N. Y., in 1899. He played with Olean later and then went to Wellsville, N. Y. He broke into the big time as shortstop with Baltimore, April 26, 1891. Wilbert Robinson, now manager of the Brooklyn club, was then catching for the Orioles.

McGraw came to the Giants on July 19, 1902, when Andrew Freedman owned the club and Horace Fogel was manager. The team finished last that season. McGraw was appointed manager in 1902 and finished in second position. He won the pennant in 1904 and 1905 when he beat Connie Mack in the world's series. He also won pennants in 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1917 and was deprived of another in 1918 when Merkle pulled his historic boner and the Chicago Cubs won the pennant.

Several years ago McGraw and Charles Stoneham, prominent New York broker and turfman, bought the Giants and McGraw was named vice-president. He has been very successful as a part-owner of the team and is rated as a wealthy man.

Not the least of his accomplishments was his success in stopping Babe Ruth in the world's series. Three

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backaches, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

years ago when Ruth was first beginning to be a home run star, the Giants and the Red Sox were playing a pre-season series of exhibition games. Ruth got a homer in the first two games and McGraw announced that he found a way to stop him. Ruth failed to get another clout on the trip. Before the world's series last fall, McGraw again said that the Giant pitchers could keep the Swat King from hitting them out in the park in the series. Ruth failed to get a homer until the last game and Phil Douglas, off whose delivery the homer was poked out, did not make a particular effort to keep him from hitting.

America Leads in Home Comforts

THE average American home has more comforts and conveniences than the palaces of Europe. Home for home, the American household has a well-kept look, an atmosphere of prosperity and contentment you cannot find in the homes of any other country in the world.

In foreign lands, the modernized dwelling, as we know it, is found only in limited numbers and then only in the larger cities. In America, even in remote rural districts, you find pianos, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless appliances that go far to make life easier, happier and more worth while.

You may not realize it, but America's high standard of home life is due largely to advertising. For the development of advertising is distinctly American. It has taken its place as a leading force in bringing together the interests and wants of a great, united people. And a large share of the credit for this development is due the newspapers.

Stop and think how many of the appliances you use, the foods you eat, the clothes you wear, and other articles entering into your every-day life, were popularized by newspaper advertising. Then you will realize what a vital part advertising has played and is playing in your daily life.

You owe it to yourself to read the advertisements. They mean a lot to you.
