(East Oregonian Special.)
MILTON-FREEWATER, Oct. 5.—The Cheshire Hardware Company had a very attractive display in their window Monday morning consisting of a kill of nearly one hundred wild ducks made by the Milton Duck Club, using Winchester ammunition, killed at their grounds on Mud creek. The members participating in the shoot were W. R. Anderson, George Cowl, T. C. Elliott, Dr. W. H. Richardson, H. M. Cockburn, Powell Plant, W. C. McKinney and C. S. Sheshire.

Little Nancy Penlope Howard passed from this life Saturday night at 11:25 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Howard. She was two years, four months, and twenty-one days of age, and had been ill since last February, though she had been able to walk about the house most of the time. The little one suffered from spinal trouble, the symptoms of which developed for the worse the last few days of her life. The funeral was held from the Methodist church in Milton Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Rev. H. S. Shaugle, assisted by Rev. M. F. Hill, officiating.

There were many floral tributes and the six girls standing at the ends of the casket dressed in white presented a very impressive scene while the friends and neighbors passed by in viewing the remains of the little one in the casket. The girls acting as pallbearers were Genevieve Galloway, Arline McCracken, Nona Merrium Putnam, Margaret Groom, Eleanor McEwen and Mary Compton. The little one was laid to rest in the Odd Fellows' cemetery.

Besides the above mentioned sons and their families, two of Mrs. Davis' nieces, Miss Emily McBroom and Mrs. F. M. Griggs and husband from Pendleton were present.

Mrs. J. M. Stadfeld went to La Grande to spend a week with her parents and bring her daughter back with her, the daughter having been staying with her grand mother.

J. M. Stadfeld drove over to Dayton Sunday, taking his sister, Mrs. L. Sparks of Walla Walla with him.

Joe Dykes says he took three specimens Delicious apples with him when he and his wife went over to the Washington state fair for the purpose of comparing them with the apples on exhibition at Yakima. Charles Owenby, who died Friday in Pendleton, was brought here for burial. The funeral was held from the local Baptist church Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Rev. E. G. Judd, officiating. Burial was in the Ford cemetery, near Perndale. The young man was a son of Mrs. Owenby who was killed by an auto on the highway near the New Home church of the Perndale district some two years ago when she was walking home from church one Sunday afternoon.

Child Chasney and wife and Mr. and Mrs. James McAllister of Pasco, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hickenbottom over Sunday. The visitors are old friends of the Hickenbottoms.

Lawrence Williams got a telegram from his parents at Chehalis, Wash., stating that they had the misfortune of losing their Winston Six Special model in which they were on their way to southern California, by fire. The telegram did not state any particulars. It was a great surprise to Lawrence as he had just received a letter from them a few hours before saying they had started on their way after having visited a few days with relatives in Chehalis. They will return. Lawrence does not know whether there was any insurance on the machine or not.

A. R. Shumway and family returned from the state fair Monday. They report that it rained six days out of the eight they were in the Willamette valley.

A friend of Mrs. Jasper Sams says that in a card received recently Mrs. Sams stated she is doing nicely in the hospital where she is in Portland and that she hopes to be home soon.

Mrs. W. S. Ahern and the cunning team girls returned from their trip to the state fair at Salem Sunday. The girls came off with third place honors, Multnomah county getting first, Hood River county second and our county third. This is something to be proud of, and we will not be surprised if our club gains first place next year, as they are very industrious and they will know what they will have to encounter.

Amateur operators are few and far between, while radio telephony is almost an unknown science, except to engineers, research workers and professional operators.

The German post office department, which is in charge of all radio communication within the republic, permits private companies and individuals to erect their own plants only on payment of a license fee. Ordinarily the department itself installs the plants; it also rents receiving sets for 2500 marks per month.

There is only one licensed broadcasting station in Berlin at present, which sends out market and exchange quotations. Service charges range from 1000 to 2500 marks a month, to which must be added the cost of a government license and the installation of a receiving set.

Although the domestic demand is light, numerous firms in and about Berlin manufacture radio apparatus. Curiously, vacuum tubes are "almost unavailable," according to Vice-Consul Davis, crystal detectors being used instead.

HIGH COSTS HAMPER GERMAN RADIO FANS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—What with the high cost of apparatus and rigid governmental restrictions, the lot of the German radio amateur is indeed hard, according to reports from Vice-Consul Nathaniel B. Davis, at Berlin, on file at the department of commerce.

How I Got Rid of Burning Feet

And Pains from Corns and Bunions Without Soaking, Powders, Plasters, Etc., After Suffering Indescribable Foot Misery for 20 Years.

Prof. F. T. McIntyre, well known world tourist and lecturer, says: "For years I was compelled to wear shoes two sizes too large, to be able to walk with any comfort at all. I tried soaking my feet in medicated baths, powders, plasters and foot-treatments galore, but the burning callouses and soreness refused to go, while the pains from corns and bunions continued to torture both mind and body, which upset my entire nervous system. One day, very fortunately, I met a lady from Egypt who gave me a little box of Gypsy Foot Relief, which she said was a secret from the desert. After using it a short time, the awful burning stopped, the callouses came off in chunks, leaving the skin of my feet clean and smooth, while the pains from corns and bunions seemed to disappear as if by magic. From that time, I had a joyful goodbye to over 20 years of indescribable foot misery. I would not take a hundred thousand dollars to again go through those years of agony. Now I feel like telling every foot sufferer to get a box of the wonderful Gypsy Foot Relief."

Note.—Gypsy Foot Relief, referred to by Mr. McIntyre, may be applied in a minute, without fuss or bother. Some quick relief comes three minutes later, or the makers give back the small amount you pay. It is sold in this city by A. C. Koopman & Bros., Tallman & Co., and Pendleton Drug Co.

WYOMING GLACIER PERILS EXPLORERS

LANDER, Wyo., Oct. 5.—How the lives of four members of an exploring party were in peril for many hours in the icy fastness of Wyoming's newly discovered and largest glacier was related here by E. H. Fort, president of the Lander Commercial Club, under whose auspices a party of scientists, government officials, photographers and writers made a pack train trip into the wild Wind River country northwest of Lander.

Nine men were in the party that left the beaten path, with a twenty-five horse pack train, at the "J-K" ranch, on Big Wind River. The party climbed to the summit of the Continental Divide and established a base camp in the mountains, above timberline.

"Four members of the party started for the huge glacier one morning," Fort said, "intending to return the same night. When they failed to reach camp at dark we sent out search parties. We kept a huge fire all night and continuously discharged our rifles."

"It was not until late the following day that we discovered the four missing members in the bottom of a 2000-foot sink. It took them many hours to scale the walls of this depression. They had been without food for 36 hours and suffered extremely from cold during the night spent at the foot of the unexplored glacier.

"The newly found glacier is seven miles long and has an area of twenty-five miles. It clings to the eastern face of the Continental Divide, near Fremont Peak, in the Washakie National Forest.

"Few white men have ever been in the vicinity of the glacier. Many years ago a group of Indians, known as the 'Sheep-eaters,' are said to have lived in the wilderness near the glacier. These Indians were outcasts of various tribes who banded together for self-protection and derived their name from the fact that mountain sheep were their principal food. We found traces of these redmen near the glacier."

TRYING HIS BEST TO MESS THINGS UP AGAIN.

W. J. Eastman and Ross McDonald, Ford representatives, were here on business Monday.
