MRS. HATFIELD SABINA, OHIO

In Pitiable Condition when she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sabina, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and irregularity. I was weak and nervous and could hardly stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal. I was this way for about a year and had tried several medicines and had a physician, but to no avail. My sister was taking your medicine and finally induced me to try it. I now feel fine and can do my housework without any trouble at all. You can use this letter for the sake of others if you wish."—Mrs. WELDON G. HATFIELD, R. R. 3, Sabina, Ohio.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become weak and nervous that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken when you first notice such symptoms as nervousness, backache, weakness and irregularity. It will help you and prevent more serious trouble. Give it a fair trial. It surely helped Mrs. Hatfield, just as it has many other women.

Have You Kidney or Bladder Trouble

READ THIS:

Madera, Cal.—"I suffered for three years with catarrh of the bladder, having tried every remedy I heard of, but without relief. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Anuric advertised and, like a drowning man grabbing at a straw, I thought I would try it also, which I did with great success, as it relieved me almost immediately, before I had taken all of the first package, so I continued, and would say to all those suffering from their kidneys or excess uric acid, try Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and suffer no longer! I have great faith in Dr. Pierce's remedies."—S. P. Hensley.

BUILDER OF 'STOLEN' HOUSE WAS CAUGHT

TAKING FURNITURE

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 26.—This is the story of the "House that Witt Built."

Over in East Lansing stand a pretty little bungalow pointed out by passersby as a monument to its builder's cleverness. The house was erected by Fred Witt with material stolen, he admitted, from various contracting jobs about the city. Everything that went into its making, from cement blocks for the foundation to weights for the windows was "borrowed" during the night time.

So far all went well. But Witt was not satisfied with an empty house. It must be furnished. He entered a home on West Allegan street and took away several pieces of furniture to make it comfortable, according to the police charges. It would be hard to identify a shingle or a piece of siding, but the rightful owner of the furniture recognized his property.

Witt was haled into court, where he admitted, with a subtle air of pride, his wrong doing. He was sentenced to three to fifteen years in Jackson prison.

Alfalfa land going into winter in eastern Oregon should be moist but not wet. Fields wet heavily late in the season often kill out before spring. This is best likely to happen with Grimm alfalfa and with alfalfa on sandy soils. Alfalfa on heavy soils receives greater injury from winter killing.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

Honey week will be the week of November 13 to 18. The Oregon State Beekeepers' association is fostering this plan to bring this product of Oregon farms to the attention of the "sweet-toothed" citizens of the state. The association is making a special effort to have honey featured in the groceries of the state that week. H. A. Scullen, bee specialist at O. A. C., is secretary treasurer.

INLAND EMPIRE NEWS

Timing and the ground is still warm, bringing rapid growth.

There is a big tonnage of hay in the Harney Valley this year, according to information secured by members of the Pendleton delegation who recently visited there on the Joaquin Miller Trail association junket. The market is not up to normal, growers in that healthy state. Very little hay is being sold. One grower recently sold at seven dollars the ton. The majority of growers are holding for nine or $19 the ton. Both alfalfa and wild hay are grown in the valley.

Both handling and exportation of grain are steadily growing at Portland, says G. R. Hyslop of the state experiment station. As the conventional and economy of handling becomes better understood over important grain-growing district will want bulk elevators and bulk grain bins for farm storage. "Many a farmer's weak bill is as high as his taxes," says Hyslop. Sack handling is more expensive and laborious than bulk handling.

"My father ran a grain thrashing outfit here in the northern part of Grant county for 11 years," Albert Peterson declared Sunday to the members of the Pendleton delegation to Grant and Harney counties to perfect the Joaquin Miller Trail association. "We usually had a long run, and farmers would have from 2,000 to 11,000 bushels of wheat. A great deal of this wheat was fed to hogs." The production of grain has fallen off at a rapid rate due to a lack of transportation facilities and poor roads. Peterson declares that he has known of fields there that reached as high as six bushels the acre in good years.

In some sections of the wheat belt in Wallawa county farmers have been treated to a grasshopper pest this fall. The autumn weather has been unusually warm and dry, and the theory held there by farmers is that this year's supply of eggs has been hatched prematurely. The young hoppers have eaten between 2,000 and 3,000 acres of wheat young to the root. The pests have worked in spots over fields, but they have eaten up enough of the crop to necessitate re-seeding of whole fields. A similar visitation of the hopping entomologist occurred seven years ago. Judge C. H. Marsh recently by farmers that the lower moisture is below the seed bed and surface moisture is needed to bring it up.

The trend in valuation and numbers of different kinds of live stock owned in Umatilla county during 1921 and 1922 is furnished in the report which has recently been compiled by R. O. Hawks, county assessor. There are fewer horses and mules, sheep, swine and dogs in the county this year than last year, the assessment rolls show. Only cattle show a gain in numbers and their valuation is also lower. Sheep and swine, while they are fewer in number this year than last, are valued more highly. The value of farming machinery this year is placed at $1,075,413 as against $1,490,835 for last year, a loss in valuation of $415,422. In 1922 the horses and mules in the county numbered 18,869 with a valuation of $7,669,326. In 1921 there were 18,322 head, and they were assessed at $1,150,000. Exact numbers and valuations for the two years are as follows: Cattle 1922, 29,815, value $873,810; 1921, 29,019, value $669,429; Sheep 1922, 95,792, value $200,790; 1921, 104,022, value $216,796; Swine 1922, 3,375, value $28,345; 1921, 3,574, value $28,252; Hens, 2,849, value $5,698; 1921, 2,896, value $5,792.

Den Martin lives on the reservation, and this year he had a crop of squashes. They did remarkably well. So big did they grow, in fact, that when harvest time rolled round he realized that he had a real problem on his hands to get those squashes into their place of storage without wincing himself too hard. So he built a low sled and got the crop harvested with a minimum of labor. They Wyrtek declares that some of the big ones will exceed 100 pounds in weight.

Many farmers have finished seeding and are now hoping for rain to come before the seed steps in the germinating stage, withers and dies. It is said
