COLUMBIA COLLEGE LOST TO DAYTON H. S. 20-0

W. H. Birdsell, Phone 1173, has charge of the Milton-Freewater news and circulation bureau of the East Oregonian.

(East Oregonian Special.)
MILTON-FREEWATER, Oct. 30.—The football teams of the McLaughlin and Athena high schools will meet in battle array on Columbia Heights grounds Tuesday, October 31. An interesting game is anticipated.

Willis and Elbert and the daughter Betty Wilkening. They intend to make quite a long visit.

Frank Lamb, one of our enterprising fruit shippers went over to Payette, Ida., Thursday, intending to return Friday, traveling by train.

W. A. Wallace and wife have returned from an extended trip to the Middle West, visiting Iowa and selling some apples in the state of Wyoming.

H. H. Jones from Joplin, Mo., has lately secured a position in the grocery department of the Peoples Store of Freewater and the new comer expresses himself as highly pleased with his new surroundings.

A new firm under the name of The Eastern Mercantile company from Portland, have fitted up the old Meat Market building across the street from the new service station in Freewater and will be ready for business Saturday, October 25 with a stock of groceries, Sherlock and Mann, proprietors.

Mrs. W. A. Hoagland of Walla Walla is the guest of Mrs. E. W. Allen while she is taking some chiropractic adjustments.

There was a wedding in the parsonage of the Christian church Tuesday, Miss Iva Williams of Topeka, Kas., being married to J. Kerr of Freewater, the ceremony being solemnized by Rev. O. D. Harris, pastor. The bride has spent the summer here. Immediately the ceremony was concluded the couple left for Wenatchee, Wash., where they will spend a week with a brother of the groom. They live in Freewater.

Earnest Arbogast, wheat grower near Lowden, was a visitor Thursday in Freewater and he reports his father getting along nicely, he having been severely injured while in the act of coupling a trailer wheat wagon to the lead wagon and was caught between them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gainer drove over to Pendleton Wednesday in quest of a new set of household goods with which to furnish their new home just finished on Grant street, Freewater. They found the desired furniture and bought it of the Crawford Furniture company of the county seat town, and now we suppose their domestic bliss will be complete.

The Milton Nursery company are packing the new stock and will commence to ship next week.

The various stores and places of business of the Twin Cities are full of the spirit of display of the wonderful products of the soil and have decorated their windows in a most attractive and artistic manner with fruits, grains and vegetables, especially the apple, which is king with us. We imagine this has been stimulated by the great apple show which is on in the upper room of the Ice and Cold Storage plant, which no one should fail to visit, and which is attracting hundreds of visitors from Pendleton, Walla Walla and other neighboring towns. The publicity thus furnished will be of great value to our value.

The four hunters, George Beller, John Ross, Charley Beechus and G. D. Hitehook, who went into the mountains in the vicinity of Ukiah last week returned Thursday without having secured a single deer for which they went in quest. They report unfavorable weather, it being hot and dry and they had hoped for snow. However, they had a glorious time and returned bewildered and browned so that their wives and mother hardly recognized them.

The W. J. Foster sale which was cried by auctioneer W. C. Wade, in North Milton, October 25, was a success, everything selling at a satisfactory price. Mr. Foster will go to Wyoming, the state from which he came last spring in the hopes his wife's health would be benefited, and as she died a few weeks ago he is going back.

The Tum-a-Lum lumber yard at Milton sold a bill of lumber and cement to a Weston party to go into a residence in that town.

C. W. Pierce of Milton, is making an addition to his store building for the accommodation of his growing business.

Arthur Milby will begin the removal of his stock of goods into his new building next week, the new place being ready. It is a fine store building and has eight thousand feet of floor space, including balconies. The moving will be a gigantic task and will take weeks to accomplish, Mr. Milby says.

James H. E. Scott has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late A. E. Getchell.

Friends of the Olinger family will be interested to know that "Aunt Lizzie" Olinger died at the home of her daughter in Multina, Ore., Wednesday, October 25. Her body will be shipped to Peona, Col., to be placed beside that of her husband whom she has survived by a few years. It will be remembered they used to live on Main street, North Milton, until they went to live in Colorado a few years ago.

The ladies of the Sisterhood of the Christian church to the number of about fifty were entertained at the home of Mrs. O. D. Harris Thursday afternoon. A short program was carried out after which the time was spent in pleasant conversation and refreshments were served. Mrs. D. Groom gave two readings and Ida Skelton a piano solo. Mrs. H. E. McQuary directed the program. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. W. C. Wade, Mrs. W. A. Wallace, Mrs. Henry Lloyd and Mrs. William Marder.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

Mrs. D. E. Pinkerton of Walla Walla came over to Milton Thursday and attended the Sisterhood reception at the home of Mrs. O. D. Harris in the afternoon of that day.

The Dennis Groom house moving crew are moving buildings in the vicinity of Umapine this week.

Mrs. Fred Milby and Don son made a visit in Weston Thursday, traveling by train.

Adam Schwant of South Milton, has lost his tree toad which has long been his barometer, the cat having devoured it. By it Mr. Schwant has been able to tell two days beforehand the approach of rain. One day when Jesse York and Mack Cockburn, two well known wheat men, were speculating as to the possibility of rain for the fall sowing, in the presence of Mr. Schwant they were amazed when he said it would rain within two days, and asked him the source of his prophetic power, and when informed that his tree toad had told him so they were inclined to ridicule Mr. Schwant but the prophecy was fulfilled the next day they are now firm believers in the prophetic tree toad. The notes of one would certainly be welcome music at this time for the farmers report the wheat that has been sown to be rotting and that that has sprouted, as drying up and dying.

The football teams of Columbia college and Dayton high school met in Milton Friday afternoon and the game resulted in a victory for the Dayton boys in a score of 29 to 9. The game was accompanied by good feeling all through and all seemed satisfied.

Lack of cement is again delaying the crews engaged on the $1,250,000 electric plant for the Pacific Power & Light company on Hood river.

OFFICE CAT

BY JUNIUS

She sang and she sang, "I'll hang my harp on a weeping willow tree-e-e; I'll hang my harp on a weeping willow tree-e-e;" each time breaking on the high note.

Finally the patient father in the next room ventured: "Better hang it on a lower branch, Guinevere."

While boating on the bay at midnight

I saw the ocean's arm
Steal gently round a neck of land,
To keep its shoulder warm.
This made me jealousous as could be
It really made me sore,
And so I paddled toward the land,
And closely hugged the shore.

History Note

The first come-back known to man occurred some years ago when one of the neighbors slapped Noah on the back and inquired "Well, how're things coming?" To which Noah replied, "Oh, two by two."

While the family was asleep, the home of Delbert Irvin at La Grande took fire from an overheated stove and was entirely destroyed with all its contents.

SMALLER CARS ARE SHOWING AT PARIS

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Small cars for small pocketbooks stand out above all at the Seventeenth Annual Auto Show. The popular-priced American car has made its influence felt on the French manufacturers. If the number of small cars on exhibition is a criterion the French working man will soon ride to work in his own machine.

Round, comfortable looking bodies are disappearing, speedy silhouettes, with sharp angles and square-cut corners, are shown by most makes. Chassis are much lower than last year, some models are so close to the ground they give the impression of being underdressed.

Simplicity and practicality have taken the place of luxury. Space is at a premium in the small car, and luxury is sacrificed to that end. This is in marked contrast to the French cars of before the war, which, because of their unsurpassed elegance, were used extensively in the United States.

According to the custom, the Minister of Commerce, M. Dior, opened the show at the Grand Palais. M. Dior arrived in a French-made car, in contrast to his predecessor of last year, who drove up in a snappy American limousine.

There are more than 200 makes on exhibition, including town cars, sport cars, touring cars, trucks, tractors and motorcycles. No absolute novelties are in evidence, although the body builders are showing some fantastic designs for fastidious buyers.

The majority of big cars are shown with brakes on front and rear wheels. French manufacturers feel that double brakes will soon be found on all good heavy cars. Nearly all makers of big cars have a "little brother" on exhibition at a price to suit the most modest income. Small horse power and small fuel consumption, but a big name is the specialty of these offspring of the mighty. Many new motors are shown, some are "valveless."

Munson, veteran retired local merchant, announced that an Oberlin woman called on him in an effort to locate a man who was in business here in 1872. She wanted to pay him $5 for a woman, now living in the West, who said she bought a $5 trunk and failed to pay for it.

But the "conscience" money arrived too late.

The merchant who sold the trunk suspended business in 1873—nearly fifty years ago. He died some years later. Being a bachelor, he left no heirs to whom the $5 and interest could be paid.
