

News Notes of Pendleton

Here for Holidays

Gilbert Struve, who is a student at Oregon Agricultural College, arrived this morning to spend the holidays here with his mother, Mrs. Catherine Struve. Blaine Kennedy and Homer Hayden, of Pendleton, who are also students at the college, are expected to arrive here tomorrow.

Christmas Mailing Slow

Pendleton people are delaying this year in mailing their packages, according to local postoffice employees. They state that packages are not being mailed as early this year as last, and as yet there has been no need for the special mailing booth which is placed in the lobby during the holidays. The parcels post service accepts packages which weigh 70 pounds for mailing in the first three zones, but in other zones any packages over 50 pounds will be barred. The length and girth, for packages in any zone, must not exceed 48 inches. Christmas stickers may be placed on packages sent to zones in the United States but must not be placed upon parcels destined for foreign points.

Called by Illness

Mrs. Jess Salling will leave this evening for Portland, where she is called by the illness of her infant grandchild, the daughter of Mrs. Salling's daughter, Mrs. H. G. Durs.

Mr. Bickers Better

H. E. Bickers, who has been seriously ill and who recently underwent two minor operations, is better, according to word received by Mrs. Bickers from the Portland Surgical Hospital. He underwent a serious major operation on Tuesday. Mrs. A. J. O'wainhouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bickers is at her father's bedside. She arrived recently from her home in Buffalo, New York. Mrs. Bickers has been ill also but is convalescing at her home in the Bowman building.

Are in Athena

Rev. Franklin Huling, pastor of the Baptist church, and Mrs. Huling, are in Athena for the week. They are giving their assistance to the Union services which are being held there.

Will Go to Portland

Dr. W. H. Reynolds, chiropractor, who has had offices in the Temple building, has concluded his practice here and will go to Portland tomorrow where he expects to locate permanently.

Starts for Himself

Clem McCoy, who for several years has been a prescription clerk at the Tallman & Co. drug store, will leave about January 1 for Nyssa, Oregon, where he has purchased a store which he will operate. Pendleton has been home to Mr. McCoy all his life.

Wants Warrants Sent Direct

A notice to clerks of school districts in Umatilla county to send their warrants directly to the office of the county treasurer, if the district is on a warrant basis, has been mailed out by W. W. Green, county superintendent of schools. If the warrants are handled in this way before being delivered to teachers or others, trouble and expense to the banks of the county may be saved, according to the notice. Many of the districts are on a cash basis, but about one-third are registering warrants.

Keefe Had Narrow Escape

E. B. Aldrich, editor of the East Oregonian and one of the owners of the Astoria Evening Budget returned home this morning from Astoria. The work of rebuilding the Budget building is already underway and orders for new machinery have been sent by wire. The Budget will soon be equipped in more modern fashion than before the fire. Emmett Keefe, manager of the J. C. Penney store at Astoria and former Pendletonian, had a narrow escape from death in the fire. Just before his store caught fire Keefe went into the smoke filled basement to close windows and while there an adjoining building was dynamited in an effort to stop the spread of the fire. The shock of the explosion knocked Keefe unconscious. How long he remained unconscious he does not know but he recovered just in time to escape. Had he remained five minutes longer he would have been cremated. Mr. Keefe is now replacing the Penney store stock and will shortly be open for business in a temporary location.

Called To Two Fires

The fire department has been called out twice within the past 24 hours. The cold weather that has prevailed is held responsible for fires that are too hot, according to Fire Chief W. E. Ringold. Last night chemicals were used on the flue at Al Slusher's place on Lewis street. The furnace was fired until the bricks became red hot, and there was imminent danger of the building getting afire. This was prevented, however by the use of chemicals, and there was no loss. A very hot fire which caused the paper on the wall and some boards near the pipe to become heated, occurred at Miss Ethel Newquist's home on Aura street. The flames were going up the side of the wall when they were extinguished. The loss was slight. Property owners should make a careful inspection of flues to ascertain whether wall paper or wood are too near the pipes, the fire chief states. "We have escaped any big fires so far, and every resident of the city should be on the alert in every way possible to keep our record good," the chief declared.

Mrs. Blancett Visits

Just what human beings will do when they come from far and near, from city and country to see the majestic sights offered at Yosemite national park make up a book of human nature that is a source of never-ending interest. At least that is the impression held by Bertha Blancett, the only woman guide in that park of wide views and spectacular heights and depths. Mrs. Blancett and Pendleton are warm friends due to the acquaintance they have with each other as a result of many visits by the noted rider who has several times captured high honors as champion rider in the Pendleton Round-Up. Last summer Mrs. Blancett gained nation-wide notice by reason of the courage and quickness she displayed in putting out a fire that threatened to do much damage. A citation from government officials for her act is one of her treasured keep-sakes. She is enthusiastic about her work as guide in the park and is looking forward eagerly to next year. "There is always something new to see in the park, no matter how many times one may go over the high trails," she says. She will return to Salem this evening.

WOMEN CALLED TO TALK OVER INDUSTRIAL LIFE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—A Women's Conference on Industrial Problems, to be held in Washington under the auspices of the United States Department of Labor, is announced by Secretary James J. Davis for January 11, 12 and 13. Following the precedent of previous conferences called during this administration to deal with the unemployment situation and with agricultural problems by means of consultation with experts in those special fields, the women's conference is to be nationwide in scope and to bring together representative women from all walks of life. The sessions will be held in the auditorium of the United States National Museum.

The call, which goes out today, is issued through the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, accompanied by a letter from Secretary Davis, calling attention to the problems before the conference. "It appears from census figures that approximately one-fourth of the wage-earners of America are women, and apparently the proportion is increasing rather than diminishing," says Secretary Davis. "Every thinking American must realize that this situation creates a number of special
