OSU extends home win streak to 13

By KYLE ODEGARD Associated Press

CORVALLIS — Jarmal Reid came off the bench to score 20 points and lead Oregon State past Washington State 55-50 Thursday night.

Malcolm Duvivier added 15 points for the Beavers (15-7, 6-4 Pac-12), who improved to 13-0 at Gill Coliseum this season

Neither team was able to pull away until the Beavers went on an 8-0 run, with Reid's jumper putting Oregon State up 51-44 with 2:27 left. The Cougars (10-12, 4-6) trimmed the lead to four points, but Reid's driving lay-in with 47 seconds left made the score 53-47 and helped seal the win.

Josh Hawkinson had 16 points, 10 rebounds and three steals and Ike Iroegbu scored 11 for the Cougars.

Washington State outrebounded Or-egon State 43-34, but had 12 turnovers, compared to the Beavers five. Both teams shot poorly, with the Cougars hitting 37.3 percent and the Beavers shooting 38.9 percent.

WSU opened up with an 8-0 lead as Oregon State missed its first four shots and committed two turnovers in the opening three minutes of the game.

The Beavers clawed back with an 11-2 run capped by Reid's lay-in to tie it at 23-all with 4:44 left in the half.

The game turned into a back-andforth contest, and the Cougars led 32-30 at halftime.

a deep 3-pointer at the buzzer to lift California to a win over Southern California on Thursday night.

The Golden Bears (14-9, 4-6 Pac-12) led most of the game but trailed 66-65 with 1:04 left before rallying to win their third straight.

David Kravish scored on a short hook shot to give Cal the lead. After Katin Reinhardt's 19-foot jumper put the Trojans up 68-67, Wallace missed the front end of a one-and-one with 9.7 seconds remaining.

The Bears' leading scorer got redemption moments later after Jordan McLaughlin made one free throw for USC with 4.9 seconds left.

Cal got ball to Wallace, who rushed toward the 3-point line before pulling up and making the game-winner. That set off a frenzy near midcourt as fans and students poured out of the stands and rushed the court.

UCLA 69, STANFORD 67 — At Stanford, Calif., Norman Powell had 20 points and eight rebounds, Isaac Hamilton scored 18 points and UCLA survived to beat Stanford on Thursday night for its third straight win.

Bryce Alford added 18 points to help the Bruins build a 22-point lead early in the second half before holding off a furious Cardinal comeback. Chasson Randle's running 3-pointer missed as time expired.

UCLA (14-9, 6-4 Pac-12) has won six of eight following a five-game losing streak.

Anthony Brown had 19 points and nine rebounds, and Randle scored 13 for Stanford (15-7, 6-4), which dropped consecutive games for the first time since last March. Stanford had won its previous eight games following a loss.

crouched and lunged forward in aggressive shots. Their shoulders met like a pair of linebackers in a hitting drill, and Coleman was able to knock Platt off balance before scrambling behind for the final takedown.

"I've wrestled him before, so we both know what we're going to do," said Coleman, who like Platt was an all-league linebacker in football. "Whichever one would have won, we'll definitely meet again."

Coleman spent nearly all of the second period trying to escape Platt's control, and neither wrestler seemed to have much energy left when their last-ditch shots in the third pe-Hendon took a 2-0 lead Pendleton's Brendon on Bedolla just one second into their 138-pound bout with a heel grab that he would utilize several times before finally pinning Bedolla late in the first round.

Mac-Hi takes third and final league dual

East Oregonian

LA GRANDE — Mac-Hi wrapped up a perfect Greater Oregon League dual season with a 51-29 victory over La Grande Thursday night.

With their third dual victory in as many tries, the Pioneers earned the league crown.

"It feels great to become champions, the boys have put in the work and they deserve it," Mac-Hi coach Beau Chester said in an email. In a night riddled with forfeits, Mac-Hi won 4 of 5 weights that actually went to the mat. Riley Chester (120), Gabe McAlester (138), Josh Torres (195) and Gregory Morenoa (285) all took victories Thursday. McAlester, Torres and Moreno all won by pin.

Chester won his via a 9-3 decision over the Tigers Cory Isaacson.

Reigning state champion Cole Rohan of La Grande was the lone victorious Tiger. He defeated Mac-Hi's Deazon Zerba by technical fall in the 106-pound match.

Mac-Hi will complete its individual tournament season at Heppner Saturday. The Pioneers will host the District 4 regionals on Feb. 14.

man look, and didn't allow more than 11 points in any quarter the rest of the way. Just 12 points were scored by either side in the entire second quarter.

Umatilla fought its way back into it in the third quarter. Hawkins and Hannah Bates each got buckets to stretch Vale's lead to 26-15, but Watson and Courtney Dohman responded with buckets of their own to cut the lead to seven at 26-19. Vale, though, would stretch the lead to 12 at 32-30 on free throws by Kiara Cooper and a three from Kylee DeLong. It would be the last basket for DeLong, who left the game early in the fourth quarter due to a left knee injury and had to be helped off the court. She left the gym after the game in a wheelchair.

Vale led by as many as 15 in the fourth. Then Umatilla started to chip away. Iri Campos and Kassandra Galbraith had back-to-back hoops off of Vale turnovers, Watson got one to go two possessions later, and Vale called timeout with 4:45 on the clock with Vale up 35-26.

A few moments later the frantic comeback bid began.

Watson was fouled and hit both, shrinking the lead to 10 at 41-31. Vale coughed it up, giving Galbraith a free look at the basket and was fouled. She made both, cutting the lead to eight. Vale called timeout, turned it over again, and Galbraith this time laid it in to cut the lead to six with 19.9 seconds left.

'That's the competition we're going to see at state over and over," Bow said. "As long as we feel we're competitive in every game over there, we feel confident in ourselves.

Umatilla gets Vale for the third and final time on Feb. 14 in Vale, and its next game Saturday at Nyssa at 6 p.m.

3-pointer stretched the lead to 86-75 with 6:03 left.

Portland went 6-9 in January after ascending to the top spot in the Western Conference standings earlier this season. Before a 103-102 victory Tuesday night over the Jazz, the Blazers had lost five of six

The Suns were one of the teams that beat the Blazers last month, 118-113 in Phoenix on Jan. 21.

But the Suns are struggling on the road, with six straight losses, and they home to Memphis on Monday.

The Blazers jumped out to a 25-13 lead on Wesley Matthews' 3-pointer. Portland got a spark off the bench from C.J. McCollum, who had 12 points.

The Suns struggled with turnovers, committing eight in the first quarter alone, and trailed 46-35 at halftime. The first-half point total was a season low for Phoenix.

The Suns closed the gap to 52-46, but there was a scary moment when Alex Len crashed into the base of the basket and appeared to injure his right were coming off a 102-101 loss at ankle. He was able to walk it off.

Morris' 3-pointer and a free throw from Miles Plumlee pulled the Suns to 54-53 midway through the third quarter.

The Suns briefly took a 63-62 lead after Eric Bledsoe's layup with 1:20 left in the third quarter, but Batum answered with a 3 on the other end.

Matthews will compete in the 3-point contest at the All-Star Game. He went into Thursday with an NBA-leading 151 3s this season.

The Trail Blazers visit Dallas on Saturday.

Eric Garcia didn't match Saturday's 33 point offering, but still had 19 including eight points in the third quarter.

Umatilla trailed by two at halftime, but came out hot in the third when Garcia and Tristan Sanguino each hit 3-pointers to put Umatilla up.

"It was just that third quarter for us that the hoop was a little bit bigger for us and shots decided to fall," Umatilla head coach Derrek Lete said.

Vale had a chance to take the lead late, but two missed layups doomed the visitors.

With the win, Umatilla ties Nyssa at 5-1 atop the EOL standings

Umatilla heads to Nyssa on Saturday to take on the coleague leading Bulldogs. Tip is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.
