Series of storms slamming western Oregon; big tree hits house

PORTLAND (AP) — Debrah Neiswander of Ashland said she had worried about a Ponderosa pine in her front yard for some time and had even recently had a dream about it falling.

About 3 a.m. Friday, she awoke. It was no dream this time. The giant tree had fallen on her house, and plaster was raining on her bed.

"The house shook a little bit," she told the Medford Mail Tribune. "It happened real quick. It came right through my bedroom." High winds and heavy rains caused power outages and flooded roadways in southern Oregon and other parts of the state as a series of storms started rolling ashore along the West Coast.

Neiswander spent Friday morning sawing branches out of the way so she could get to her front door, only to give up and use the rear door instead. Two vehicles and utility lines also were damaged.

The storm dropped up to two inches of rain on parts of southern Oregon overnight, and wind gusts were reported at 55 mph in Ashland.

Flooded roads were reported in several areas of southern Oregon on Friday morning. In Ashland, runoff clogged drains to the storm-water system, flooding streets.

In rural areas, roads in both low-lying and mountainous regions were reported flooded.

"We're chasing water everywhere," said John Vial of the Jackson County road department.

More storms this weekend are expected through the beginning of next week.

Some of the biggest problems Friday were in Josephine County, where high water closed lanes of Highway 199 at a low point east of Cave Junction, said spokesman Gary Leaming of the state Department of Transportation. There were other problems near the Greensprings area east of Ashland and near Applegate, he said.

"We're chasing them, and we expect to be doing that all weekend," Leaming said.

Delays coming to I-84

BOARDMAN — Drivers can expect delays up to 20 minutes during the mid-morning hours of Feb. 11-12 on Interstate 84 near Boardman.

Pilot cars will slow traffic down to about 30-35 mph after 9 a.m. to accommodate the movement of two oversized loads in both the eastbound and westbound lanes, according to the Oregon Department of Transportation.

Westbound traffic will be controlled between the Port of Morrow, exit 165, and Tower Road, exit 159, with freeway on-ramps at the city of Boardman and Boardman Rest Area closed until the slowdown has passed. Eastbound traffic will be controlled from Threemile Canyon, exit 151, back to Tower Road, with the on-ramp at exit 159 also delayed.

Dates and times of the slowdown could be subject to change, depending on weather. Information will be updated online at www.tripcheck.com.

BRIEFLY

Free workshops on contracting with public land agencies

PENDLETON — The Oregon Government Contract Assistance Program is hosting a series of free workshops across Eastern Oregon to educate private landowners about contracting with federal public land agencies.

Every year, public land agencies spend millions of dollars purchasing goods and services from the private sector. GCAP workshops will focus on who these agencies are, what they do and how they work with small businesses.

The first workshop is set for Monday, April 13 at 72510 Coyote Road in Pendleton. Additional sessions will be held April 14-17 in Baker City, Vale, Burns and John Day.

All workshops will run from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. For registration information, contact Sue LaCroix with GCAP at 541-786-7344.
