Pasco shooting victim had no gun, knife

Tri-City Herald

The Pasco man shot and killed by police on Tuesday was not carrying a gun or knife, according to investigators.

Police and prosecutors spoke Friday at a news media briefing.

They said at least 40 people have come forward to say they saw Antonio Zambrano-Montes, 35, shot in front of a Pasco cafe.

The orchard worker was chased down by three Pasco police officers and shot after reportedly hurling rocks at them.

Every witness will be interviewed and more may come forward, said Sgt. Ken Lattin with the Kennewick Police Department, who is acting as the spokesman for the Special Investigation Unit.

The unit will use detectives from other Tri-City agencies, other than Pasco.

The FBI has contacted the special investigation unit but is not involved in the investigation.

Franklin County Prosecutor Shawn Sant said Coroner Dan Blasdel has yet to decide if he will call a special coroner's inquest.

A panel of jurors would be used to help Blasdel make a recommendation to Sant on whether the shooting was justified.

The autopsy Friday morning showed Zambrano-Montes died of several gunshot wounds to his torso.

Investigators did not say how many shots were fired Tuesday night. That is still under investigation, said Lattin.

He said the officers' guns were sent to the Washington State Patrol Crime Lab to determine how many times they were fired.

Investigators also will be studying footage from a police dashcam and cellphone videos from witnesses.

"We will find out the truth," Lattin said.

The investigation could take several weeks, said Lattin.

He said more information is expected to be released next week as the investigation continues.

The three officers involved in Tuesday's shooting are on paid administrative leave.

Lattin said they are also investigating a threat to law enforcement officers made on social media.

He encouraged the community to think twice before posting something on social media that could incite violence.

City officials and those organizing the anti-police brutality protest scheduled for noon Saturday at Volunteer Park are preparing for large crowds.

Zambrano-Montes' family and police have urged people to keep the rally peaceful.

Portland worker pleads guilty for role in bombing

PORTLAND (AP) — A Portland city worker pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact to a suicide bombing that killed about 30 people in Pakistan and injured another 300.

Reaz Qadir Khan, 51, admitted before U.S. District Court Judge Michael Mosman on Friday that he arranged for Ali Jaleel to receive $2,450 before Jaleel participated in the May 2009 attack. He also admitted providing financial help and advice to Jaleel's wives after the bombing, with the knowledge it would help them avoid capture.

The judge set sentencing for June 8. Prosecutors and defense attorneys have jointly requested a sentence of seven years and three months in federal prison. The maximum possible sentence is 15 years.

Khan's attorney, Amy Baggio, did not immediately return a phone call or email seeking comment about the unexpected decision to plead guilty.

Jaleel was one of three people who carried out the attack at Pakistan's intelligence headquarters in Lahore. Jaleel, who died in the attack, took responsibility for the bombing in a video released by al-Qaida.

Khan was arrested in March 2013 and placed on unpaid leave from his city job as a wastewater treatment plant operator. The guilty verdict officially ends Khan's employment with Portland, said Dana Haynes, a spokesman for Mayor Charlie Hales.

Khan conspired with Jaleel starting in December 2005, according to the indictment. The following month, Jaleel sent Khan an email that prosecutors said "referred to past mutual promises he and Khan had made to seek martyrdom in the name of Allah."

Khan was born in Pakistan and has lived in the United States since 1988.
