

Mumford & Sons, Foo Fighters headline Walla Walla ‘stopover’

Tickets go on sale Friday for Aug. music festival

Walla Walla Union-Bulletin

A first-of-its-kind music festival will double the size of Walla Walla for one weekend this summer.

Grammy winning folk rock band Mumford & Sons will be joined by Washington rock royalty Foo Fighters, plus Flaming Lips and about 27 other national, regional and local bands to bring big-time music into small-town America.

The City of Walla Walla and Downtown Walla Walla Foundation on Monday morning detailed what’s to come for the Aug. 13-15 festival, the same weekend as the Umatilla County Fair.

The festival will start with smaller acts Thursday evening and is expected to infuse upward of $12 million in the economy, said City Manager Nabel Shawa.

“Hold onto your boots, downtown merchants,” Shawa said. “We’re looking forward to a nice little sales tax increase this summer.” The tour carries on Mumford & Sons’ intent to bring live music to communities off the beaten path.

“The Gentlemen of the Road Stopovers are all about live music,” the band said in a prepared statement. “We get to put them on in towns not normally frequented by touring bands in buses or splitter vans. We deliberately look for towns that have something unique, or some vibe of which they are proud, explore them and enjoy what they have to offer.”

ing bluegrass and folk instrumentation — banjo, mandolin, upright bass, for instance — are Seaside Heights, N.J.; Waverly, Iowa; and Salida, Colo. Mumford & Sons will tour to support its third studio album, “Wilder Mind,” to be released in May through Glassnote Records and produced by James Ford, who also produced Arctic Monkeys, HAIM and Florence & The Machine.

Not all of the communities, however, will get the added treat of Foo Fighters. Started in 1994, Grammy-winning Foo Fighters took root in Seattle as Dave Grohl’s new project following the death of Kurt Cobain and the subsequent dissolution of Nirvana. The tickets are $199 and cover the entire festival. They go on sale Friday at 10 a.m. Tickets will be available through Mumford & Sons website. A designated amount will also be available through the Walla Walla Visitors Center booth. Other performers include Jenny Lewis, Dawes, The Vaccines, Tune-Yards, James Vincent McMorrow, Blake Mills and Jeff The Brotherhood. More artists will be announced as the festival nears.

The Friday and Saturday headliners will take place at the Whitman College Athletic Field. That venue can accommodate 35,000 to 40,000 people.

Veterans Memorial Golf Course will be shut down for one week to accommodate camping for 26,000. The left turn onto Middle Waitsburg Road from U.S. Highway 12 will be closed, said Walla Walla Parks and Recreation Director Jim Dumont.

A second venue will be downtown Walla Walla, which will serve as stage for continuous band performances throughout the weekend.
