Oregon State University approves tuition increase

CORVALLIS (AP) — The Oregon State University Board of Trustees approved a 7.6 percent increase in tuition for in-state residents.

Undergraduate tuition for an in-state student taking 15 credit hours will be $8.535 a year in 2015-16 under the plan approved by the board Thursday. Nonresident students will pay $27,195, a 5.7 percent jump.

The Oregon Higher Education Coordinating Commission must approve the increases because they are greater than 5

The Corvallis Gazette-Times reported that the new flat rate structure also completes the phase-out of the university's tuition plateau, which previously gave a price break to undergraduates taking 13-15 credit hours,

Board members said the action was overdue, considering every other public university in the state has a flat-rate structure.

We really have no choice but to make the transition. The question is how well we do going forward in delivering our mission," Mike Thorne said. "For me it's obviously the right thing to do, as painful as it is.'

Graduate tuition will go up next year by 2 percent for residents and 5 percent for nonresidents.

Student incidental fees will rise by $33.54 per academic quarter on the Corvallis campus and $35 a quarter on the Cascades campus in

Kitzhaber acknowledges wavering in decision to resign

PORTLAND (AP) — Former Gov. John Kitzhaber is acknowledging for the first time that he wavered from his initial decision last month to resign.

In a statement to The Oregonian published Friday, Kitzhaber says he ultimately decided to quit on Feb. 12 when it became clear that controversy surrounding his fiancee's consulting business was distracting from his policy agenda. He announced his decision the next day and handed power to then-Secretary of State Kate Brown on Feb. 18.

After he first told advisers he planned to resign, Kitzhaber says he "naturally wavered" from the decision because of a sense of commitment to his supporters and policies he championed.

Kitzhaber resigned amid federal and state probes into allegations that his fiancee, Cylvia Hayes, used his office to land contracts for her consulting business.

Target practice substance suspected in blast death

PORTLAND (AP) — A blast that killed one person near U.S. Highway 26 between Portland and Mount Hood is believed to have been caused by a mixture that is used to make exploding targets for firearms practice, authorities said Friday.

Authorities are not yet saying whether the Thursday blast is believed to be a suicide or an accident. They have already said they don't suspect a criminal act.

On Friday, officials said evidence from the blast site indicates the substance that detonated is a mixture target shooters use to make targets explode, so they can see whether they hit them.

Laura Pramuk, spokeswoman for the Mount Hood National Forest, said the blast occurred in a ditch about 25 feet from the road. The person who died has not yet been identified.

The explosion shut down part of busy U.S. Highway 26 for most of the day on Thursday as officers used a robot to inspect a white car parked near the blast site and the surrounding area. The robot and an officer wearing bombdisposal gear pulled items out of the vehicle and examined them. A backpack was among the items removed from the vehicle.

Brian Bennett, a Seattle-based spokesman for the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives, told The Oregonian the blast left a large crater near the road.

Authorities have not yet said what led up to the blast, or what the deceased was doing with the mixture for exploding targets.

Teenager pleads guilty to rape near Autzen Stadium

EUGENE (AP) — The young offender accused of raping a woman during a supervised group outing to an Oregon football game has admitted his guilt.

The Register-Guard reports that 17-yearold Jamie Tinoco of Portland pleaded guilty Friday to rape, sexual abuse, assault and kidnapping. Prosecutors will ask that he serve more than 14 years in prison at Monday's sentencing in Eugene.

Tinoco's attorney is expected to seek a sentence of less than nine years.

Tinoco was arrested last September and tried as an adult after a woman reported that a stranger attacked her near Autzen Stadium. The teenager was there to watch the Oregon-Wyoming football game with 11 other youths who were being supervised by counselors from the Washington County Juvenile Department.

Bend City Council narrowly approves Mirror Pond plan

PORTLAND (AP) — The Bend City Council approved a resolution to explore the feasibility of a plan to replace the centuryold Mirror Pond dam and redevelop the downtown riverfront.

The Bulletin newspaper says the council approved the resolution 4-3 late Wednesday despite objections from those who attended the meeting.

The dam impounds the Deschutes River downtown to create a lake popular for recreational use.

Besides removing the dam, the proposal calls for the addition of a natural-looking structure that will maintain the current water level while providing fish passage and a path for kayakers and floaters. A portion of the property near the dam would become a public plaza, while the historic brick powerhouse would be preserved.

Corrections

A story in Thursday's edition contained two inaccuracies: Pamela Harmon is 52, not 50, and she suffered broken blood vessels in her hand, not her face. The East Oregonian works hard to be accurate and sincerely regrets any errors. If you notice a mistake in the paper, please call 541-966-0818.
