

Downtown Hermiston bazaars offer holiday shopping

By TAMMY MALGESINI
East Oregonian

Unique gift items are available during the final weekend of the Downtown Hermiston Christmas Bazaars.

The event, which has ran the past two weekends, was created when a couple of women got together and brainstormed.

Two seasons after the now-defunct Eastern Oregon Festival of Lights — which included a holiday bazaar in Thompson Hall — GeorgeAnne Smith was hoping a collaborative bazaar setting would again be available in Hermiston. In 2014, one was housed at the Hermiston Senior Center.

When things fell through with talk of having one in the former RoeMark’s building, Smith and downtown business owner Sharon Harvey started talking. The result is a two-location bazaar on Hermiston’s Main Street.

“They have come about purely through the hard work of a couple of gals,” Smith said. “And faith that we can make a difference, one caring resident at a time.”

Bazaar locations and times are:

- Country Gourmet & BBQ, 235 E. Main St., Friday and Saturday from noon to 8 p.m.
- Grace & Mercy Lutheran Church, 164 E. Main St., Friday from 5-9 p.m. and Saturday from 3-9 p.m.

Harvey and Jan Beitel, a Umatilla artist, said the event helps bring people to Hermiston’s Main Street.

“We kind of create a little movement around downtown for customers of the downtown district,”

Jan Beitel of Umatilla stands among a display of her artwork as part of the Downtown Hermiston Christmas Bazaars. Friday and Saturday are the last days of the event, which are at two locations on Hermiston’s Main Street.

Harvey said. “We just want to help people re-discover Hermiston’s downtown.”

Harvey and Smith encourage people to enter the Holiday Travel Pass contest. Get a pass and have it stamped at both locations and then enter it in for a chance to win a Christmas basket full of goodies, many donated from the artisans and vendors. The drawing will be held after the event ends Saturday.

Also, to help boost the holiday mood, carolers from the church will share the Christmas spirit through song. Anyone who would like to join them can sing along, Smith said.

Between the two locations, vendors include a mixture of handcrafted jewelry, scarves, woven baskets, quilts, glass creations, decorative wreaths, crocheted goods, woodworking creations, fine art and bird feeders.

In addition, Smith said people can find some of the “finest baked goods in town.”

“If people haven’t done all their Christmas shopping, they should come down and check it out,” Harvey said. “We will have Christmas cookies, too.”
