SCHOLARSHIPS

Umatilla teacher receives Colonial Williamsburg scholarship

UMATILLA — A Umatilla high school teacher has received a scholarship to bring Colonial Williamsburg to his students.
 Chris Early, English Language Learners (ELL) and social studies teacher at Umatilla High School, was awarded a scholarship to attend the Colonial Williamsburg Teacher Institute, a six-day interdisciplinary course where teachers exchange ideas with historians, meet character interpreters and examine interactive teaching techniques.
 Early was inspired to apply for the program because of his passion for American government.
 "I have long been fascinated how our Constitution has led to expanding opportunities for more and more of our citizens over time,"

Early said. "I am excited to be learning more about the time and place from which many of the ideas in our Constitution came."
 The high school sessions for the Teacher Institute study civics through the lens of American history. Teachers will made connections to past and present-day issues during visits to Jamestown, Williamsburg and Richmond, Va.
 "This is an exciting opportunity for one of our high school teachers to gain teaching strategies and interactive methods to make history more exciting for students in the Umatilla School District," Heidi Sipe, Umatilla School District superintendent, said. "We are pleased that Chris was chosen and look forward to him sharing what he learns."
