PEANUTS YOU STUPID KIP!YOU WOULDN'T SAY THAT IF MY BIG BROTHER WAS HERE!

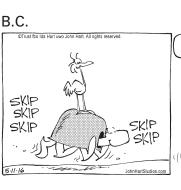

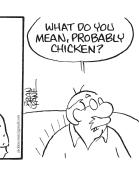

PICKLES

BY MORT WALKER

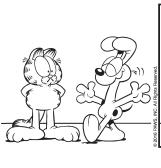

SKIP

BEETLE BAILEY

GARFIELD DON'T TELL ODIE, BUT SOMETIMES I ENJOY BEING AROUND THE LITTLE FELLA

DILBERT

DEAR ABBY

Woman's lack of experience makes her reluctant to commit

Dear Abby: I have been in a relationship with my high school sweetheart for six years. He is only the second person I have been intimate with. I love him and am pretty sure that we will end up marrying. Neither of us has ever cheated.

The problem is that I'm having doubts about my lack of experience with other men. I'm not saying I want to sleep around with random men, but I would like to experience intimacy with someone else so I won't wonder

"what if" when I am older and married. Am I wrong for this? — Confused In Southern California

Dear Confused: I don't think you are "wrong," but your question does make me wonder whether you are ready to settle down. If your sex life were as fulfilling as you would like it to be, you wouldn't be asking if you are wrong for wanting more. Level with your boyfriend about your feelings to see if you can work this out. However, if the answer is no, then both of you may want to move on.

Dear Abby: We are friends with a couple who married five months ago. My husband, "Ian," was one of the groomsmen, so we were deeply involved with wedding details a long time prior to the wedding. Ian and the groom, "Claude," are now on the same team

Since the wedding, Claude spends a lot of time talking about his wife to anyone within earshot and on social media to the point of excess. (The bride is "perfect, beautiful, lovely" and he's "so lucky to be married to her," etc.) Everyone on the team works overtime every night because Claude posts love notes to his wife all day. The team supervisor talked to my husband about it, and asked him to cover Claude's workload because of his pre-wedding and now post-wedding bliss.

JEANNE PHILLIPS Advice

Wednesday, May 11, 2016

I have filtered the guy's posts and stopped reading, but Ian feels stuck in the middle at the office. He needs Claude to get his head back in the game and work. How can my husband gently communicate that this is affecting Claude's job performance and driving everyone batty? Ian is afraid that if he complains to the supervisor, his friend will feel betrayed. — Overloaded In Alabama

Dear Overloaded: The matter should be brought to the attention of their supervisor so the supervisor can handle it before it becomes a morale problem. What's going on is unprofessional and unfair to the other team members. The supervisor should tell Ian's besotted friend that the time he's spending messaging his bride has increased the workload on everyone else, the honeymoon is over, and he needs to get his mind back on the tasks at hand.

DAYS GONE BY

100 Years Ago From the East Oregonian May 11, 1916

While he makes no pretenses at being Barney Oldfield, Representative Roy W. Ritner is willing to admit that nothing so chafes his spirit as a slow train and that nothing so exults him as to be at the wheel of a car that can eat up the miles on a good dirt road. Yesterday he performed a feat that isn't exactly a good advertisement for steam travel in these parts. He left Spokane yesterday morning on the Spokane-Pendleton train. He got off at Garfield, spent 25 minutes there after the train had departed, jumped into his Cadillac eight and started for Pendleton. He was held up a half hour at the ferry and stopped five minutes in Walla Walla and yet he beat the train, which he had left at Garfield, into Pendleton by five minutes.

50 Years Ago From the East Oregonian May 11, 1966

Four young Pendleton men Monday proved claims that they were denied their constitutional rights in a trial in Hermiston District Justice of the Peace Court. Circuit Judge William W. Wells set aside the convictions after a five-hour hearing and remanded the case to Justice of the Peace Don Hurrie.

Freed from the county jail where they had been imprisoned since April 25 serving six-month sentences for vagrancy were Leonard Smith Jr., 20; Larry Rookstool, 20; Charles Weston, 19; and Leslie Johnson, 20. They charged their trial was "void and a sham" and that within 30 minutes they were arraigned, convicted, sentenced to six months in jail and fined $100 each — but were never arrested. "Justice is speedy," attorney Larry Rew said, "but not that speedy."

25 Years Ago From the East Oregonian May 11, 1991

Pendleton police learned Thursday that a man was arrested more than two months ago for a January robbery at Pendleton's Far West Federal Bank. Gerald T. Schram, 35, was indicted April 9 for robberies in Pendleton, Bend and Tigard. He was arrested by a Reno, Nev., police officer after being pulled over for a traffic violation on Feb. 23, said Ed Taber, Pendleton Police chief. Taber said the FBI was late in informing his office of the arrest because of a recent transition of Pendleton agents. Schram was traveling with his wife, Innette Marcoccia, when they were stopped by an officer who identified their vehicle as one involved with the robbery at Bend, said Gary Sussman, assistant U.S. attorney in Portland.

Today is the 132nd day of 2016. There are 234 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On May 11, 1946, the first CARE packages, sent by a consortium of American charities to provide relief to the hungry of postwar Europe, arrived at Le Havre, France.

On this date:

In 1647, Peter Stuyvesant arrived in New Amsterdam to become governor of New Netherland.

In 1816, the American Bible Society was founded in New York.

In 1858, Minnesota became the 32nd state of the Union.

In 1927, the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences was founded during a banquet at the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles.

In 1935, the Rural Electrification Administration was created as one of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal programs.

In 1945, the aircraft carrier USS Bunker Hill was attacked and severely damaged by two kamikaze aircraft off Okinawa; according to the U.S. Navy's website, 346 men were killed, 43 were left missing, and 264 were wounded.

In 1953, a tornado devastated Waco, Texas, claiming 114 lives.

In 1960, Israeli agents captured Nazi war criminal Adolf Eichmann in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

In 1973, the espionage trial of Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo in the "Pentagon Papers" case came to an end as Judge William M. Byrne dismissed all charges, citing government misconduct.

In 1981, legendary reggae artist Bob Marley died in a Miami hospital at age 36.

In 1985, 56 people died when a flash fire swept a jam-packed soccer stadium in Bradford, England.

In 1996, an Atlanta-bound ValuJet DC-9 caught fire shortly after takeoff from Miami and crashed into the Florida Everglades, killing all 110 people on board.

Today's Birthdays: Comedian Mort Sahl is 89. Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakhan is 83. Jazz keyboardist Carla Bley is 80. Rock singer Eric Burdon (The Animals; War) is 75. Actress Shohreh Aghdashloo is 64. Actress Frances Fisher is 64. Actor Boyd Gaines is 63. Country musician Mark Herndon (Alabama) is 61. Actress Martha Quinn is 57. singer-musician Country Tim Raybon (The Raybon Brothers) is 53. Actor Tim Blake Nelson is 52. Actor Jeffrey Donovan is 48. Country musician Keith West (Heartland) is 48. Actor Nicky Katt is 46. Actor Coby Bell is 41. Cellist Perttu Kivilaakso is 38. Actor-singer Jonathan Jackson is 34. Rapper Ace Hood is 28. Musician Howard Lawrence (Disclosure) is 22. Thought for Today: "Life is 10 percent what you make it, and 90 percent how you take it." — Irving Berlin, American songwriter (born this date in 1888, died 1989).

BIG NATE

