PIONEERS: Wealth of big-game experience is key

But as important as familiarity is, big-game experience tops that and the Pioneers have plenty of it. Mac-Hi returns 11 players who contributed to the state championship last season and numerous who were a part of the first title in 2014, such as juniors Mallory Copeland, Sydney Richwine and Micha Fortune as well as seniors Shannon Carter, Jenny Field, Abi Biggs and Brittany Erb.

"It's good for us coaches too," Christian said,

"because I remember my first year not knowing what to do and now being my fourth time I'm focused on keeping the girls relaxed, which is when they are at their best."

And for a team that many thought wouldn't be state title contenders before the season, the Pioneers came back perhaps just as dominant in 2016.

"I think speed has a lot to do with it," said senior Shannon Carter. "We have a lot of speed on defense and in our lineup, we don't have anyone that is really slow at all and to have that speed with all of our power on top of it makes us great.

"We can hit, we can bunt, we can run ... we're just really versatile this year."

"It shows our heart for the game and our love for each other," Copeland added about the teams' dominance. "Just because we lost some good players we just kept going and it didn't affect us and we just have so much confidence in each other."

And as Carter and the three other Pioneer seniors think about the final game of their careers, they can't help but smile at the possibility of the legacy they could leave behind, three-peating as state champions.

"It would be the best thing ever," Carter said. "Just being with these girls through it all and ending it with a win like that, there wouldn't be anything better."
