Lankford promoted to UEC engineering manager

HERMISTON — Joshua Lankford, a Heppner High School graduate and registered professional engineer, has been promoted to engineering manager at Umatilla Electric Cooperative.

Lankford

Lankford succeeds Robert Echenrode, who took over as general manager and CEO for the co-op earlier this year.

Lankford joined UEC in 2009 as a distribution engineer, and will now lead a team of 10 employees in charge of servicing their 2,300-mile distribution and transmission system. UEC continues to expand and upgrade its infrastructure to accommodate a 70 percent growth in sales over the last five years. Planning is also underway for a new substation in east Hermiston. Lankford has a master's degree in engineering from Gonzaga University, and in May he completed the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association's Management Internship Program at the University of Wisconsin. He lives near Lexington with his wife, Kaley.

UEC serves 10,000 members in northeast Oregon, including Umatilla, Morrow and Union counties.

Meeting to discuss Initiative Petition 28

HERMISTON — A presentation about Initiative Petition 28 is planned in Hermiston.

Alison Hart, executive director of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, will discuss the proposed tax that is likely heading to voters in November. The initiative proposes a $5 billion tax on sales — the largest in the history of the state — that could increase everyday consumer items like food, gas, medicine, cable TV and even electricity, Hart said.

Although IP28 is a flawed, costly and damaging proposal for Oregon, Hart said, defeating it won't be easy unless people come together. To learn more about IP28, people are invited to attend the presentation Wednesday at 3 p.m. at the Hermiston Conference Center, 415 S. Highway 395.

For more information or to RSVP for the event, call 541-567-6151.

6:08 p.m. - A resident of West Ferndale Road and Highway 11, Milton-Freewater, told the Umatilla County Sheriff's Office he saw a man trespass on a neighbor's property, looking around the house and shop before walking away south on Highway 11. Another trespasser, on Follett Lane in Hermiston, walked around the caller's parents' property, approaching the back door and looking in the mailbox. The caller told UCISO that the woman was "on drugs or something" and wanted to press charges.

Oregon State Police and Milton-Freewater fire and ambulance crews responded to the accident, and the injured man was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Walla Walla, where he was found to have broken ribs and other injuries, none of which were life-threatening. When interviewed, the man said he could not remember why he was trying to cross the five-lane highway or anything related to the collision. Milton-Freewater police had contacted him earlier in the evening and reported he seemed to be intoxicated.
