ARRESTS, CITATIONS

*A Pendleton man claimed he was taking a drink of chocolate milk in his white Ford pickup and the next moment he crashed. Oregon State Police cited Alan Lee Raph, 35, for careless driving.

Raph was driving east on Southeast Court Avenue, around 7:35 a.m., according to a report from state police, and planned to turn north for Highway 11. He drove past the old St. Anthony Hospital site, drank chocolate milk, put the cap back on but remembered "nothing until he was getting out of the truck after the crash."

He missed the Highway 11 turnoff and drove between a utility pole and a fire hydrant, according to state police, scraping the pole on the driver's side. The front of the pickup then hit a utility pole head on.

The crash broke the pole at its base, toppling it and snapping electrical wires that struck the road and caused minor damage to another pickup.

A Pendleton ambulance crew check Raph at the scene for injuries, and his wife took him to St. Anthony Hospital, Pendleton.

Raph turned 35 the day of the crash, according to his Facebook page, where he also posted he did not know what happened and has never blacked out before.

*Morrow County Sheriff's Office cited Heidi Jo Hanna Abercrombie, 45, of Irirgon, for having a potentially dangerous dog.

*Hermiston police arrested Cuauhtemoc Valenzuela, 23, of 230 E. Dogwood Ave., Hermiston, for second-degree assault and unlawful use of a weapon against another.

Art exhibit showcases Oregon agriculture

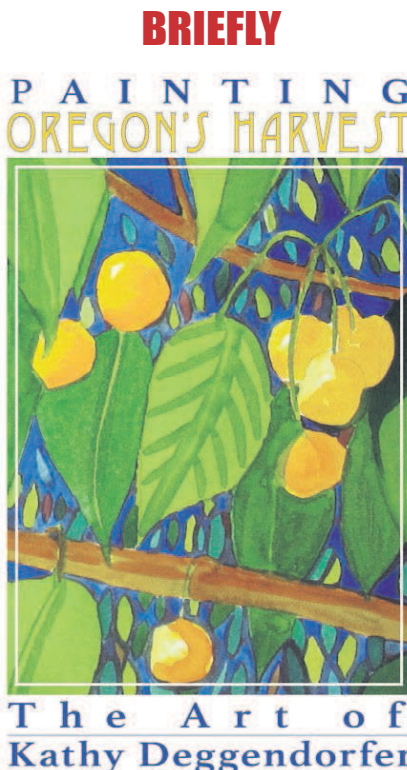

BOARDMAN — An art exhibit capturing the vibrancy of Oregon agriculture is now on display at the SAGE Center.

"Painting Oregon's Harvest," by Kathy Deggendorfer, will run through mid-September in the museum's gallery. Deggendorfer, who lives on a cattle and hay ranch outside Sisters, is known for her bright and whimsical watercolors. The exhibit was inspired by Deggendorfer's travels to farms, ranches and fisheries across the state.

"I wanted to help commercial businesses grow their customer bases by telling their stories through my art," Deggendorfer said in a blog post in 2014. "Many of these farms are Century Farms, run by folks who love their land as extensions of their family and whose work is wrapped up in their family heritage."

SAGE Center Manager Kalie Davis said the museum is also working to install two new exhibits highlighting the work of ConAgra Foods and the Umatilla Electric Cooperative. The ConAgra exhibit should be ready by the end of July, and the UEC exhibit will be installed in October.

The SAGE Center is located at 101 Olson Road in Boardman. For more information, call 541-481-7243.
