

BIG NATE

BY LINCOLN PEIRCE

I'M TELLING YOU, IT'S A T. REX!

NO, IT'S A RACE CAR. SEE THE WHEELS?

TEDDY, IT'S CLEARLY A T. REX!

YOU'RE CRAZY. FRANCIS WILL SETTLE THIS.

SETTLE WHAT?

LOOK RIGHT UP THERE, AND TELL US WHAT YOU SEE.

WELL, IT'S OBVIOUSLY A CUMULUS CLOUD, AND MOST LIKELY A CUMULONIMB—

WHOA! WHOA!

WE DON'T NEED THE SCIENTIFIC TERMINOLOGY, DIPWAD! JUST TELL US WHAT YOU THINK THE CLOUD LOOKS LIKE!

RAIN.

WHAT A DRIP.

I like the costume, but are you sure it doesn't limit your vision?

PHOEBE AND HER UNICORN

BY DANA SIMPSON

Your book is just one book.

Our e-reader thingies have LOTS of books.

I still like how books smell, and I like turning pages.

"Books" indeed. You humans and your newfangled devices.

Your modern contraptions will never replace the crinkling sound and musty smell of unrolling an ancient scroll.

Of course, the selection is limited...I am still waiting for The Corrections to come out on ancient scroll.

Less talk, more read.
