Crow's Shadow announces artist reception

East Oregonian

The public is invited to a pair of upcoming events at Crow's Shadow Institute of the Arts.

Samantha Wall, a Portland-based artist, is one of three of Crow's Shadow's annual Golden Spot Residency Award winners. She will present an artist talk Thursday, July 21 from 5-7 p.m. In addition, an exhibition of works by Charlene Liu, curated by Michelle Grabner, will open with an artist's reception Saturday, July 23 from 5-7 p.m. Crow's Shadow is located at 48004 St. Andrew's Road, Mission. Both events are free.

This is Wall's first time working at the institute. During her time in the studios, she will develop a set of proofs for limited-edition prints, which will be hand-pulled by Frank Janzen, Crow's Shadow's Tamarind-trained master printer. The final prints will enter the institute's permanent collection and be available for sale.

Wall graduated in 2011 with a Master of Fine Arts degree in visual studies from the Pacific Northwest College of Art. Originally from Seoul, South Korea, Wall's images explore identity through the push and pull of cultural diaspora and human interconnectedness.

Liu's exhibit is held in conjunction with the Portland 2016 Biennial of Contemporary Art presented by Disjecta Contemporary Art Center. Her work combines digital and analog processes.

Born in Taiwan and raised in the American Midwest, Liu's work is created from personal histories, combining decorative patterns from childhood recollections of her parent's Chinese restaurant with pop-culture color palettes. The results are graphic and vivid.

A professor of printmaking at the University of Oregon, Liu has a Master of Fine Arts from Columbia University and a bachelor's degree from Brandeis.

Liu's work will be on display at Crow's Shadow through Sept. 16. In addition, she has a window installation at the Rivoli Theater in downtown Pendleton.

Crow's Shadow Institute of the Arts is a nonprofit organization formed in 1992 by local artists James Lavadour and Phillip Cash. Its mission is to provide a creative conduit for educational, social and economic opportunities for American Indians through artistic development.
