Fire prevention measures active in northeast Oregon

East Oregonian

Summer is heating up across northeast Oregon, and the Oregon Department of Forestry is implementing additional measures to prevent human-caused wildfires in the district. Restrictions on things like campfires, slash piles, smoking and chainsaws go into effect Friday. The rules are enforced on all ODF-protected land, including forestland within an eighth-mile of the district boundary. Last year, an abandoned campfire ignited the Phillips Creek Fire near Elgin, which burned 2,601 acres and cost more than $6 million to suppress. "It is these types of fires that the department is trying to limit with a variety of specific fire prevention measures," said John Buckman, ODF Northeast Oregon District Forester. These measures include:

 • No open fires, including campfires, charcoal fires, cooking fires and warming fires, except at designated locations. Portable cooking stoves using bottled fuels are allowed.
 • Debris burning is prohibited, except in burn barrels with a valid burning permit.
 • Smoking is prohibited while traveling, except in vehicles on improved roads, in boats on the water or areas cleared of flammable vegetation.
 • Non-industrial chainsaw use is prohibited from 1-8 p.m. Chainsaws are permitted at all other hours, with one ax, shovel and 8-ounce fire extinguisher required per saw. In addition, a fire watch is required for at least one hour after the use of each saw.

 • Cutting and welding of metal is prohibited from 1-8 p.m.
 • Mowing of dried grass with power mowers is also prohibited from 1-8 p.m., except for harvesting agricultural crops.
 • Use of fireworks, sky lanterns, exploding targets and tracer ammunition are all prohibited.
 The Northeast Oregon District covers approximately 2 million acres across Umatilla, Union, Baker and Wallowa counties, as well as small portions of Morrow, Grant and Malheur counties. To report a fire, call the Blue Mountain Interagency Dispatch Center at 541-963-7171 or dial 9-1-1.

Murdock appointed for national committee

PENDLETON — Umatilla County Commissioner George Murdock is the newly appointed vice-chair of the National Association of Counties' Sub-Committee on Education, Children and Families. Murdock, chair of the Umatilla County Board of Commissioners and budget officer for the county, says the group fits with his personal passion for early childhood education and health.

"We spend 55 percent of our (Umatilla County) general fund budget on patrol, parole, adjudication and incarceration," he said. "That's well over $10 million and probably closer to $15 million with help from the State of Oregon. We know that this can't just go over forever — we need to find ways to solve problems before they happen so we can start to reduce costs."

He advocates a focus on prevention by creating programs that work with juveniles and reduce crime by focusing on alcohol and drug rehabilitation. "We've simply got to eliminate the cycle that exists with individuals and with families," Murdock said. The long-time educator is also a member of the NACO Policy Steering Committee on Human Services and Education. He co-chairs the Health and Human Services Committee for the Association of Oregon Counties, which oversees early childhood education and health matters. NACO president Bryan DesLoges, of Florida, appointed Murdock to the sub-committee.

Highway project restricts parking in Heppner

HEPPNER — People headed to downtown Heppner early next week are reminded of parking restrictions due to an Oregon Department of Transportation project. Drivers won't be able to park on Heppner's Main Street Monday through Wednesday. The construction is part of the Highway 206 (Wasco-Heppner) pavement chip seal between the Gilliam County line and Heppner. Downtown Heppner will receive fog seal coating over chip seal.

The entire project is expected to be complete by early August. Drivers should anticipate lane closures, reduced speeds, day/nighttime flaggers and pilot cars. For more information, visit www.oregon.gov/ODOT/. In addition, the Heppner Chamber of Commerce may be able to provide updates at 541-676-5536 or heppnerchamber@centurytel.net.

Riverside sets registration, sports physicals

New students can register Aug. 15 or 16 from 8-11 a.m. and from 1-3 p.m. Students also have the opportunity to sign up for sports, update contact information and update immunization information. If a student has already pre-registered he or she is not required to register again. Previously, Columbia River Community Health Services has offered free sports physicals for Morrow County student athletes during the summer. These will no longer be offered. Instead, CRCHS will include a sports physical as a part of an annual wellness exam at no extra cost. CRCHS will bill insurance for the exam, but not charge for the sports physical portion of the exam. Regardless of insurance status, families can also apply to pay on a sliding fee program.
