

Seattle trades Miley

By JAY COHEN
Associated Press

CHICAGO — Baltimore is hoping Wade Miley can turn his solid July into a big finish with the AL East leaders. The Orioles acquired Miley in a trade with the Seattle Mariners on Sunday, giving manager Buck Showalter an experienced lefty for his rotation as the team tries to hold off Toronto and Boston for the division title.

Miley

“Wade Miley is a workhorse veteran left-handed starter who likes to pitch and compete,” said Dan Duquette, the executive vice president of baseball operations for the Orioles. “We think he will contribute to this year’s club with some quality innings.” Miley is 7-8 with a 4.98 ERA, but he had a 3.45 ERA in five July starts. He pitched seven innings of one-hit ball in Seattle’s 4-1 victory against the major league-leading Chicago Cubs on Saturday. “He was probably as good as he has been all year,” Seattle manager Scott Servais said after Saturday’s win at Wrigley Field. “He kind of brought a different attitude, mentality, whatever you want to say to the mound today. He was very aggressive from the get-go.” Miley was shagging fly balls before Sunday’s 7-6 loss at Chicago when he left the field while Seattle continued taking batting practice. Servais soon followed him into the dugout.

Seattle received left-hander Ariel Miranda in the trade. The Cuban pitcher has spent most of the year with Triple-A Norfolk. He appeared in one game for Baltimore on July 3 at Seattle, allowing three runs and four hits in two innings.

“Ariel Miranda is a power left-handed pitcher with a four-pitch mix that is major league ready that provides us with flexibility,” general manager Jerry Dipoto said in an email. “We are very excited for what he can bring to the Mariners.”

The 29-year-old Miley was selected by Arizona with the 43rd pick in the 2008 amateur draft and made his major league debut with the Diamondbacks in 2011. He is 56-54 with a 4.07 ERA in six seasons.

held Seattle to a run and three hits over 6 1/3 innings. Rodriguez held the Mariners to three baserunners in the first six innings, and only one of his first 19 outs even left the infield.

Paxton retired the first seven batters until Sandy Leon’s one-out single in the third. Hanley Ramirez singled in the fifth and Betts was the first player to reach second with a two-out double in the sixth. All failed to advance.

Dae-Ho Lee’s run-scoring double with one out in the seventh chased Rodriguez, who allowed three hits, two walks and six strikeouts. Robbie Ross Jr. took over and hit Seager with a pitch to load the bases with one out. He then struck out Franklin Gutierrez and Chris Iannetta. Paxton had six strikeouts and no walks.

Mariners: RHP Taijuan

Seattle Mariners’ Robinson Cano is congratulated in the dugout after scoring against the Boston Red Sox in the seventh inning of Monday’s game in Seattle.

Walker (right foot tendinitis) had a rehab start for Triple-A Tacoma on Monday. ... SS Ketel Marte (mono), on the DL since July 20, is nearly back to his playing weight. ... RHP Nick Vincent (back strain) will throw a simulated game Tuesday, with Marte facing him. If that goes well, both likely will be ready for rehab assignments.

UP NEXT
Red Sox: LHP David Price (9-7, 4.26) has lost his past three starts, although he was beaten 2-1 Thursday by the Angels, working eight innings and allowing no runs and seven hits.

Mariners: LHP Wade LeBlanc (1-0, 4.26) was acquired in a trade with Toronto June 21.

TRADES: Rangers, Dodgers, Giants all poised for postseason runs

take this bad boy to the ‘ship! Really excited and can’t wait to get after it!” he posted on Twitter. The 30-year-old Lucroy is batting .299 with 13 homers and 50 RBIs this season.

Texas also got Beltran, a proven postseason star, from the New York Yankees for righty Dillon Tate, the fourth overall pick in the 2015 amateur draft, and two other pitching prospects. “I think as a player, you know that this moment could happen. But when it happens, it hits you,” Beltran said.

Twice before in his career, Beltran was traded in midseason to a team with playoff hopes. Like the Rangers, Beltran has been to the World Series but never won the crown.

The Yankees kept reworking their roster, trying to turn the best parts of a .500 team into a bright future. They had already traded relief aces Aroldis Chapman and Andrew Miller leading up to the deadline.

“We’re kind of in unfamiliar territory with the Yankees,” first baseman Mark Teixeira said.

“That’s life. I mean, we’ve had a nice run the last eight years,” he said.

As always, relievers were in demand.

The Giants aimed to bolster a shaky bullpen by getting Will Smith from Milwaukee, Boston got Fernando Abad from Minnesota and the NL Central-leading Cubs obtained sidearming righty Joe Smith from the Angels.

The Cubs previously got lefties Chapman and Mike Montgomery for their bullpen.

“That was an area we thought we could make some changes,” general manager Jed Hoyer said. “Adding a closer, a left-hander and then adding a guy like Smith who can be a right-handed specialist, we felt like those were areas that would improve our team and improve the mix of our bullpen.”

The banged-up Mets acquired Bruce, the All-Star outfielder who leads the NL with 80 RBIs, from Cincinnati for infielder Dilson

Herrera and minor league lefty Max Wotell.

The Mets also got pitcher Jon Niese, who spent his first eight years in New York, from Pittsburgh for reliever Antonio Bastardo. The contending Los Angeles Dodgers fortified their rotation by getting Rich Hill along with outfielder Josh Reddick from Oakland for three pitching prospects.

Dodgers ace Clayton Kershaw is on the disabled list with back trouble, and they don’t know when he’ll be back. The 36-year-old Hill is 9-3 with a 2.25

ERA in 14 starts and on the DL because of a blister on the middle finger of his throwing hand that hasn’t healed.

Toronto was busy, making three deals. A day after falling out of the AL East lead, they got Liriano from Pittsburgh.

“Where he’s been and what he’s accomplished his entire career, we feel like gives us a chance to have someone who could be pitching in Game 2, 3 or 4 of a World Series run,” Blue Jays general manager Ross Atkins said.

Garton said that the team played extremely well, but ultimately couldn’t string together the all-around performances that were needed.

“We hit pretty well, we just couldn’t get hot,” added coach Kristan Garton. “We got hot at the state tournament, but not here, and that’s what it’s all about in these tournaments, who gets hot when.”

But even with the disappointment of not winning the regional, the Pendleton all-stars did come home with something to brag about.

“We are the only team that beat Utah in the tournament, and Utah’s the ones going to the World Series,” Garton said. “We told (Utah) ‘Welcome to Oregon and enjoy Portland’ after they won it all.”

Oregon’s win over Utah came on the second day of pool play with a final score of 11-9. Utah then went on to win its six other games in the tournament by a combined score of 32-11.

“To compete against the teams we competed against, from larger areas to recruit from, we’re so proud of our girls,” Garton said. “The whole trip was more than just softball, it was about team unity as well ... we’ve been working hard since June with a lot of late nights, early mornings, and days away from home and this was a great trip.”

Aside from softball, the team had the luxury of taking in several leisure activities in their downtime, which included a visit to the Nott’s Berry Farm amusement park, an afternoon at the famed Huntington Beach, and an evening at Angel Stadium to watch the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim host the Boston Red Sox. The game proved exciting, as the Angels defeated the Red Sox 2-1 on a walk-off error.

“The Angels game was a lot of fun, because of Mike Trout,” Lilenthal said with a grin.

And in all the excitement of the games and other activities on the trip, the Pendleton girls are thankful for the community to help them have a trip of a lifetime.

“If it wasn’t for the people of Pendleton we wouldn’t have been able to do it,” Lilenthal said. “We had a lot of support from everybody and it was a great experience.”

just exemplary. We dealt with the void is really what I can tell you best, it’s just great to have him around.”

Chancellor hailed in an interception during the first day of training camp when a Russell Wilson pass was tipped in the air by tight end Luke Willson. On Day 2, Chancellor watched the offense beat them on a rollout for a big gain. When the offense ran the same play again later in practice, Chancellor read what was coming and jumped the route to force an incompleton on a pass to Doug Baldwin.

Chancellor then quickly got in Baldwin’s face, enthusiastically celebrating while telling Baldwin they couldn’t beat him with the same play twice. It’s the type of carefree persona that Chancellor seemed to be lacking upon returning to the team last season.

“That’s what brothers do, you go out there and you have fun,” Chancellor said. “Whether it’s exchanging words, hitting each other. It’s like boys growing up. You want to beat up on your brother a little bit but it’s all in fun. That’s just tough love and you want to spread that tough love among the group.”

Chancellor characterized his 2015 as “up and down,” which could easily describe the Seahawks’ season as a whole. After a 2-4 start to the year, Seattle won eight of their final 10 games to earn a wild card spot. In the divisional round, Seattle fell into a 31-0 hole to the Carolina Panthers before scoring 24 straight points to nearly overcome the deficit.

Now everything feels normal again. Everyone reported for camp on time and the Seahawks feel strongly about the roster they’ve constructed.

“It feels like the (Super Bowl) 48 year,” Chancellor said. “It feels like everybody is bringing that intensity, everybody is out to prove something. They may be or may not be, but it just feels that way. The brotherhood is getting even tighter. Guys are just out here having fun and not thinking about a lot.”
