

RAWLS: Graham also nearing return

Ravens in December. After gaining 44 yards on six carries on Seattle's opening possession, Rawls was engulfed by Brandon Williams and Chris Canty, who fell on him with his ankle caught underneath.

The injury ended a stellar rookie campaign that made Rawls the clear choice to replace a retiring Marshawn Lynch. He rushed for 830 yards and four touchdowns in 13 games with seven starts in place of an injured Lynch. His 209-yard effort against the San Francisco 49ers was the second-most rushing yards in a game in franchise history, trailing only Shaun Alexander's 266 yards in 2001.

"In the last couple days we've seen him really take off in burst and he's worked so hard. He's ready to be out there," head coach Pete Carroll said. "We still just have to work him into it and wear him, but it's really exciting to have him back."

Carroll and general manager John Schneider have repeatedly said Rawls and tight end Jimmy Graham are expected to be ready for the Sept. 11 season opener against the Miami Dolphins. Carroll said Tuesday that Graham Seattle Seahawks' Thomas Rawls returns a dollar bill that he autographed after playfully threatening to keep it after the team's NFL football training camp Saturday, July 30, 2016, in Renton, Wash.

(knee) is close to being activated from the PUP list as well.

"Give us a couple of weeks. There's plenty of time here. We'll figure it out. I'm sure (Rawls) is going to be chomping at the bit come by the last preseason game, at least, if not sooner," Carroll said.

Rawls and three other running backs were unable to participate in Sunday's mock game. Christine Michael sat out due to illness. Third-round pick C.J. Prosise and seventh-round pick Zac Brooks were sidelined with hamstring injuries.

Michael returned to practice Tuesday, and Prosise and Brooks are both expected back within the next week.

Despite his strong rookie campaign, Rawls isn't taking his early success for granted. He feels he has to win the job all over again.

"We're going to compete," Rawls said. "I don't feel established. I'm going to always be a hard worker. I'll always be a leader and I'm going to always congratulate guys whenever guys go out there and do some of the amazing things that they do."

Ducks remain unsettled at QB

By RYAN THORBURN
The Register-Guard

EUGENE — Oregon opened fall camp on Monday with six quarterbacks.

Five of them attended the team's media day. Three of them were mentioned by coaches and teammates as viable candidates for the starting job in 2016.

And two of them are getting the majority of the snaps.

"Dakota and Travis are taking a little more reps than Terry," offensive coordinator Matt Lubick said after the Ducks returned to the practice field. "The neat thing about fall camp is we've got a lot of time to let it play out. It's basically like having almost two spring balls. Then by the time we get into game preparation, we'll have a decision on who is going to be taking the majority of the reps."

There was a much better vibe among the quarterbacks compared to a year ago when Vernon Adams Jr. was absent from the start of camp while attending to academic requirements necessary to complete his transfer from Eastern Washington.

Prukop graduated from Montana State last December and has been establishing rapport with his new teammates and studying the Oregon playbook for more than seven months.

After passing for 3,025 yards and 28 touchdowns and rushing for 797 yards and 11 touchdowns in 2015, Prukop decided to transfer out of Big Sky country to play his senior year at Oregon, which won a late recruiting battle with Alabama for his services.

Prukop, who has added about 14 pounds of muscle to his 6-foot-2 frame since arriving, didn't expect to surge to the top of the depth chart as quickly as Adams did last August.

"It's not like I sat down and was like, 'Where's the competition going to be?'" said Prukop, who weighed in at 205 pounds to start camp. "It was more, which school do I like best, what's going to be the best fit, which offense do I like best. I'm confident in my own ability. I've been in two or three quarterback battles in my career, this is another one."

"The thing I'm excited about is that I kind of got to take the lead, in terms of setting the tone for the room. This is the best way we can get better, if we approach it like we're here to push each other."

Jensen might have been Adams' backup last season had he not suffered a season-ending turf toe injury. The redshirt freshman believes his skill set as a 6-3, 194-pound dual-threat quarterback is a perfect fit in Oregon's offense.

Oregon coach Mark Helfrich said he wants the quarterback situation to sort itself out "organically" before naming a starter the week before the Sept. 3 opener against UC Davis.

FARM-CITY: No. 1 bareback rider Tim O'Connell headlines Thursday's roughstock

during his high school years will get on Flying Diamond's Doble Dippin.

Seven of the top 20 saddle bronc riders will compete with No. 2 Rusty Wright drawing Korkow Rodeos' Free Sample.

Two of the top five steer wrestlers and three of the top seven barrel racers are also scheduled.

• THURSDAY — No. 1 bareback rider Tim O'Connell of Zwingle, Iowa, will get on Calgary Stampede's Unfortunate Carma and 2014 world champion Spencer Wright looks to get back into the running in saddle bronc atop Calgary Stampede's Waning Moon.

Defending Farm-City champion and No. 4 saddle bronc rider Zeke Thurston will get on Kesler Rodeos'

Nickels & Dimes.

Locals Steve Hoffman (Hermiston) and Seth Hopper (Stanfield) will compete in tie-down, and the son (Blake Knowles) and nephew (Trevor Knowles) of Farm-City co-founder Butch Knowles will compete in steer wrestling.

Pendleton's Cain Smith will get on Corey & Lange's Chunky during a bull riding session that also features defending Farm-City all-around champion Garrett Smith of Rexburg, Idaho.

• FRIDAY — Five of the world's top 15 team roping partners will take the arena, as will four-time world champion barrel racer Sherry Cervi of Marana, Arizona.

No. 5 saddle bronc rider Heith Allan DeMoss will tangle with Korkow Rodeos' Rekker.

• SATURDAY — Five of the top 20 bareback riders are scheduled, with No. 2 Orin Larsen of Inglis, Manitoba, drawing Calgary Stampede's Xceptional Margarita.

World No. 6 steer wrestler Jacob Talley of Keatchie, Louisiana, looks to continue his dream season in a section that also includes locals Travis Taruscio (Stanfield) and Dalton Massey (Hermiston).

Defending Farm-City champion team roper Kaleb Driggers (Albany, Georgia) is

No. 1 this season with partner Junior Nogueira (Burlson, Texas), and they'll try to add to their lead. Hermiston's Callahan Crossley will compete in barrel racing and Hermiston bull rider Cody Ford will try to best a section that includes two top-10 riders when he gets on Corey & Lange's Dirty Harry.
