Elvis aficionado rewarded for charity work

Richard Cunningham's love for all things Elvis Presley paid off in September of 1997 when the Pendleton resident was honored for his volunteer work with the music legend's favorite charity.

Cunningham's collection of Elvis memorabilia included everything from jewelry to glassware, records to T-shirts and posters to postage stamps, and even a clock with swiveling hips. He was so dedicated to Elvis' memory that he championed the singer's favorite charity, United Cerebral Palsy of the Mid-South, holding charity auctions every year to benefit the group. In 1997, the 30th anniversary of Elvis' death, the charity honored Cunningham's tireless efforts by flying him to Memphis to be part of the celebration.

picked Cunningham up at the Memphis airport and ensconced him in a Germantown hotel, then squired him to different events each day during his week-long visit. But he didn't visit Graceland, partly because he had already toured Elvis' home and partly because "the lines waiting to enter were overwhelming large." He also met several Elvis impersonators, including one from Mollala, Ore., and also Donna Presley Early, Elvis' first cousin.

Cunningham returned home to Pendleton with many wonderful memories, and a need for some serious rest.

For the second time in two years, Miss Carmine Jones, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Jones of McKay Creek, has carried off the state prize for turkey raising in the school industrial club work. She was awarded first honors at the state fair last week. Arthur Crone of Umapine, another of the four Umatilla County pupils given free trips to the fair, won second prize in pig raising, missed first honors by a fraction of a point. The other two, Philip Faucett of Stanfield and Dorothy Briggs of Hermiston, did not enter their exhibits so they were eliminated from the contest.

Lewis Routh, Pendleton, escaped unhurt except for a bruised hand after a 6.5 mm deer rifle he was sighting in blew apart in his hands. He had fired four shots, and the bolt was hard to close on the fifth round. When Routh squeezed the round off, the gun flew into three pieces. Apparently the fourth slug stuck in the barrel, and when the fifth round was fired, pressures blew the gun apart. The rifle was a converted European military arm.

First week enrollment figures set records at Blue Mountain Community College even though some 300 students who made appointments failed to register for classes. A total of 1,050 students attended crowded classes on the Pendleton campus last week, BMCC president Ron Daniels said. The number of students enrolled in at least 12 credit hours per term compares to last year's record-setting turnout of 1,000 students, and is up by more than 200 over first-week enrollment in 1989. The numbers are even more impressive when all the heads — including those of part-time students — are counted. BMCC boasted first-week enrollment of 2,624 different students, up 18 percent over last year.

ODDS & ENDS

Satanic Temple brings after-school club to elementary pupils

PORTLAND (AP) — The Portland chapter of The Satanic Temple has succeeded in its efforts to bring an after-school program to a Portland elementary school.

The Oregonian/OregonLive reports the organization has been approved to begin a program on Oct. 19 at Sacramento Elementary School.

Finn Rezz, one of the group's leaders, says their program focuses "on science and rational thinking," and it will promote "benevolence and empathy for everybody."

The Satanic Temple has been targeting schools that have a Good News Club.

That club is put on by the Child Evangelism Fellowship, "a Bible-centered organization composed of born-again believers whose purpose is to evangelize boys and girls with the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ and to establish (disciple) them in the Word of God and in a local church for Christian living."

NY: Utilities can't charge termination fees after death of a customer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Phone, cable and utility companies in New York may no longer charge early termination fees when service has been discontinued due to the death of a customer.

The rule was signed into law Tuesday by Democratic Gov. Andrew Cuomo, who said the practice of charging fees to deceased customers was "heartless and inappropriate" and created burdens for those settling their loved ones' affairs.

Few statistics are available about how often companies took such action, but Democratic Assemblywoman Aileen Gunther, who sponsored the legislation, says a utility tried to charge her mother an early termination fee after she died.

The new regulation applies to landline and cellphone providers, cable, television, internet, power and water companies.

Any provider that violates the rule is subject to a civil penalty of up to $1,000.
