Indie duo crafts show at 40 Taps

Will also play at Barley Brown's, Terminal Gravity

East Oregonian

After uprooting from their Nashville home and full-time jobs in June 2012, You Knew Me When set plans to tour the nation for a full year — however, they never stopped.

Since that time, the husband and wife duo have been serving up their craft brewed compositions — a term coined from their more than 130 performances at craft breweries throughout the United States and into Canada. Continuing to tour in support of their 2015 album "We Found Roads" and their recently released EP, "The Only You EP," You Knew Me When is cruising into Eastern Oregon this weekend.

The public is invited to hear the duo, which is outfitted with an array of instruments that presents a full band sound. You Knew Me When will perform Friday at 6 p.m. at 40 Taps, 337 S.W. Emigrant Ave., Pendleton. There is no cover charge.

While blending their vocals, Karisa, who previously served as a tenured Nashville public school music teacher, provides the piano, ukulele, glockenspiel, and percussive elements — as Cie, who spent several years as the global events manager for Gibson Guitar, supplies the guitar and other rhythmic nuances. The cumulative result is a musical style and live show that blends a singer-songwriter soul with a pop/rock mentality.

The husband and wife indie folk-rock duo You Knew Me When will perform Friday at 40 Taps in Pendleton.

You Knew Me When's latest releases showcase the musical progression of the duo and the melding of both Karisa and Cie's musical styles. At times upbeat and folksy, at times brooding and introspective, the albums are reflections of mile-markers and moments derived from giving up everything and finding new paths together.

"The Only You EP" is available exclusively on NoiseTrade. Physical and digital copies of "We Found Roads" are available at www.youknewme-when.com. The album is also available on iTunes, Amazon and other online retailers.

While in the region, the duo also will perform Saturday at 8 p.m. at Barley Brown's, 2190 Main St., Baker City; and Sunday at 7 p.m. at Terminal Gravity Brewery, 803 E. Fourth St., Enterprise.

For more information about the Pendleton performance, contact 541-612-8559, 541-240-1208 or masonkmurphy@gmail.com. For more about the duo, visit www.youknewme-when.com.
