PASCO, Wash. — The Blue Mountain Timberwolves all but sealed up a playoff spot on Wednesday night as they defeated Columbia Basin 3-1 in a crucial NWAC East match.

The Timberwolves (20-15, 9-5 NWAC East) won the match 25-18, 25-17, 14-25, and 25-22.

Kristin Williams led the Timberwolves' offense with nine kills while Miah Perez and Brooke Lomica tallied nine and eight respectively. Also helping the offense was Kylee Chavez totaling a team-high 39 assists and Anjoilyn Vreeland, Perez, and Lomica hit two aces each.

On the defensive end, Vreeland turned in a team-best 18 digs, while Jordan Mix had 12 and Perez had 12 to pace the Timberwolves to the victory.

The win puts Blue Mountain two games up on Columbia Basin for the fourth playoff spot in the NWAC East with two games to play, but is also just one-half game behind Spokane for the third place.

The Timberwolves will finish up their home schedule on Friday against Big Bend at 6 p.m. and then hit the road to Yakima Valley for the season finale on Nov. 9.

WORLD SERIES: Zobrist named MVP for game-winning hit

Chicago dugout at Progressive Field, singing "Go! Cubs! Go!"

Manager Joe Maddon's team halted the longest title drought in baseball, becoming the first club to overcome a 3-1 Series deficit since the 1985 Kansas City Royals.

Cleveland was trying to win its first crown since 1948, but lost the last two games at home.

World Series favorites since spring training, Chicago led the majors with 103 wins this season. The Cubs then ended more than a century of misery for their loyal fans — barely. Third baseman Kris Bryant, one of Chicago's young talents, began smiling even before fielding a grounder by Michael Martinez and throwing it across to star first baseman Anthony Rizzo for the final out.

Zobrist was chosen as the World Series MVP, a year after he helped the Royals win the championship.

Zobrist was among the players brought to the Cubs by Theo Epstein, the baseball guru added another crown to his collection. He also assembled the Red Sox team that broke Boston's 86-year drought with the 2004 championship.

From Curse of the Bambino to the Billy Goat

Curse, he ended another jinx.

The Indians, meanwhile, added more heartbreak. In their previous World Series appearance, they were a double-play grounder from winning the title before losing Game 7 in 11 innings to the Marlins.

After defeating San Francisco and the Los Angeles Dodgers in the playoffs, Chicago became the first team to earn a title by winning Games 6 and 7 on the road since the 1979 Pittsburgh Pirates.

While Cubs fans hugged with delight, there was only despair for the Indians, who now have gone longer than anyone without a crown.

Dexter Fowler homered on Corey Kluber's fourth pitch of the game, 23-year-old Javier Baez and 39-year-old David Ross also went deep for the Cubs, who led 5-1 in the fifth inning and 6-3 in the eighth.
