Smith guides Stanford women past Oregon

By JEFF FARAUDO
Associated Press

STANFORD, Calif. — Alanna Smith looks pretty good after spraining an ankle last week. She put together quite a finish Friday night.

Smith scored 14 of her career-high 24 points in the fourth quarter, and No. 10 Stanford beat Oregon 81-60 for its 21st victory in the past 22 meetings between the schools.

Smith was 9 for 15 from the field while showing off her ability to drive to the basket and score with either hand. Smith said she merely responded to coach Tara VanDerveer's encouragement.

"Tara keeps telling everybody on the team to attack the basket and go to your strengths, and that is one of my strengths," said Smith, a sophomore from Australia who learned how to use her left hand when she broke the other one in high school.

Stanford (13-2, 3-0 Pac-12) hasn't lost at home to the Ducks in nearly 30 years, but Oregon made the Cardinal sweat before they pulled away in the fourth period at Maples Pavilion.

Briana Roberson scored 15 points for Stanford, and Erica McCall had 14.

"It's a great win for us," VanDerveer said. "Oregon has a really talented young team."

Mallory McGwire had 16 points and 11 rebounds for the Ducks (11-5, 0-3), and fellow freshman Sabrina Ionescu scored 14 in her return after missing the past four games with a broken thumb.

"They played at a championship level and we're not there yet," Oregon coach Kelly Graves said. "I thought we battled. There were times they kind of separated and then we brought it back a bit. Bottom line is Stanford doesn't beat themselves."

BIG PICTURE

Oregon: The young Ducks — with three freshmen in their starting lineup — beat then-No. 24 Michigan State in late November, but since have lost to top-10 teams Mississippi State, Washington and Stanford. Oregon is improving, but not quite ready to get over the hump against the elite.

Stanford: VanDerveer needs just seven victories to become only the second NCAA women's coach to reach 1,000 wins. She is 993-227 in 38 seasons at Stanford. The late Pat Summitt won 1,098 games during her career at Tennessee.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

Stanford's victory over a team it has historically dominated won't provide much of a bump for the Cardinal. Their chance to climb in the rankings comes Sunday when No. 16 Oregon State visits Maples Pavilion.

SEAHAWKS FAN

Asked about the weekend's NFL playoffs, VanDerveer said she is rooting for the Seattle Seahawks, whose quarterback Russell Wilson is big brother to Stanford freshman guard Anna Wilson.

A FAMILIAR FACE

Oregon assistant Nicole Powell was a first-team All-American for Stanford in 2004 and a three-time finalist for the Naismith Player of the Year award.

Pivec leads No. 16 OSU over Cal

Associated Press

BERKELEY, Calif. — Mikayla Pivec scored a career-high 19 points and No. 16 Oregon State won its 11th straight with a 66-56 win over No. 20 California on Thursday night.

The Beavers (14-1, 3-0 Pac-12) had their largest lead at 50-35 with 3:12 left in the third quarter and absorbed a 13-5 run from the Bears (13-2, 1-2) in the fourth that cut the deficit to 57-50 with 4:02 to play.

Oregon State rarely trailed in the first half and took control with a 12-0 run that spanned both halves and ended at 38-29. Cal never led after the break.

The freshman Pivec made 8 of 13 shots including her one 3-point attempt. Breanna Brown added 14 points on 7-of-10 shooting and Sydney Wiese scored 10.

Kristine Anigwe scored 26 points to lead the Bears and Courtney Range added 10. Cal lost its second straight after opening the season 13-0.

AP source: Cavaliers nearing deal for Hawks' Korver

Associated Press

CLEVELAND — Kyle Korver could soon be hoisting shots for the NBA champions.

The Cleveland Cavaliers are trying to finalize a deal to acquire Korver, one of the league's elite 3-point shooters, in a trade from the Atlanta Hawks, a person familiar with the negotiations told

The Associated Press on Thursday night.

The sides are closing in on a deal, but the particulars "are not clear," said the person who spoke on condition of anonymity because the deal has not been completed.

The Vertical first reported the potential swap.

Cleveland is in need of another outside shooting threat with J.R.

Smith expected to be sidelined until the end of the regular season after undergoing surgery to repair a broken thumb. The 35-year-old Korver is a more than adequate replacement as he's shot 43 percent from long range during his career and his 1,952 made 3s are the eighth most in league history.

Korver did not play in Thursday night's game in New Orleans, and afterward said he had mixed emotions about a trade that may only need league approval before becoming official.

"There are a lot of heart ties to Atlanta for a lot of reasons," said Korver, who spent five seasons with Atlanta after two in Chicago. "A lot of friendships, relationships. That's where I had my best basketball."
