1000s of rounds of ammo stolen from national park

EUGENE (AP) — The National Park Service is asking for the public's help in locating the person responsible for stealing thousands of rounds of ammunition from a locked building at Oregon's Crater Lake National Park.

The Register-Guard reported Thursday that the park service says in a news release the rifle and pistol ammunition was stolen from a building near the park's headquarters.

The ammunition was used as part of the park's law enforcement program.

It is unclear when the theft took place.

The park service is offering up to $1,000 for information leading to the conviction of whoever is responsible for the theft.

Police arrest two accused of Trump-protest vandalism

PORTLAND (AP) — Portland police detectives have arrested two young men accused of damaging businesses during November's post-election riot in the Pearl District.

Sgt. Pete Simpson says 19-year-old Elijah Gerard was booked into jail Thursday on charges of riot, assault, criminal mischief and unlawful entry into a motor vehicle. He's suspected of damaging a restaurant, Chase bank and a construction business, as well as assaulting a motorist.

Also arrested was 19-year-old David Lewis Jr. He's accused of causing damage at Starbucks, Federal Express and another business. He was booked on charges of riot, criminal mischief and failure to appear.

He also had two outstanding warrants for criminal trespass.

Simpson says detectives got tips from the public after photos and video showed the men damaging Pearl District businesses.

Judge: Activist guilty of interfering, won't be punished

MEDFORD (AP) — An Oregon woman who stopped to observe troopers after they stopped a black driver has been found guilty of interfering with a police officer.

Keely Meagan of Ashland parked on the edge of Interstate 5 after noticing the traffic stop in September, reported The Mail Tribune. Meagan, 55, said she was concerned about the driver's safety because of nationwide reports of police violence against black men.

Jackson County Circuit Judge David Hoppe found Meagan guilty of the misdemeanor interfering charge

Thursday and dismissed a violation for illegal parking. He said Meagan has a right to observe police but shouldn't have stopped so close to a highway interchange.

"You can continue to do that in a safe area. That wasn't safe, and I think you recognize that," said Hoppe.

Deputy District Attorney Jordan Bailey said he was pleased with the guilty verdict because Oregon State Police have to manage situations on I-5 that can be very dangerous.

Meagan said she understood the police officer's concern about the situation after watching police video of the incident. But she also said during Wednesday's trial that she feels a duty to stop every time she sees a black driver pulled over by police.

Meagan, who lost her job as a driver's education instructor after being charged in the incident, will face no further punishment, Hoppe ruled. He said he didn't consider her actions a case of civil disobedience but lauded the activist for her empathy.

Although there have been no shootings of black people by local law enforcement officers, Meagan said she has "witnessed a lack of understanding on the part of officers of the reality of black people in this country and the fear they have of being killed for no good reason."

According to testimony during the trial, the driver who was pulled over admitted to having consumed marijuana but passed field sobriety tests. He was not charged with a DUI but his vehicle was towed because he was driving without insurance.

PUBLIC SAFETY LOG

on the 2900 block of Northeast Riverside Avenue reported the neighbor came over and stated she was the victim of physical abuse.

7:08 a.m. - And a Umatilla woman told police she was an assault victim.

ARRESTS, CITATIONS

•Morrow County Sheriff's Office arrested Gary Dow Williams, 61, of Plymouth, Washington, for felony driving while revoked. The arrest came after deputies responded to a call at 3:37 p.m. about people trespassing on property on California Lane, Irrigon.

•Umatilla County Sheriff's Office arrested Scott Louis Sullivan, 46, of Umatilla, and Christian Faith Marshall, 33, of Hermiston, for first-degree burglary, first-degree trespass, theft of services and two counts of endangering the welfare of a minor.

According to court records, Sullivan and Marshall were not paying to live at 30470 Margaret Ave., Umatilla, and exposed two minors to unlawful activity involving drugs. Sullivan also has an ongoing criminal case from 2016 for first-degree theft, felon in possession of a firearm, polluting state water with an animal carcass and more.

•Oregon State Police arrested an Elgin man for drunken driving, and his three passengers also were intoxicated.

Trooper Ryan Sharp at about 10:20 p.m. stopped a Ford F350 pickup for failing to drive within its lane on the eastbound side of Interstate 84 near milepost 208 outside Pendleton.

"As I walked to the vehicle," according to the trooper's report. "I could hear the clanking of multiple beer bottles as the occupants attempted to hide them." The three passengers — Michelle Renee Denmore, 37, of Elgin, Jennifer Ward, 36, of Elgin, and vehicle owner Robert Francis, 40, of Troy — were visibly intoxicated, according to state police, and the driver, Justin David Sanders, 27, of Elgin, "exhibited multiple indicators of impairment as well."

Sanders took a sobriety test, and the trooper then arrested him for driving under the influence of intoxicants and reckless driving and booked him into the Umatilla County Jail, Pendleton. His blood-alcohol level was .15 percent, almost twice the .08 percent legal limit.

A tow company hauled off the pickup.
