seconds left tied it at 109 and forced overtime. Morris opened the scoring in overtime with a 15-footer, and after Portland tied it on a layup by Maurice Harkless, Morris answered with a three-point play and an 18-footer to make it 116-111. "He's a great one-on-one player, especially because of his high release, and it is tough to double him in that offense because they can get him the ball in so many different places," Portland coach Terry Stotts said. "When he's hitting from the perimeter, it is tough to stop him."

TIP-INS
Trail Blazers: Portland was without Evan Turner (right hand) and Festus Ezeli (left knee). ... Jusuf Nurkic scored 19 points.

Pistons: Detroit completed a season sweep of Portland, and both games went beyond regulation. The Pistons beat the Trail Blazers 125-124 in double overtime on Jan. 8. ... Drummond had 19 points and 15 rebounds.

THROWING IT AWAY
Portland finished the game with 24 turnovers to Detroit's eight. The Pistons outscored the Trail Blazers 21-11 in points off turnovers, and sloppiness with the ball was about the only thing slowing Portland on a night it shot 52 percent from the field.

RARE MISS
The Pistons caught a break late in the fourth quarter. Detroit was up by two and had the ball when Kentavious Caldwell-Pope missed a shot, giving Portland possession with 10.8 seconds left. Caldwell-Pope, who apparently felt he'd been fouled, was whistled for a technical foul.

Lillard, a 90-percent shooter from the line, missed the free throw, and his layup moments later only tied the game instead of putting Portland up one.

"We got very, very fortunate there," Van Gundy said. "I don't even think I need to say much. I think he knows that's a point at which you can't get a technical. You have to walk away, no matter how upset you are."

McCullum and Lillard had both been called for technicals earlier in the second half.

UP NEXT
Trail Blazers: Host the Oklahoma City Thunder on Thursday night.

BULLDOGS: Four seniors play final game us a little bit," Arstein said. "And I thought we could've done a little better job of attacking the zone there but we still need to hit outside shots. But they (Parkrose) definitely have a lot of talent and when you're dealing with a 6-8 kid and a D-1 point guard, it's tough."

"It just wasn't our night overall."

Likayi got the pace going for the Broncos in the first quarter as he scored nine of his 13 total points and grabbed three rebounds to help push the Broncos to a 14-5 lead. In the second quarter, the Broncos kept building momentum and built up a 22-8 lead with 3:54 left in the half.

However, that's when Hermiston finally found a rhythm.

Beginning with a left wing 3-pointer by Hunter Walls, the Bulldogs hit five of their next eight shots and forced six Bronco turnovers to go on a 12-0 run to end the half trailing by just two points at 22-20. Walls hit two more 3-pointers in that run and sank a fast-break lay-in off of one of the turnovers to help pace the run, scoring all 11 of his points in the quarter.

And Hermiston went into the halftime break feeling confident and ready to continue their run in the second half.

"We thought we were good," Hermiston senior Xavier Rambo said. "We thought that everything was fine and that we could do it and work it out on defense."

Though once the second half began, it was the Broncos that threw the first punch as they opened up the scoring on a 11-2 burst and took a 33-22 lead with just under four minutes left in the quarter. And just like the first half, Hermiston found a rhythm and made their push to cut the lead to 33-31 at the 1:45 mark of the third, forcing a Bronco timeout.

"We just didn't want to be done at all," Rambo said. "We told ourselves to work it out on defense and that's what we did, we all stepped up."

Hermiston's Hunter Walls shoots the ball guarded by Parkrose's Wilfred Likayi in the Bulldogs' 65-50 loss to the Broncos on Tuesday in Hermiston.

But out of the break, Bonton took the game over for the Broncos and carried them to the finish line as he scored 24 of his game-high 31 points in the second half — 11 of which came at the free throw line. The Broncos shot 46 percent from the floor overall in the game, while Hermiston mustered just 33 percent.

"We just didn't hit shots and we couldn't outrun them and that definitely hurt us," Arstein said. "They're definitely a team you have to hit your shots against and not let them score in transition ... we turned the ball over a few times and gave them a few easy ones but if we could've kept it to just a half-court game we definitely would've had a better chance in the fourth quarter."

The game was the final action in the Dawg House for Hermiston's four seniors Xavier Rambo, Chance Flores, Hunter Walls and Kody Moss, and three of the four was the bulk of the offense for Hermiston Tuesday. Rambo led the way with 19 points while Flores had 13 and Walls 11.

Rambo, who transferred from Irrigon for his senior year, was obviously disappointed with the way the game turned out but was appreciative of what he was able to help his team do this season.

"It was a great experience, honestly," he said. "I definitely liked it and I'm glad I got to finish out my career in my hometown with my friends."

And even roughly 10 minutes after the conclusion of Tuesday's game, Arstein was already looking toward the 2017-18 season. "I was happy with 16 wins, but definitely not satisfied," he said. "I think we're going in the right direction and the kids will have some consistency and that will go a long way. Now it's about getting in the weight room and spending time on the court developing players and building a program."

Hermiston will return six players that earned valuable varsity minutes this season, led by starters Andrew James and Jordan Ramirez, as well as Cesar Ortiz, Ryne Andreason, Thomas McCullough, Andrew Earl and Patrick Wicks.

"My job as a head coach is to get everyone back to work with spring ball and summer ball," he said. "We have some young kids coming up, should be pretty solid but we just have to develop them. I'm excited and I'll be back, which should be good for the program and good for the kids."
