

OUT OF THE VAULT State quashes drive-up beer stands

Imagine, if you will, driving your car up to a sidewalk stand serving beer and having a frosty brew delivered to you without your ever leaving the driver's seat. Before May of 1934, it was allowed in the state of Oregon.

A May 16, 1934 article in the East Oregonian reminded readers that the Oregon State Liquor Control Commission had issued an edict that people frequenting these sidewalk stands must be standing under the roof of the establishment while quaffing their glass of beer. And while Pendleton beer stands were following the new rules, owners and patrons weren't very happy about it.

Beer stand owners complained that their establishments were too small to accommodate the crowds that frequented them. And customers had a different beef: Standing inside the beer stand made it more likely you would be pressured into buying a round or two of drinks for your friends, instead of just quenching your own thirst on the cheap.

The OLCC, however, didn't put any restrictions on the number of bottles of beer that could be sold to car passengers, or even on jugs of beer as long as the cork was firmly in place as it was passed over the bar. But the customer could only drink the beer after driving away from the stand.

DAYS GONE BY

100 Years Ago From the East Oregonian April 8-9, 1917

Pendleton and La Grande high school boys are being used to guard the bridges and tunnels along the main line of the O.-W.R. & N. in this county and Union County. The boys, equipped for service, are being sent out as soon as they can get ready. Five seniors of the La Grande high school arrived in Pendleton yesterday morning and this morning left for Campbell station to guard the bridge and tunnel near the Furnish dam. This morning seven Pendleton high school boys were enlisted for similar service at the bridges between here and Kamela. The employment of these guards is done jointly by the railroad and the government. The guards are paid 20 cents an hour. They are supplied with a tent and stove but must furnish their own food.

50 Years Ago From the East Oregonian April 8-9, 1967

Baker High School's track and field team emerged unofficial winner of the annual Carnival of Speed at Mac Hi, ending by less than two points several years domination by Pendleton. Bob Dombrosky, Mac

Hi, won individual honors with 12 3/4 points earned by a double win in the hurdles plus a fourth place in the high jump and a share of third place in the 880-yard relay. He set the only record of the meet with 13.7 in the 120-yard low barriers. Dombrosky was the only double winner but 15 boys either won first or tied for first place in a meet that was graced with calm and sunny weather with temperatures in the high 60s.

25 Years Ago From the East Oregonian April 8-9, 1992

For years, Kenneth Blanchett has defied the laws of physics by squeezing his family of eight into a tiny home along Southwest Sixth Street in Hermiston. Later this year, the family will move down the block into a four-bedroom home built through the efforts of the Oregon Trail Habitat for Humanity. The Blanchetts were chosen last week to buy the first home planned by the newly formed affiliate of an international organization. Working with Habitat for Humanity volunteers, the Blanchetts will contribute about 500 hours of "sweat equity" work as their home is built.

ODDS & ENDS

Feathers fly as participants take part in a giant pillow fight in Pershing Square in downtown Los Angeles on April 1. The annual event is held to celebrate International Pillow Fight Day.

Feathers fly as pillow war overtakes downtown LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The feathers were flying in downtown Los Angeles. Hundreds of people traded soft blows in LA's Pershing Square in a giant pillow fight that dwarfed even the biggest slumber party slugfests.

Children, teens, adults and seniors swung pillows at one another for over an hour on Saturday. The annual event is held to celebrate International Pillow Fight Day.

Many wore pajamas, some wore masks and goggles.

By the time it was over the ground was so covered with feathers it looked like it had snowed on a sunny April afternoon.

RULES

- Each row and each column must contain the numbers 1 through 6 without repeating.
- The numbers within the heavily outlined boxes, called cages, must combine using the given operation (in any order) to produce the target numbers in the top-left corner.
- Freebies: Fill in single-box cages with the number in the top-left corner.

7 Little Words®

Find the 7 words to match the 7 clues. The numbers in parentheses represent the number of letters in each solution. Each letter combination can be used only once, but all letter combinations will be necessary to complete the puzzle.
