Dog show returns to convention center

By GEORGE PLAVERN
East Oregonian

For the second consecutive year, Pendleton will host the annual Walla Walla Kennel Club Dog Show with competitions Saturday and Sunday at the Pendleton Convention Center.

Both shows are free to the public. Judging begins at 8 a.m., with more than 500 dogs representing 151 different breeds.

Dog handlers, including some professionals, arrived at the convention center Friday to set up and prepare. Dinah Baggenstos, of The Dalles, will be showing 14 dogs, from Irish red and white setters to retrievers.

Baggenstos has been handling dogs professionally for nearly 50 years, and said she enjoys supporting the Walla Walla Kennel Club.

Sammie, a flat-coated retriever, jumps for attention outside the Pendleton Convention Center ahead of this weekend's annual Walla Walla Kennel Club Dog Show.

"There are a lot of members who are good friends, who are just part of our dog family," she said. "We want to continue supporting the smaller shows." Lisa Haney, a handler from Ridgefield, Washington, spent Friday afternoon bathing and drying Tabasco, a male Chow Chow that was tops for his breed last year.

"Every breed has its own standard of perfection," she said. "The judge is trying to find the best dog that exemplifies their standard."

The show is essentially a process of elimination. Dogs compete first against their breed, and then against the winners of other breeds within one of seven groups: sporting dogs, hounds, non-sporting dogs, working dogs, herding dogs, terriers and toys.

From there, a single champion is crowned best in show.

"I think it's a nice opportunity for families to come out and see the different breeds, and see what purebred dogs are all about," Haney said.

Firewood permits on sale Monday for Umatilla forest

PENDLETON — Personal-use firewood permits will go on sale Monday for the Umatilla National Forest at participating stores in Umatilla and Morrow counties.

Permits cost $5 per cord, with a minimum purchase of four cords for $20. The limit for firewood on the forest is 12 cords per home per year.

Firewood cutters are required to carry an ax, shovel and minimum 8-ounce fire extinguisher while cutting in the forest. Chainsaws also need to be equipped with a spark arrester to prevent fires.

Mountain travel can be hazardous during spring, and drivers should avoid heading off roads and onto wet, unstable ground or fragile meadows where the environment can be damaged by vehicles. Many roads may still be inaccessible due to snow, and woodcutters should check with the local ranger district office beforehand.

Local vendors will sell firewood permits in four-pack packets, with an additional $2 fee per packet. The following vendors have permits for sale: Southgate Mini-Mart, Pendleton; Smitty's Ace Hardware, Hermiston; Mentzer & Elliott and J&D's Food Mart, Pilot Rock; Zip Zone 2, Milton-Freewater; Heppner Shell; Athena Grocery; Rhode's Supply, Ukiah.

For more information, contact the Umatilla National Forest at 541-278-3716.

Non-injury house fire in Hermiston

HERMISTON — Umatilla County Fire District 1 responded Friday evening to a house fire on 160 W. Beebe Ln. No one was injured in the fire, which was called in around 6 p.m. The owner of the house, the only resident, was not inside at the time, but was at the scene.

Battalion Chief Jimmy Davis said crews don't yet know what caused the fire, which started in an upstairs bedroom.

"As far as we know it was contained to the upstairs," he said. "At this point, there's no indication as to what the source of the fire was."

He said they didn't know the extent of the damage, but the ceiling was pulled off in the effort.

Four fire engines and a medic unit were present at the scene. Firefighters had the blaze under control within a few minutes, but there was still smoke coming off the top of the house about a half hour later.

Student-built home on the market

HERMISTON — Hermiston School District students have almost finished their third home through the Columbia Basin Student Homebuilders program and are preparing it for sale.

Located in the Fieldstone Crossing cul-de-sac at 875 SW Angus Ct., it is listed at $379,000. The public is invited to a grand opening of the home, called Fieldstone #3, on Friday, June 9 from 1 to 6 p.m. The students will have the viewing along with American West Properties Hermiston.

Curt Berger, the student home builder director, encouraged the community to come and admire the students' work.

"Our students are excited for the opportunity to show the completed home," he said. "They have done a tremendous amount of work."

The structure is the third of 1
