

PEANUTS

BY CHARLES M. SCHULZ

FOR BETTER OR WORSE

BY LYNN JOHNSTON

B.C.

BY JOHNNY HART

PICKLES

BY BRIAN CRANE

BEETLE BAILEY

BY MORT WALKER

GARFIELD

BY JIM DAVIS

BLONDIE

BY DEAN YOUNG AND STAN DRAKE

DILBERT

BY SCOTT ADAMS

THE WIZARD OF ID

BY BRANT PARKER AND JOHNNY HART

LUANN

BY GREG EVANS

ZITS

BY JERRY SCOTT AND JIM BORGMAN

DEAR ABBY

College student living at home is ready to fly after graduation

JEANNE PHILLIPS Advice

Dear Abby: I am 21 and about to graduate from college. I have lived at home these last four years partly because my dad didn't want me to go away. He never said it, but he made up reasons to make me stay at home. I was 17 and being manipulated and controlled. I tried to explain to him that I wanted to go away to learn independence, but he said I wasn't mature enough.

goes out with friends and spends time with family. She's very attractive and has a wonderful personality. Her siblings, cousins and friends are all married and most of them have children. She wants her own family and has tried the usual dating sites, but never gets any results.

Now that I am about to graduate, I have been offered a job with a company in California. I am afraid to tell my parents about the news. I know that it's my life, but my father is a master of psychological manipulation. I want to finally get away from my parents' strict controlling and financial strings and start a stress-free life of my own. How do I explain this without them manipulating me all over again? — Soon To Be A College Graduate

I try to keep her spirits up. Her happiness is most important to me, not her marital status. How can I help her? I don't want to keep telling her the right one will come along when she wants a boyfriend now. — Single Girl's Mom In Georgia

Dear Mom: Your daughter should start by asking her siblings, cousins and friends why they think she's still single when she wants so much to be married. Could the solution be something as simple as tweaking her profile? It may be that she needs to expand her interests and activities so she'll be out in the community more than she is.

Dear Graduate: First, make up your mind that you ARE leaving. When you tell them, be sure to say how grateful you are for the love and support they have given you, but that you have been offered a job in the field for which you have studied and are now well-prepared enough to fly on your own.

Set a date to leave and do not allow yourself to be dissuaded, whether because of a guilt trip or any other manipulation. I'm not saying it will be emotionally easy, but for your own sake, you must do it.

If her friends and co-workers aren't already aware, she should ask if they know someone nice who's unattached. Who knows? One of them might have a cousin. Professional organizations having to do with her field of employment can also be fertile ground for prospecting.

Dear Abby: I have a single daughter in her early 30s. She's active in her church,

People who are visible and passionate about the activities they're involved in attract positive attention, which increases the likelihood of meeting someone eligible, or meeting someone who knows someone. When all is said and done, finding Mr. Right is usually a matter of luck and timing.

DAYS GONE BY

100 Years Ago From the East Oregonian June 2, 1917

The United States Navy wants more aviators. Peter Swartz, in charge of the local naval recruiting office, this morning received notification that additional men are wanted in the aviation department, the quota of the Oregon division being 14. Men who enlist in this department will be sent to the training school at Pensacola, Fla., for 18 months training. Men of experience with gas engines or as mechanics only are eligible.

city recently as a memorial to her parents. A stone was set by the city in the center of the park and a new flag raised at the dedication. Fred George came to Echo in 1906 and owned and operated a general merchandise store until his death. Mrs. George came to the community from Ann Arbor, Mich., as a school teacher.

50 Years Ago From the East Oregonian June 2, 1967

The small city park in Echo, which for 57 years has been simply known as "the park," was dedicated Sunday as the George Park in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. George who loaned the plot of ground to the city as a park in 1910. Mrs. Al Berg, the former Marian George, gave the park to the

25 Years Ago From the East Oregonian June 2, 1992

Trina Sayles recently received some big bucks to spend on her college education, thanks to her grandmother winning a national sweepstakes. Sayles, a former Boardman high school student, said she was ecstatic to learn about the $10,000 check headed her way. Her grandmother, Ruth Sayles, entered a "Scholarship Sweepstakes" contest sponsored by Libbey Glass at Pendleton's Kmart Store. Sayles was one of only 10 winners nationwide. Trina is currently a sophomore at Gonzaga University in Spokane.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Today is the 153rd day of 2017. There are 212 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On June 2, 1897, Mark Twain was quoted by the New York Journal as saying from London that "the report of my death was an exaggeration." (Twain, in London to cover Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee for the Journal, was responding to a report in the New York Herald that he was "grievously ill" and "possibly dying.") territorial limits.

In 1941, baseball's "Iron Horse," Lou Gehrig, died in New York of a degenerative disease, amyotrophic lateral sclerosis; he was 37.

In 1946, Italy held a referendum which resulted in the Italian monarchy being abolished in favor of a republic.

In 1953, the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II took place in London's Westminster Abbey, 16 months after the death of her father, King George VI.

In 1966, U.S. space probe Surveyor 1 landed on the moon and began transmitting detailed photographs of the lunar surface.

In 1976, Arizona Republic investigative reporter Don Bolles was mortally injured by a bomb planted underneath his car; he died 11 days later. (Prosecutors believed Bolles was targeted because he had written stories that upset a liquor wholesaler.)

In 1997, Timothy McVeigh was convicted of murder and conspiracy in the 1995 bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City that killed 168 people. (McVeigh was executed in June 2001.)

Today's Birthdays:

Actress-singer Sally Kellerman is 80. Actor Ron Ely is 79. Filmmaker and movie historian Kevin Brownlow is 79. Actor Stacy Keach is 76. Rock musician Charlie Watts is 76. Actor Charles Haid is 74. Movie director Lasse Hallstrom is 71. Actor Jerry Mathers is 69. Actress Joanna Gleason is 67. NHL Commissioner Gary Bettman is 65. Actor Dennis Haysbert is 63. Comedian Dana Carvey is 62. Actor Gary Grimes is 62. Pop musician Michael Steele is 62. Rock singer Tony Hadley (Spandau Ballet) is 57. Actor Liam Cunningham is 56. Actor Navid Negahban is 53. Singer Merrill Bainbridge is 49. TV personality-producer Andy Cohen ("The Real Housewives" TV franchise) is 49. Rapper B-Real (Cypress Hill) is 47. Actor-comedian Wayne Brady is 45. Actor Justin Long is 39. Rock musician Fabrizio Moretti (The Strokes) is 37. Olympic gold medal soccer player Abby Wambach is 37.

Thought for Today:

"Whatever it is that makes a person charming, it needs to remain a mystery." — Rex Harrison, English actor (born 1908, died this date in 1990).

PHOEBE AND HER UNICORN

BY DANA SIMPSON

BIG NATE

BY LINCOLN PEIRCE

