

NBA FINALS: Warriors gunning for sweep on Friday

the right side and the Warriors closed it out with four free throws in the final 12.9 seconds before celebrating briefly on the floor and then charging down the hallway to their locker room.

After winning Games 1 and 2 by a combined 41 points at home, the Warriors had to scrap for all 48 minutes to take down the Cavs, who will need a similar effort to avoid being swept by a team with few weaknesses.

James and Irving were relentless in the second half and it appeared they had done enough to get Cleveland over the top and perhaps back in the series.

Durant, though, was not going to be denied. Not after getting this close, not after enduring so much criticism for leaving Oklahoma City and not with a chance to put the Cavaliers in an insurmountable hole.

The 7-footer finished 10 of 18 from the field with eight rebounds and four assists. Curry, who has benefited more than any other player by Durant's arrival and is healthy in these Finals, added 13 rebounds and six assists.

Golden State, which made a record 9 3-pointers in the first quarter and finished 16 of 33 behind the arc, also got just what it needed from its reserves as Andre Iguodala had several big plays, none bigger than stripping James of the ball on a potential tying 3-pointer with 12.6 seconds left.

Cleveland had collapsed in the third quarter of the first two games, letting the Warriors run away and hide.

Irving didn't let that happen in Game 3.

Showing off his ability to spin in shots high off the backboard, Irving scored 16 in the third quarter and the Cavs held the Warriors to 22 points in their lowest scoring output in any quarter in this postseason.

The Cavaliers, though, couldn't get far enough ahead in the fourth to get comfortable and the Warriors kept chipping into their lead before Durant's defining 3-pointer.

Cleveland coach Tyrone Lue decided not to change his starting lineup for Game 3, sticking with the slumping Smith at shooting guard. He also insisted that his team was better off playing at a high tempo than trying to slow down the Warriors.

Cleveland came out full throttle, matching the Warriors step for step and shot for shot in the opening minutes. But Curry hit back-to-back 3s on a 10-0 run to close the entertaining and exhausting quarter.

MARINERS: Bergman pitches tonight as Seattle goes for sweep homer capped a four-run fifth against Seattle starter Yovani Gallardo — all with two outs. Ehire Adrianza doubled and Brian Dozier walked. Joe Mauer hit an RBI single to tie it 2-all, and Sano followed with his 15th homer.

Seattle got a run back in the fifth after Zunino walked and Ruiz was hit by a pitch. Zunino advanced to third on a flyout to center and came home on Tyler Smith's sacrifice fly.

Gallardo gave up five runs and six hits in a season-high seven innings.

Zunino and Ruiz, batting eighth and ninth, opened the third with consecutive homers to put Seattle up 2-1. Zunino lined the first pitch of the inning to left field. Ruiz, filling in at designated hitter for ailing Nelson Cruz, followed with a drive into the upper deck in left for his first home run of the season.

UP NEXT

Twins: RHP Kyle Gibson (2-4, 7.23 ERA) starts the series finale today.

Mariners: RHP Christian Bergman (3-2, 4.36) makes his sixth start since being called up from Triple-A on May 7.

following Collete Robbert in 2014-15 and Mallory Copeland in 2016.

Copeland joined Fortune and two other Pioneers on the all-GOL first team, as senior infielder Sydney Richwine (.250 avg., 10 RBI) and freshman outfielder Ashlyn Marly (.350 avg., 14 RBI) also grabbed recognition. Copeland, who made it as a pitcher last season, slotted in as the first team utility player after she slugged her way to a .442 average, two home runs and 17 RBI and touted a 1.57 ERA and 41 strikeouts in 49 innings in the circle.

Seniors Rachael Lyon and Kaitlyn Slusarenko and freshmen Sevin Birdwell and Graci Bullock all brought home second team honors, while pitchers Sydney Earls and McKenna Stallings as well as junior infielder Faith Kelly were honorable mentions.

Pioneers coach Nicole Christian was also continued her streak of Coach of the Year awards, this time sharing it with La Grande's Kirk Travis.

On the baseball side, Mac-Hi's disappointing season led to the Pioneers landing just one player on the GOL all-league teams. That honor went to sophomore Jesus Vela, who grabbed a second team infield spot.

La Grande, the Class 4A state champion, swept the GOL's top awards as junior GJ Blackman was named Player of the Year and Parker McKinley was named Coach of the Year. La Grande had 11 selections overall on the two teams and six first team selections.
