

Upcoming Events

7

SEPT
Thurs

MALCOLM PHINNEY in the East Oregonian Gallery
through September 30

Malcolm Phinney is a painter and sculptor living in Wallowa County, which he describes as a "painter's paradise." Much of his work depicts the mountains, canyons, deep forests and open prairies surrounding his home. New work by Nicole Sloan on exhibit in the Lorenzen Board Room Gallery.

7

OCT
Sat

TOMAS AND THE LIBRARY LADY
2 pm FREE! at the Pendleton Center for the Arts

The Oregon Children's Theatre brings the life of Mexican-American author and educator, Tomás Rivera to life in an engaging bi-lingual performance. Made possible through the support of Oregon Community Foundation, Oregon Cultural Trust and The Boeing Company.

14

SEPT
Thurs

15

SEPT
Fri

The EOCENES Live in Concert

Two big nights at 7 pm, doors open at 6:30 pm

Ron Emmons, well known front man for the popular Cabbage Hill bluegrass band, brings his EOU classmates Hugh McClellan, Duane Boyer and Hal Spence back to eastern Oregon for what's become a Round Up tradition. There's a special synergy that happens between musicians when they've played together for more than 50 years, and this show exemplifies that. If you appreciate authentic bluegrass, masterful musicianship, and a space with great acoustics, you'll love this performance - and so will your Round Up guests. This event is made possible every year through the generous support of Dr. Cynthia Holmes. Tickets $12

24

OCT
Tue

Molly's Revenge LIVE in Concert

7 pm, Adults $12

This dynamic trio features the classic combination of solo instruments like Highland bagpipes, uilleann pipes, whistles and fiddle. Their driving, hard-edged arrangements of Celtic jigs and reels lend a contemporary feel while celebrating the rousing energy that fans love about Celtic music.

6

OCT
Mon

Greg Blake Trio LIVE in Concert

7 pm, Adults $12

Blake is one of the great voices in modern bluegrass. Together with Ellie Hakanson & Isaac Callender the trio performs bluegrass, gospel, & country with a fresh perspective on traditional favorites. Great harmony singing combined with stellar instrumental ability make this group a must see for acoustic music fans.

6

OCT
Fri

James Allen in the East Oregonian Gallery
Reception Oct. 5, 5:30 - 7 pm. Through Oct. 28

Allen's book excavations are some of the most interesting and thought provoking sculptural works you'll see. As he cuts his way through the pages, he selectively keeps fragments of images and words, allowing artistic compositions to emerge.

16

NOV
Thurs

The Art of the Gift!

Reception Nov. 16, 5:30 - 7 pm. Through Dec. 31

Each year we transform the Eas Oregonian Gallery into a showcase of northwest fine craft. Functional and wearable art pieces that make great holiday gifts.

PLUS, Every third Thursday of the month we bring notable northwest authors to the stage for the First Draft Writers' Series. 7PM, and it's always FREE.