

PUBLIC SAFETY LOG

WEDNESDAY

1:05 a.m. - The driver of a Jeep Cherokee heading toward Pendleton crashed on Interstate 84 near milepost 234 when she spotted three elk on the side of the road. According to Oregon State Police, the driver "rapidly applied steering input causing her to lose control of her vehicle and roll in the median coming to rest in the eastbound side."
 Medics at the scene checked the driver and passenger and found they suffered minor injuries. The Jeep was not drivable.
 3:30 a.m. - A member of the Juniper Neighborhood Watch on Despain Gulch Road, Pendleton, reported someone in a vehicle was spotlighting the area, which could indicate poaching.
 8:14 a.m. - A caller reported his friend found a pile of burnt items on Southeast California Avenue, Irrigon, and they could be stolen.
 8:17 a.m. - An AT&T employee on Northeast Fourth Street, Hermiston, told police someone cut the locks to the ladders on his vehicle.
 10:12 a.m. - Pilot Rock police conducted a walk-through at the Pilot Rock Elementary School and found everything was fine.
 12:53 p.m. - A man reported his car broke down on the side of the road at Northeast 10th Street and Elm Avenue, Hermiston, and when he returned today he found someone broke into it and stole paperwork.
 1:31 p.m. - A woman came to the Hermiston Police Department and asked to talk to an officer about a possible stolen phone someone tried to sell her nephew.
 3:57 p.m. - Falling onions from a commercial semitrailer westbound on Highway 730 proved hazardous. Oregon State Police reported a Milton-Freewater driver came up behind the truck near milepost 193 when a large onion fell, bounced off the road and struck the side windshield of the car, causing the glass to shatter.
 The car driver was not hurt, and state police cited the onion truck driver for having a leaking or shifting load.
 5:18 p.m. - Hermiston police checked on possible domestic violence at West Elm Avenue and Northwest 11th Street.
 7:46 p.m. - A caller reported she was at Interstate 82 and Highway 730 when a white Ford Explorer slammed into her and took off and back to Washington.
 9:01 p.m. - Another driver reported a semi-tractor going 70 mph forced him off Highway 395 near East Feedville Road, Hermiston. Police did not find the semi.
 9:21 p.m. - A Milton-Freewater resident on the 1000 block of College Street reported an unoccupied vehicle rolled into his porch and staircase.
 9:25 p.m. - An Irrigon caller reported his soon-to-be-ex-wife may have stolen his Rozzell pistol.
 10:22 p.m. - Pendleton police responded to Roy Raley Park, 1205 S.W. Court Ave., on a report of five or six males fighting but did not find any fighters.
 11:20 p.m. - A caller told Hermiston police a male on the east side of North First Street pushed and hit a female. Police looked but did not find the suspect.
 11:57 p.m. - The Morrow County Sheriff's Office received a noise complaint from Southeast Greenwood Street, Irrigon, about residents off Division Avenue "doing some kind of mechanical work that is very loud."

Judith Ann Garrett

Hermiston
October 29, 1950 - September 23, 2017

Judith Ann Garrett, 66, of Hermiston passed away on Saturday, September 23, 2017.

Judith was born October 29, 1950, in Salem, Oregon, the daughter of Leo and Evelyn (Chowanec) Trahan. She lived in the Salem area during her childhood where she attended school.

In the late 1980s, she moved to Pendleton where she lived and worked for many years. She has resided in the Hermiston area for several years. Judith worked as a word processing technician at the Eastern Oregon Correctional Institution throughout her career until retiring in 2011.

Judith married Vern Garrett in 1986 at Stayton, Oregon. She enjoyed being a grandma, spending time with her husband and caring for her pets.

She is survived by her children Kina Garrett, Denise Garrett and Robert DeeWayne Garrett; sister Vivian Duhart; grandchildren Kina Beth, Cleora, Brandon, Samantha, Dakota, Tiffany, Amber and Cody; and great-grandchildren McKenna and Braleigh.

She was preceded in death by her husband Vern in 2012; a son, Vern James Garrett; a sister, Betty Trahan; and both of her parents.

A graveside service will be held at 11:00 a.m. on Monday, October 2, 2017, at Olney Cemetery in Pendleton.

Burns Mortuary of Hermiston is in care of arrangements.

March 11, 1966 - September 2, 2017

Jeff, father of Meagan, brother of Janet, son of Jerri and Lynn, stepson of Rose and long-time partner of Ann.

A lifelong hunter, Jeff loved the thrill of the game. When hunting season passed, paintball hunting cracked him up! Recalling his stories still makes us laugh.

As a father, Jeff devoted his life to nurturing and raising his beautiful daughter. He was usually one of the noisy dads on the sidelines at her games. A major joy of his life was seeing Meagan graduate from high school.

Opinionated, outspoken and independent thinker, Jeff's sense of humor and pragmatism were skills that served him well. His friends were steadfast and his life was good.

A mechanic and an engineer, he kept his van running, and his chair rolling to the end. His dune buggy, equipped with hand controls and crash-car restraints, gave him freedom to fly over the Oregon dunes at breakneck speed (pun intended!).

Father, Brother, Son, and Friend, Jeff has found his forever "happy place."

A graveside remembrance service will be held Saturday, Oct. 21 at 11 a.m. at Skyview Memorial Park near Pendleton. A reception gathering will follow at the Pendleton Eagles Lodge.

Betty Lou (Bush) Gillpatrick

Pendleton
January 19, 1938 - September 27, 2017

Betty Lou Gillpatrick, a resident of Pendleton, passed away on September 27, 2017. She was born on January 19, 1938, in Portland, Oregon. She was the second born and first girl to Lewis and Vera (Lubbes) Bush. Seven more siblings joined the family and together they spent a lot of time farming on their family farm in Hermiston.

She graduated from Hermiston High School in 1957. She married Marvin Zemmer and had two children; they later divorced. Betty remarried on July 10, 2009, to Cecil (Gill) Gillpatrick, also welcoming another daughter.

She was an avid hunter along with an accomplished pool player. She could hold her own in a game of pool competing in multiple tournaments and active in league play. She was famous for Pepsi balls and pea salad. Her family remembers that she could always make a meal from nothing.

Betty is preceded in death by her parents, brother Tom Bush, stepson Chad Gillpatrick, and stepgrandson Ian Gillpatrick.

Gillpatrick

Bates, Jesse Gillpatrick, Christopher Gillpatrick, Austen Barnes, Autumn Barnes and Jakey Gillpatrick; and great-grandchildren Kody Sloan, Khloe Powers, Mackenzie Nalivka, Henry Nalivka and Dominic Gillpatrick.

A celebration of Betty Lou's life will be held at the Pendleton Fraternal Order of Eagles on October 14, 2017, at 2 p.m.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Burns Mortuary of Pendleton is in charge of arrangements. Please sign the online condolence at www.burnsmortuary.com.

Playboy's Hefner, sexual revolution icon, dies

By ANDREW DALTON
 Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Playboy founder Hugh M. Hefner, the pipe-smoking hedonist who revved up the sexual revolution in the 1950s and built a multimedia empire of clubs, mansions, movies and television, symbolized by bow-tied women in bunny costumes, has died at age 91.

Hefner died of natural causes at his home surrounded by family on Wednesday night, Playboy said in a statement.

As much as anyone, Hefner helped slip sex out of the confines of plain brown wrappers and into mainstream conversation.

In 1953, a time when states could legally ban contraceptives, when the word "pregnant" was not allowed on "I Love Lucy," Hefner published the first issue of Playboy, featuring naked photos of Marilyn Monroe (taken years earlier) and an editorial promise of "humor, sophistication and spice."

Playboy soon became forbidden fruit for teenagers and a bible for men with time and money, primed for the magazine's prescribed evenings of dimmed lights, hard drinks, soft jazz, deep thoughts and deeper desires. Within a year, circulation neared 200,000. Within five years, it had topped 1 million. By the 1970s, the magazine had more than 7 million readers and had inspired such raunchier imitations as Penthouse and Hustler. Competition and the internet reduced circulation to less than 3 million by the 21st century, but Hefner and Playboy remained brand names worldwide.

Asked by The New York Times in 1992 of what he was proudest, Hefner responded: "That I changed attitudes toward sex. That nice people can live together now. That I decimated the notion of premarital sex. That gives me great satisfaction."

He was a widely admired but far from universally beloved figure. Many feminist and religious leaders regarded him as nothing but a glorified pornographer who degraded and objectified women with impunity.

Women were warned from the first issue: "If you're somebody's sister, wife, or mother-in-law," the magazine declared, "and picked us up by mistake, please pass us along to the man in your life and get back to Ladies Home Companion."

Hefner ran Playboy from his elaborate mansions, first in Chicago and then in Los Angeles, and became the flamboyant symbol of the lifestyle he espoused. For decades he was the pipe-smoking, silk-pajama-wearing center of a constant party with celebrities and Playboy models. By his own account, Hefner had sex with more than a thousand women.

Hefner was host of a television show, "Playboy After Dark," and in 1960 opened a string of clubs around the world where waitresses wore revealing costumes with bunny ears and fluffy white bunny tails.
