•Hermiston police arrested Adrian Torres Nava, 18, of 1070 W. Orchard Ave., Apt. Umatilla County Circuit Court records show four other criminal cases pending for theft and burglary.

•Umatilla tribal police arrested Timothy Golden McMurphy, 31, of Pendleton, for possession of methamphetamine and felony probation and parole violations.

Saturday

•Oregon State Police trooper Tyler Steele at 12:51 a.m. contacted a teenage boy on the westbound side of Interstate 84, according to state police, and found he was in possession of more than an ounce of marijuana.

The teen lied about his age, but Umatilla County dispatch helped the trooper identify the boy was 17 and from North Carolina. State police also reported he was homeless and had no family in Oregon.

Steele seized the boy's marijuana and tobacco, took him to the state police office in Pendleton and contacted the Oregon Department of Human Services. A social worker arrived and took the boy into custody, and state police cited him for giving false information to police, minor in possession of tobacco and possession of more than an ounce of usable marijuana by a person younger than 21.

•Law enforcement in Morrow County at 4:02 a.m. received a report of a drunk male on a woman's front porch at Wilson Road Mobile Home Park, 600 Wilson Road S.W., Boardman. The Morrow County Sheriff's Office cited a juvenile for minor in possession of alcohol and marijuana.

•Boardman police arrested Mario Morales Jr., 34, of Boardman, for possession of methamphetamine.

•Umatilla County Sheriff's Office arrested Raymond Blair Tyrrell, 53, of Milton-Freewater, for menacing, harassment, and the domestic violence charge of fourth-degree assault.

•Oregon State Police at about 7:55 p.m. tried to stop a white Chevrolet Suburban on Highway 37 for a lighting violation, but the driver kept going a short distance before pulling over near Northwest Carden Avenue, Pendleton.

Another officer arrived, and the police detained the driver, a 17-year-old local girl, and the passenger, Jason Michael Francisco Garza, 27, of Irrigon. The girl said Garza was her boyfriend and told her to keep driving because he had warrants, according to state police, and the girl allowed officers to search the vehicle.

State police reported trooper Wesley Linhart found a methamphetamine pipe and a few grams of meth, and Garza later said those were his. Police also found he had two felony and two misdemeanor warrants.

Linhart arrested Garza and booked him into the Umatilla County Jail, Pendleton, on the warrants and for methamphetamine possession. The trooper cited the girl for felony attempt to elude and driving without a license and released her to her parents. Police also allowed a friend to take the dog she had.

State police also reported the license plates on the Suburban belonged to another vehicle, so the trooper took the plates for evidence.

Eileen Mary Wondra

Milton-Freewater
February 13, 1922 - October 13, 2017

Eileen Mary Wondra was born in the Walla Walla Valley on February 13, 1922. Her graceful spirit departed for heaven's gates on October 13, 2017.

Born to parents Andy Millar and Catherine McWhirter, Eileen spent her childhood on a farm outside Milton-Freewater. After graduating from McLoughlin Union High School, she attended business school and worked in Portland, Oregon.

She then returned to the valley, and shortly thereafter, enlisted her support to the U.S. Armed Forces during World War II as a civil servant at the Pendleton Air Base. It was this that led to her meeting her future husband, William "Bill" Wondra, Sr.

Eileen and Bill were married October 13, 1942, in Boise, Idaho. They returned to Milton-Freewater and, on a farm less than one mile from her childhood home, brought up their three children, William "Bill" Wondra Jr., Robert "Bob" Wondra and Larry Wondra. While keeping busy raising three boys, Eileen also worked for the local Allen's Ice Cream Shop, packing houses and canneries, as well as J.C. Penney. Her main job, however, was assisting with anything needed to maintain and operate her and her husband's nearly 50-acre apple orchard and homestead.

Her garden was her prized possession; spending time in it was one of her most enjoyed hobbies. She was proud to have started her rosebushes, and many planted in her children's gardens, from her own clippings.

An excellent cook, Eileen could often be found preparing meals and baking for her family and friends. Her Thursday afternoons were always reserved for lunch and treasured pinochle games with "the girls." She devoted time and energy to being a member of the Pleasant View Mother's Club earlier in life and the Senior Center Board later. A meticulous seamstress and quilter, Eileen also excelled at and enjoyed knitting and crocheting. Her talents were always shared with family, friends, and members of her church. Refinishing furniture found at local garage and estate sales was also one of her cherished pastimes.

A devout Catholic, Eileen had an unwavering faith in God. She was a longtime member of the St. Francis of Assisi Church. Over the years, she became very involved with the church community and assisted with numerous events. She loved to share her devotion with those close in her life.

Eileen was predeceased by her loving husband, Bill. Also preceding her in death were her parents, Andy and Katie Millar, as well as three sisters, three brothers, and one grandson.

She is survived by her children, son Bill Jr., son Bob and wife Ruth, and son Larry married to wife Linda. Her legacy is also carried on through numerous grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren, as well as nieces and nephews.

The staff at Heritage Villa lovingly assisted with her care the last few years of her life. The family gives them and everyone else who cared for and loved Eileen throughout her life their greatest gratitude. She was a charming and humorous woman who will surely be missed by all who were fortunate enough to have known her.

Memorial contributions can be made to either the Milton-Freewater Senior Center or Walla Walla Community Hospice through Munselle Rhodes Funeral Home.

Viewing will be on Wednesday, October 18, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Munselle-Rhodes Funeral Home, 902 S. Main St., Milton-Freewater, OR 97862. A funeral service celebrating her life will be held the following day on Thursday, October 19, at 11 a.m. at Munselle-Rhodes Funeral Home, followed by a private burial service at the Milton-Freewater Cemetery.
