

Trump says he and Xi can solve 'probably all' world problems

By JONATHAN LEMIRE and JILL COLVIN
The Associated Press

BEIJING — President Donald Trump emerged from a lengthy meeting with Chinese President Xi Jinping on Thursday to declare that he believed he and Xi together can solve "probably all" the world's problems.

"I look forward to many years of success and friendship working together to solve not only our problems, but world problems, and problems of great danger and security," Trump said between meetings at the Great Hall of the People. "I believe we can solve almost all of them, and probably all of them."

Trump and Xi were discussing a series of thorny issues during Trump's second day in China, including China's willingness to put the squeeze on North Korea over its nuclear weapons program, and the U.S.-China trade relationship.

Trump projected confidence on both fronts. He said both he and Xi believe "a solution" exists on North Korea. And he said the countries' trade relationship — which he complained had gotten "so far out of kilter" — would be made "fair and it'll be tremendous for both of us."

Xi, meanwhile, said U.S.-China relations were at a "new historic starting point." He said China was willing to work with the U.S. "with mutual respect, seeking mutual benefits, to focus on cooperation and control our differences."

Before the meetings, China rolled out the red carpet for Trump, treating him to an elaborate welcome ceremony on the plaza outside the Great Hall of the People before the leaders turned to their private talks.

Trump looked on approvingly as a Chinese honor guard played the national anthems of both countries, cannons boomed and soldiers marched. He clapped and smiled as children waving U.S. and Chinese flags and flowers screamed and jumped wildly.

Before arriving in China, Trump had delivered a stern message to Beijing, using an address to the National Assembly in South Korea to call on nations to confront the North.

"All responsible nations must join forces to isolate the brutal regime of North Korea," Trump said. "You cannot support, you cannot supply, you cannot accept."

He called on "every nation, including China and Russia," to fully implement U.N. Security Council resolutions against North Korea enforcing sanctions aimed at depriving its government of revenue for its nuclear and ballistic missile programs. The latest measure, adopted after a September atomic test explosion, the North's largest yet, banned imports of its textiles and prohibited new work permits for overseas North Korean laborers. It also restricted exports of some petroleum products.

Trump's words drew a caustic response from North Korean state media, which issued a statement Wednesday saying the U.S. should "oust the lunatic old man from power" and withdraw its "hostile policy" toward Pyongyang "in order to get rid of the abyss of doom."

White House officials said Trump would underscore his public messages about North Korea during his private talks with Xi. China is North Korea's largest trading partner and Trump is expected to demand that the nation curtail its dealings with Pyongyang and expel North Korean workers from its borders. Trump has praised China for taking some steps against Pyongyang, but he wants them to do more.

Oregon boy charged in killings of foster mother, 2 others

PORTLAND (AP) — A 16-year-old boy shot and killed his foster mother and two siblings at a home in southwest Oregon, authorities said Wednesday.

The boy surrendered to deputies without incident Tuesday night and was booked into a juvenile detention facility on charges of aggravated murder. He was being held without bail.

The Douglas County Sheriff's Office and relatives of the teenager did not return phone messages from The Associated Press, but court papers filed Wednesday provide some details about what happened at the home in Lookingglass, an unincorporated community southwest of Roseburg.

Robert Adams, the boy's foster father, called emergency dispatchers shortly before 9 p.m. to report that his foster son killed his family. When deputies arrived, the boy told them the gun was inside the house, Sheriff's Lt. Chris Merrifield wrote in a probable cause affidavit.

When investigators entered the house, they found three bodies. Robert Adams identified them to police as his wife, Donya Adams, Investigators work at the scene of an alleged homicide, Wednesday in Lookingglass. Authorities arrested a 16-year-old boy accused of fatally shooting three people in southwest Oregon.

55; daughter, Amory Adams, 26; and foster daughter, 10-year-old Payshience "Tia" Adams.

Police: Two bodies found in Portland park in search for teen

PORTLAND (AP) — Police searching for a 15-year-old runaway girl found two bodies in a forested park in Portland but can't confirm the identities of the bodies until autopsies are completed.

Authorities say Anniika Vaughan ran away with 23-year-old Zachary Petersen on Oct. 30.

Petersen, of Pasco, Washington, was believed to be armed and suicidal.

Petersen's truck was found in a gravel lot in Forest Park on Monday and Anniika's backpack was inside.

Sgt. Chris Burley with the Portland Police Bureau says police have informed the families of the discovery in case the bodies turn out to be their loved ones.

The bodies were 80 feet off a trail that's a 10-minute walk from the truck.

Autopsies could take several days because of a backlog of cases at the Oregon State Medical Examiner's Office.

Man convicted of murder sentenced to state hospital, prison

PORTLAND (AP) — A man who prosecutors say killed an Oregon man with a machete in the driveway of a home was given concurrent sentences at a state hospital and prison.

The Oregonian/OregonLive reports 42-year-old Erik Meiser was sentenced Tuesday in an Oregon City courtroom to life in prison with a minimum of 25 years and up to 20 years under the supervision of the state's Psychiatric Security Review Board.

Meiser, who is diagnosed with schizophrenia, will begin his sentence in the state hospital. Prosecutors say that if he is released, he will then be sent to prison.

Meiser was convicted of murder last month for killing 57-year-old Frederick Hayes in the Lake Oswego area in September 2012. Meiser also was found guilty except for insanity of first-degree robbery and first-degree burglary.

Creswell voters keep pot sales ban in place

CRESWELL (AP) — Residents in Creswell, Oregon, have voted to maintain a ban on recreational marijuana sales.

The Register-Guard reports a marijuana startup based in the southern Lane County community pushed for the initiative that brought a second vote on recreational marijuana sales.

Voters last November narrowly approved a ban. This time, it was a landslide. Unofficial results from Tuesday's election show more than 80 percent of voters opting to keep the ban in place.
