Exchange student from Czech Republic dazzled on the pitch, voted CRC Player of the Year and 5A first team all-state

The 2017 season was another tough one for the Pendleton girls soccer team.

The Buckaroos put together a 1-10-2 overall record, went 0-6 in the Columbia River Conference, and were outscored 53-15 as the school continues to develop and build up its program.

However, there were a few bright spots to watch on the field, one of those being a small, blonde forward wearing the No. 8 on her jersey — a girl by the name of Denisa Senkerikova.

A junior foreign exchange student from Czech Republic, Senkerikova dazzled her way around opponents this season, as she led the Buckaroos in goals and assists.

"It was fun," Senkerikova said in an interview, describing her season in the United States. "New girls, and new team and I just like playing soccer."

Senkerikova, 17, hails from the town of Uhersky Brod in the southeastern Czech Republic, with a population similar to Pendleton's. She has an older sister, Dominika, who was also an exchange student at Lone Community Charter School in 2011, when she starred on the Cardinals' volleyball team that went 23-0 to win the Class 1A state championship. Now Dominika plays volleyball at Division-II school Chadron State College in Chadron, Nebraska. Those experiences in the US shared to her by her sister only made Denisa want to study in the US as well.

Senkerikova has played soccer since she was very young, following in the footsteps of her grandfather and her father, Pavel, who played before her and taught her the art of the game. In the Czech Republic, there are not

Zeke's return a major test for struggling Seahawks

By TIM BOOTH

RENTON, Wash. — Seattle's Michael Bennett was clearly paying attention when news started circulating of the workouts Ezekiel Elliott was doing to stay in shape during his suspension.

"He definitely going to have fresh legs," Bennett said on Thursday. "I've seen the pictures. He looks like he's been working out every single day on the beach. I know he's ready to go out there and run."

Healthy, motivated and still with playoff aspirations, Elliott will make his return on Sunday against the Seahawks, and the timing could not be worse for Seattle.

They are battered by injuries on defense, fatigued from a long season that has seen their defensive line wear down and have no room for error needing wins in their final two games to have any playoff hopes.

Those factors don't even take into account some fundamental problems that have plagued the Seahawks the past two weeks and allowed the Jaguars and Rams to run wild.

"We made some misses in some reads and some things that could be a lot sharper, and it just leads to the easy yardage for them," Seattle coach Pete Carroll said. "Good running backs take advantage of that."

While Leonard Fournette and Todd Gurley are outstanding running backs that took advantage of their opportunities against Seattle, a healthy, rested Elliott is not what the Seahawks wanted to see with their season on the line.

The Seahawks problems first surfaced in the second half against Jacksonville after Bobby Wagner and
