OBITUARIES

Shirley M. Trachsel

Stanfield
May 29, 1931 - January 8, 2018

Shirley M. Trachsel of Stanfield, Oregon, joined her Lord and Savior on January 8, 2018, after a courageous battle with cancer.

Shirley was born in Crowley, Colorado, on May 29, 1931. She was the first of nine children born to Levern and Gladys Galbraith. The family moved often and settled in Oregon in 1936. Shirley started school in Sutherlin, Oregon. They then moved to Mount Hood, Oregon, in 1939. When Shirley was 10 years old they moved to Bonny Slope and she lived in the area for the next 51 years.

Shirley married Herbert K. Trachsel in 1948 and she became an instant mom for Herbert's two children by a previous marriage, Herbert Jr. and Beverley. Shirley and Herbert had two children: Charlene and Kelly Trachsel.

Shirley worked at Woolworths in Portland, then at Sunset Lanes in Beaverton. That's where her love for bowling got its start. One of her teams was called Gladys's Girls, named for her blind mom, Gladys, and included her two sisters, Marge and Edna, and a close friend, Jeannie. They traveled with mom all over the U.S.A. bowling in state tournaments. Also, with her love for travel, she visited Israel two times.

Shirley's lifelong loves were her family and friends and the Crossroads Community Assembly of God Church in Stanfield, where she was a greeter. She enjoyed dancing and of course bowling, which was a weekly event. She also loved taking her motor home traveling and camping out with her Columbia River Good Sam Club.

Shirley was preceded in death by her parents, Levern and Gladys Galbraith, her first husband Herbert, his children Herbert Jr. and Beverley J. Meader, her second husband Stan Jacobs and three siblings, Doris Warren, Jim Galbraith and Dale Galbraith.

Shirley is survived by her daughter Charlene and son Kelly Trachsel, her siblings L. Don Galbraith, Marge (Larry) Nelson, John (Marie) Galbraith, Edna Lien and Raymond Galbraith, along with many cousins, nieces and nephews.

A memorial service will be held January 20, 2018, at 1 p.m. at the Stanfield Crossroads Community Assembly of God Church. Burial services will be at the Skyline Memorial Cemetery in Portland January 22, 2018, at 1 p.m.

Doc: Trump healthy, did 'exceedingly well' on cognitive test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Donald Trump's overall health "is excellent" and he did "exceedingly well" on cognitive screening, the Navy doctor who performed Trump's first medical checkup said Tuesday.

Ronny Jackson had issued a blanket declaration that Trump was in "excellent health" after last Friday's exam, and promised to provide a fuller readout on Tuesday.

He reported that the 6-foot-3 president weighed in at 239 pounds — three pounds heavier than he was in September 2016, the last time Trump revealed his weight to the public.

Trump's blood pressure was 122 over 74, and his total cholesterol was 223, which is higher than recommended.

Trump was 70 when he took office on Jan. 20, 2017, making him the oldest person ever elected to the presidency.

Trump's heart exam was normal, with regular rhythm and no abnormal sounds, which Jackson said led him to conclude with confidence that Trump "has a very strong and a very probable possibility of making it completely through his presidency with no medical issues." Trump has no heart disease and no family history of it.

The 71-year-old president performed "exceedingly well" on cognitive screening, which is not standard but was requested by Trump. The doctor said he had "absolutely no concerns" about Trump's cognitive abilities. He speculated that Trump requested the exam in an attempt to beat back the narrative of the past few weeks that he is mentally unfit for office.

"He's very sharp. He's very articulate when he speaks to me," Jackson said. "I've never known him to repeat himself when he's around me. I found no reason whatsoever to think the president has any issues whatsoever with his thought process."

Trump last revealed details about his health two months before the November 2016 election.

Trump's cholesterol reading from Friday's exam was borderline high even though he takes a low dose of the statin drug Crestor. Jackson said he would increase that dose in an effort to get Trump's so-called "bad" cholesterol, or LDL level, below 120; it currently is 143.

Trump's body mass index, or BMI, of 29.9 puts him in the category of being overweight for his height. A BMI of 30 and over is considered obese.

Jackson said he prescribed a diet lower in fat and carbohydrates, and exercise. He'd like the president to lose 10 to 15 pounds over the next year.

Despite the diet and cholesterol concerns, Jackson stressed that Trump's "cardiac health is excellent." He passed a battery of heart exams including a stress test that Jackson said showed an above-average exercise capacity for a man of his age, despite some calcium buildup in his arteries. He also takes a low-dose aspirin for heart health.

With such a bad dietary history, how can that be? Jackson said Trump has avoided some big heart risks — he's never smoked and isn't diabetic — and has no family history of heart problems.

Trump did not undergo a psychiatric exam. But in a surprise, Jackson said he did perform a cognitive screening test, at Trump's request. Called the Montreal Cognitive Assessment, it is designed to detect early signs of memory loss and other neurologic functions — and Trump had a perfect score.

Cognitive assessments aren't routine in standard physicals, although they recently became covered in Medicare's annual wellness visits for seniors.
