Diverse writers to headline First Draft

East Oregonian

Murray

Barron

A pair of authors with diverse backgrounds are featured during February's First Draft Writers' Series.

Ruby Hansen Murray and Dawn Pichon Barron will read from their works Thursday at 7 p.m. at Pendleton Center for the Arts, 214 N. Main St. The event is free and open to the public.

A writer and photographer, Murray is a citizen of the Osage Nation from the Hominy District. She lives along the Columbia River.

Murray earned a master's degree from The Institute of American Indian Arts in Santa Fe. She offers creative writing workshops in a variety of settings, including writers' conferences, cultural gatherings and all grade levels in schools.

She received the 2017 Montana Nonfiction Prize and was awarded fellowships at Ragdale (near Chicago), the Virginia Center for the Creative Arts and Fishtrap (in Wallowa County). Murray's work appears in "World Literature Today," "The Rumpus," "Yellow Medicine Review," "Indian Country Today" and "As/Us."

Barron describes herself as a mixed blood — Indixicana/white — writer and educator, wife and mother, and fighter for social justice. She is currently the director/faculty of the Native Pathways Program at the Evergreen State College in Olympia, Washington.

Barron's chapbook, "Escape Girl Blues," was released in January. In addition, her work has appeared or is forthcoming in Barrelhouse (ALPHA blog), "Yellow Medicine Review," Pontoon, Pittsburgh Poetry Review, "Washington 129 Poetry Anthology," "Of A Monstrous Child Anthology," No News Today and The Olympian.

Showcasing notable Pacific Northwest authors, First Draft Writers' Series meets the third Thursday of each month. It celebrates writing and provides an opportunity for people in Eastern Oregon to engage in discussions about a variety of topics. In addition to the main presentation, the gatherings provide time for up to 10 local writers to share from their original works during an open mic.

For more information about the writers' series, call 541-278-9201 or visit www.pendletonarts.org. To learn more about the authors, visit www.rubyhansenmurray.com or search www.finishinglinepress.com.

HERMISTON

Scholarship fundraiser springs into fashion

East Oregonian

More than three dozen models were stylin' during a Saturday fundraiser at Our Lady of Angels Catholic Church in Hermiston.

The annual Catholic Daughters Valentine's Luncheon & Style Show raises money for the Marilyn Harris Memorial Scholarship. Money is awarded to a pair of local graduating seniors each spring during a Baccalaureate Mass at the Hermiston church.

Gracing the runway were 37 models of all ages, said regent Kristi Smalley of Catholic Daughters of the Americas Court No. 1692. They showed off the latest spring fashions from Bealls, Maurice's, Smitty's Ace Hardware, Andee's Boutique, Lucky Endz Gifts and LuLaRoe by Mandi Bedolla.

With more than 125 people in attendance, Smalley was thrilled by the support. People enjoyed a variety of homemade salads and decadent desserts, she said. In addition, Hermiston High School freshman Marti Plum sang the national anthem to help open the event.

"The local Catholic Daughters are extremely grateful for the support of this annual event," Smalley said.

For more information about the Catholic Daughters or other activities at the church, call 541-567-5812, search Facebook or visit www.ourladyofangelscc.org.

Submit information to: community@eastoregonian.com or drop off to the attention of Tammy Malgesini at 333 E. Main St., Hermiston or Renee Struthers at 211 S.E. Byers Ave., Pendleton. Call 541-564-4539 or 541-966-0818 with questions.
