“Touch the Sound,” a unique exhibition by Yelena Roslaya, features an interactive installation of sculptures that also includes the artist’s personal hearing-motion synesthesia experiences. The exhibit opens Thursday at Betty Feves Memorial Gallery at Blue Mountain Community College in Pendleton.

Also, Roslaya will give an Artist’s Talk around 5 p.m. Roslaya’s work is inspired by the way humans perceive and process sound. The exhibit includes an installation of sculptures that function as drums. As viewers interact with each piece, a projection of different shapes and colors appear on a digital screen based on the artist’s personal hearing-motion synesthesia experiences and research. Roslaya received a bachelor’s degree in ceramics from the Oregon College of Art and Craft. She currently resides in Battle Ground, Washington. The Betty Feves Memorial Gallery is a nonprofit exhibit space that connects emerging and established artists with students, staff and the general public. The gallery is open Monday through Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. or by appointment by calling 541-278-5952. The exhibit runs through Thursday, May 3. For more about the gallery, visit www.bluecc.edu/community/feves-art-gallery. For more about Roslaya, search www.youtube.com.

Easter festivities include community egg hunts

Following Saturday’s regular Easter egg hunt, the Hermiston Church of the Nazarene offered a separate hunt for children and youths with special needs. After the hustle and bustle of hundreds of children collecting eggs died down, a smaller group stepped into a roped-off area to collect their own. Alexander Van Schoiack wore a melon-sized smile as his mother, Cathy Van Schoiack, directed him toward eggs. The 7-year-old Hermiston boy also attended last year’s special egg hunt.

“It’s great that they do this,” Cathy said. Also participating in the special hunt was Serenity Grace “Gracie” Tucker Wallace. The 4-year-old Hermiston girl leisurely filled her basket — practically ignoring her family members who were pointing out where eggs were “hidden.”

The event also featured a goodie table. Filled with cookies and cupcakes, as well as drinks, adults and children alike helped themselves to snacks while others mingled and counted their bounty. Also on Saturday, children of all ages swarmed Gretchen Erickson’s property in search of Easter eggs filled with candy and cash prizes. In addition, a drawing was held for special panoramic sugar Easter eggs. A fire safety educator for Umatilla County Fire District 1, Erickson has hosted the event numerous times over the years. Friends, family and a number of students in her fire safety classes attended the barbecue event.

“It’s just a lot of fun,” Erickson said. “Some of the kids are the grandchildren of the first kids that came years ago.”
