Wesley Lee All
Pendleton
July 13, 1944 - April 1, 2018

Wesley All (Wes) was born July 13, 1944, in Lamar, Colorado, the son of John Dennis and Laura Olivia All. He died on Sunday, April 1, 2018, in Pendleton, Oregon, at the age of 73.
Wes served in the Navy on the U.S.S. Caliente from August 1961 to August 1965, and spent an additional four years in the Navy Seabees from August 1965 to August 1969, and was honorably discharged with eight years of Navy service.
Wes married Sandra Louise Shepard in January 1965. They had two sons: Patrick Christopher All, who passed away as an infant at a few days old; and a second son, James Lee All. Wes later married Nancy Carol Gammon on February 15, 1974, in Vancouver, Washington. Wes and Nancy had two children: Bonnie Elizabeth All and John Wesley All.
Wes completed high school while in the Navy. He later went for two terms to Walla Walla University. While married to Nancy, they moved from Portland to Milton-Freewater, Oregon, and later moved to Pendleton, Oregon, because of a job opportunity.
Wes worked at several jobs after discharge from the Navy. In 1973 he began truck driving for a window manufacturing firm in Portland, Oregon, driving an 18-wheeler to California, Oregon and Washington. Wes worked for Harris Pine Mills in Pendleton as a log truck driver for several years. In 1989 he began his own business as log truck owner-operator with his home base in Pendleton. Wes retired from truck driving in 1999 due to ill health.
Subsequently he began volunteer driving for the Oregon Department of Human Services in 2000 taking clients to doctor appointments in Portland, Spokane, Tri-Cities and Bend. Wes officially retired again in 2011.

Wes is survived by his wife of 44 years, Nancy All; sons James Lee All (age 47) and John Wesley All (37); daughter Bonnie Elizabeth All (29); grandsons Christopher All (19), Jack All (12), Wesley James All (13) and Jacob All (9); brother Ralph Leon All; sister Sandra Denise Lewis; and cousins, nephews and nieces.
Wes was preceded in death by his parents, John and Olivia All; a sister, Vera Mokshefski; and both sets of grandparents.
Wes enjoyed hunting, fishing and camping. He was a lifetime member of the Gold Prospectors Association of America since 2007. Wes was proud of his eight years in the Navy and always claimed his military service helped him navigate life in many ways. Wes always had a drive to do more, become more skillful, make a better living for his family that he was proud of and loved. He was a member of the American Legion for many years, and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Wes was baptized into the Seventh-day Adventist Church in 1975, and his faith in God was strong. Wes taught Sabbath School as a member of the Pilot Rock SDA Church many years ago, and always considered Sabbath School his favorite part of church attendance.
There will be a funeral to honor Wesley on April 18, 2018, at 11 a.m. at the Pendleton Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1401 S.W. Goodwin Place, Pendleton, Ore. All Wes’ relatives, friends and neighbors are welcome to attend. Interment will be in Olney Cemetery thereafter.

The undated photo provided by the German aerospace center (DLR) shows engineer Paul Zabel with fresh salad he harvested in the EDEN-ISS greenhouse at the Neumeyer-Station III on Antarctica. The project without soil but with a closed water cycle, optimized lightning and carbon dioxide levels is a test to become part of the nutrition for astronauts in future moon or Mars missions.

Scientists harvest 1st vegetables in Antarctic station’s greenhouse

BERLIN (AP) — Scientists in Antarctica have harvested their first crop of vegetables grown without earth, daylight or pesticides as part of a project designed to help astronauts cultivate fresh food on other planets.
Researchers at Germany’s Neumayer Station III say they’ve picked 8 pounds of salad greens, 18 cucumbers and 70 radishes grown inside a high-tech greenhouse as temperatures outside dropped below -4 Fahrenheit.
The German Aerospace Center DLR, which coordinates the project, said Thursday that by May scientists hope to harvest 4-5 kilograms of fruit and vegetables a week.

Did Cambridge Analytica get your data? You’ll know soon

By BARBARA ORTUTAY
AP Technology Writer
NEW YORK — Anyone who’s been wondering if their private Facebook data might have been swept up in the Cambridge Analytica scandal will soon get their first clues.
Starting Monday, all 2.2 billion Facebook users will receive a notice on their feeds, titled “Protecting Your Information,” with a link to see what apps they use and what information they have shared with those apps. If they want, they can shut off apps individually or turn off third-party access to their apps completely.
In addition, the 87 million users who might have had their data shared with Cambridge Analytica will get a more detailed message informing them of this. Facebook says most of the affected users (more than 70 million) are in the U.S., though there are over a million each in the Philippines, Indonesia and the U.K.

Reeling from its worst privacy crisis in history — allegations that this Trump-affiliated data mining firm may have used ill-gotten user data to try to influence elections — Facebook is in full damage-control mode, with CEO Mark Zuckerberg acknowledging he’s made a “huge mistake” in failing to take a broad enough view of what Facebook’s responsibility is in the world. He’s set to testify before Congress next week.
Cambridge Analytica

whistleblower Christopher Wylie previously estimated that more than 50 million people were compromised by a personality quiz that collected data from users and their friends.
That Facebook app, called “This is Your Digital Life,” was a personality quiz created in 2014 by an academic researcher named Aleksander Kogan, who paid about 270,000 people to take it. The app vacuumed up not just the data of the people who took it, but also — thanks to Facebook’s loose restrictions — data from their friends, too, including details that they hadn’t intended to share publicly.
Facebook later limited the data apps can access, but it was too late in this case.
